Popcorn And Paper Make Scrubby Juniper Beautiful

Beatrice — These days, Christmas trees like this one could just about be counted on one finger.

Pine cones, amazingly nonplastic, popcorn strings without sparkle on pasted paper chains that never knew a price tag.

The tree itself is a scrubby native juniper hacked from Kenneth Zimmerman's pasture.

A cornshuck angel looks down also on apples and berries that could have brightened any homesteader's cabin back in 1870. The tree they do decorate this year stands symbolically at Homestead National Monument.

"The tiny candle holders are the real thing, close to a century old and weighted with hardened bits of clay," noted Monument Supt. John F. Rohn, Jr.

"I wonder if families ever dared to light the candles—and if so, how many cabins they burned down?"

An annual tree-trimming party brought other reflections for more than 150 persons attending. Shown, for example, were crude toys that may have been actual presents for some pioneer youngster.

"Most everything had to be homemade, of course, from a pair of socks for father to corncob dolls of farm tools designed from twigs," said Lenard E. Brown, National Park Service historian.

Hosted by the Homestead Historical Society, the get-together had the Merle Huttenmaiers as chairmen. Among those most impressed by such a strange tree were the Rohn youngsters, recent arrivals from Washington, D.C.

"Christmas meant a great deal to the early settler, and so did his family," commented Brown.

"When the nearest neighbor is five or six miles away, a family is bound to become pretty close."

UNANIMOUS COUNCIL VOTE . . .

West Lincoln Annexing OKd

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

The West Lincoln annexation ordinance was officially approved Monday by a unanimous vote of the City Council.

Jan. 4, 1966, is the date of the 110-acre incorporated village of some 500 residents will be taken into the city. West Lincoln property owners will begin paying city taxes following the next levy date, in Aug. of next year.

The council — armed with legislation passed during the last session of the Unicameral — acted despite bitter opposition on the part of some village Board members and residents, an overwhelming 66-27 village vote against annexation last Tuesday and threats to take court action against the city.

No Change Seen

Councilman John Mason, referring to events that have taken place since it became apparent that the city would aggressively pursue the annexation of West Lincoln, said, "I don't think the situation has changed."

"We could take two approaches," Mason continued during council discussion. "The city can either discontinue services for a period of time or annex now.

"If we withdraw services it could become so expensive to West Lincoln that sooner or later the residents would have to request annexation, and that could hurt a lot of people," he added.

LB586, introduced by Lincoln Sens. Marvin Stromer and John Knight, and passed by the Legislature last summer, authorizes Lincoln to annex any village it surrounds and serves with water or sanitary sewers.

Noting this, Mason said the Legislature "went along with the metropolitan area in allowing us to annex. The city must bend over backwards to be fair in tendering services to West Lincoln after annexation, to keep faith with the Legislature."

No Added Burden

Councilman Ervin Peterson pointed out that annexation would not result in an added tax burden to West Lincolnites "except the wheel tax, which is minor anyhow."

The council indicated it would favor using excess funds presently accumulated within West Lincoln.

Mayor Dean Petersen, evidently hoping that a spirit of cooperation will prevail after annexation, said he will ask his department heads to work closely with West Lincoln."

Reaction to the council vote by West Lincoln officials was varied.

"I can't say I didn't expect it," commented Curtis Jensen, Village Board chairman, "but I hoped the city would wait just a little longer, although I am not bitter."

Jensen said late Monday after a meeting of the board that "we are going to discuss it with our attorney."

Most board members favor court action if financially possible, according to Jensen.

Money Vital

"Personally, I absolutely wouldn't go along with starting court action unless funds are available to go all the way through with it," Jensen said.

He said that although the West Lincoln vote opposing annexation would necessarily influence his thinking, " . . . We should consider other things, such as, if we win (in court), then what?

"We would then have to have money to be self-sustaining, and I doubt whether we could get the bonds to carry us through if that was the case," Jensen said.

Board member Larry Green who has adamantly opposed annexation, had "no comment."

Village Atty. Norman Langemach said Monday night: "I have not been advised of any special plans they might have and I have not been advised that they plan to have any special meetings."

City Council members who voted in favor of the annexation ordinance were Mrs. Helen Boosalis, John Comstock, Lloyd Hinkley, Peterson, Mason, newly appointed member John Selleck and Carroll Thompson.

RED HORN . . . that includes part of rice milling machine is blown by Vietnamese soldier. Viet Cong used it as warning signal.

Clash Echoes In Saigon; Chou Blasts Truce Tries

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—Artillery boomed and small arms crackled within earshot of Saigon Monday night in a clash between government troops and a Viet Cong unit five miles from the biggest fuel and ammunition dump in South Viet Nam.

The government forces scattered the Viet Cong unit, but the echoes of the fighting threw a brief fright into Saigon, braced throughout the day for a threatened onslaught of terror by the Viet Cong on the fifth anniversary of their founding.

A lone terrorist provided the only incident in the city. He threw a badly aimed grenade at a truckload of U.S. soldiers. It hit the tailgate of the truck and bounced away. Two Americans and five or six Vietnamese were slightly injured by the blast in the street.

Chou Snorts

In Peking, Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai marked the Viet Cong birthday by assailing attempts to bring about negotiations between the United States and North Viet Nam and declared that for peace there is no alternative to the withdrawal of U.S. forces.

Afield, communist forces slipped away from pursuing Americans in three widely scattered sectors.

U.S. warplanes resumed bombing runs on North Viet Nam after bad weather caused a day's curtailment. One plane was downed, but the pilot was rescued.

In contrast to Chou's denunciation of negotiation efforts, President Johnson welcomed a call for peace from Pope Paul VI. The White House in Washington said the President is doing all he can to bring that about.

A similar welcoming came from U.N. Secretary-General U Thant in New York. Thant said through a U.N. spokesman he hopes "all parties will heed" the Pope's appeal Sunday.

In London, British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart called for a Christmas truce that might open the way for a settlement of the war. This was pretty much in line with the Pope's appeal.

Leaflets To GIs

A different kind of peace appeal was reaching U. S. servicemen in South Viet Nam.

Soldiers stationed at Di An, 15 miles northwest of Saigon, found leaflets urging them to quit the fighting.

One leaflet said:

"What's in it for you, GI?"

GIs in Dan Nang and Chu Lai received letters in November from an address in Berkeley, Calif., urging them to oppose the war.

No Help To Effort In Asia

. . . OEO Said Hit

Washington (AP)—The Pentagon ordered a halt in spending not essential to the Viet Nam war effort Monday, and there were reports of a Budget Bureau hold-down in the domestic anti-poverty program.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara announced an indefinite postponement of $620 million of barracks, service family housing and other military construction.

Muscle Spared

McNamara told a news conference the Defense Department is "eliminating everything that can possibly be eliminated or deferred without eating into the muscle" of U.S. military power.

The $620 million in military construction being deferred represents nearly half the $1,306,000,000 program authorized in this year's budget for the purpose.

Included in the indefinite postponements are 8,500 units of housing for families of servicemen.

Symptomatic

The funds involved were appropriated by Congress for this year's budget, but McNamara said his action on military construction is "symptomatic to our approach" to next year's defense budget.

What he was saying in effect was that everything possible would be eliminated from the budget in view of the rapidly spiralling costs of the war.

There has been speculation that the new defense budget may rise as much as $10 billion over this year's $49 billion defense money request.

Antipoverty Pinch

The Washington Evening Star reported the Budget Bureau has turned down an Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) request that the budget for the antipoverty program be doubled to $3 billion next year.

Instead, the Star said, the Budget Bureau will recommend to President Johnson that he ask Congress for an appropriation close to this year's $1.6 billion.

However, an OEO spokesman said that no decision has been made — either at White House or Budget Bureau levels—on the agency's budget for fiscal 1967.

Santiago Snipers Fire At U.S. Troops

Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic (AP)—Snipers fired at U.S. troops patrolling Santo Domingo Monday following Sunday's bloody battle in Santiago, but no U.S. personnel were hit, a military spokesman said.

Estimates of the dead in the Santiago fighting Sunday between Dominican army regulars and former rebel soldiers ranged from 9 to 13.

In one incident Monday two bullets smashed the windshield of a U.S. Army jeep. The patrols also had drawn scattered fire Sunday.

The U.S. spokesman said the soldiers did not return the fire.

Inter-American

Brazilian troops of the Inter-American Peace Force entrenched in a downtown park also were fired on by civilians hiding in a building a few blocks away.

The Brazilian and American troops in the heart of the city were reinforced Sunday after the battle erupted in Santiago, the country's second largest city 120 miles north of Santo Domingo. They were withdrawn Monday leaving one Brazilian and one U.S. company in the downtown section. The troops dispersed some of the bands of youths who were trying to stir up a demonstration in the business district.

Business activity was almost at a standstill. Dominican police had disappeared from the city center when rioting broke out after the Santiago battle.

Labor leaders showed up again at the presidential palace to assure President Hector Garcia-Godoy they were abiding by his counsel not to launch a general strike until an investigation of the Santiago battle is completed. The spreading strike in the capital, they said, was outside their control.

Labor Leaders

The same labor leaders told the president Sunday they would stage a nationwide work stoppage unless he fired the four top military leaders—the Armed Forces Secretary Commodore Francisco J. Rivera Caminero and the three chiefs of staff.

The labor leaders said the military chiefs were responsible for the Santiago shooting in which there was still a variance in the official casualty figures.

Garcia-Godoy appointed a special commission to investigate the causes of the battle at a Santiago hotel.

ACCOUNTS VARY ON FLIGHT INTO EGYPT—

The First 30 Years--The Private Life Of Jesus

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The angel of the Lord told them to take the child into Egypt and they remained there until Herod died. This is the second in a series on what may have happened during that time.)

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

For the wanderer, nothing is fixed, nothing steady. There are no comforting landmarks, no regular reminders, no settled frames of reference. Without a familiar place, no step is sure.

As refugees from mass slaughter, a displaced Jewish family of old walked that vagrant route in Egypt. It was a foreshadowing lot for the couple, the child, and ensuing generations.

"Foxes have holes, and the birds of the air have nests; but the Son of Man has nowhere to lay His head."

This was the chancy, insecure environment in which Jesus entered, and experienced, the world — starting as a ragged toddler in the arms of a nomadic family in flight from despotism and carnage.

Hidden In Mists

The months, probably more than a year, in Egypt make up a nebulous interlude, a veiled segment of His upbringing.

Although scripture tells hardly anything about that episode, other accounts going far back into antiquity indicate some of its features.

Over the road they followed, it is about 250 miles from Bethlehem to the Nile Valley, going through Hebron and the pagan port of Gaza, teeming with sailors, scent-sellers and slave trade, and thence on across the desert of the Sinai Peninsula.

They had a donkey and took turns riding it, holding the infant.

A broiling sun beat on them by day, a piercing chill at night. They nibbled from a sack of corn and dried bread, rationing the contents of their waterskin from oasis to oasis.

Wolves

Tradition cites stops they made on the way, in a cave, beside a spring, beneath some palm trees, which yielded dates for a meal. Wolves prowled their campsites.

Along one midnight stretch of road, they are said to have passed through a sleeping gang of bandits.

They went through Goshen and came eventually to the Nile Delta, that river-silted "black land" of Upper Egypt, hemmed in by the red rolling sands of desert, a region of inundation and drought, of fertility and famine.

Heliopolis, center of pantheistic cults and the lavish temple of the sun-god, Re, apparently became the main locale for the footsore migrants.

Job Trouble

As a woodworker, Joseph had trouble finding work, since in that almost treeless, rainless land, firm wood is scarce. Besides that particular handicap, there were everywhere more workers than work.

But it is said he eventually got employment for a time building coffins for a burying ground at Deir El Muharrak.

The scene about them was the once powerful kingdom of the pharoahs, which by then had become a vassal province of Rome, following Cleopatra's loss of her throne and suicide about 27 years earlier on Antony's defeat at Actium.

But the atmosphere remained Egyptian — the animal idols, the elaborate processions for "sacred bulls," the incantations, clattering chariots, magicians, oracles, the corps of perfumed temple women.

Philo And 'Logos'

But it also was a time of intellectual richness at Alexandria, the Roman-built coastal city, where the great Jewish philosopher, Philo, was developing his teachings about the "Logos" — the divine intermediary among men, revealing God.

That concept ultimately would be applied to the then ignored unknown child-in-exile, Jesus. Writes St. John: "And the Word (Logos) became flesh and dwelt among us."

In those environs, Jesus grew active, His wobbly legs gaining strength and balance.

Peace, Dust

Accounts vary on how long the family stayed there, a year, three years, five years, but there are scenes of summer and winter, of tranquility and darkening dust storms. Some stories say Jesus was 7 before leaving Egypt; the prevailing evidence is that He was past 3.

In any case, Joseph learned that Herod the Great, the tyrant who sought to kill the boy, was dead. Joseph took his family and started back toward Israel, again crossing that wilderness where Moses, leading the exodus from Egyptian bondage, had passed through darkness, cloud and fog to meet God and His commandments.

Through similar obscuring mists came His further revelation, as foretold in prophecy: "Out of Egypt have I called my Son."

As a woodworker, Joseph had trouble finding work, since in that almost treeless, rainless land, firm wood is scarce. Besides that particular handicap, there were everywhere more workers than work.

But it is said he eventually got employment for a time building coffins for a burying ground at Deir El Muharrak.

The scene about them was the once powerful kingdom of the pharoahs, which by then had become a vassal province of Rome, following Cleopatra's loss of her throne and suicide about 27 years earlier on Antony's defeat at Actium.

But the atmosphere remained Egyptian — the animal idols, the elaborate processions for "sacred bulls," the incantations, clattering chariots, magicians, oracles, the corps of perfumed temple women.

Philo And 'Logos'

But it also was a time of intellectual richness at Alexandria, the Roman-built coastal city, where the great Jewish philosopher, Philo, was developing his teachings about the "Logos" — the divine intermediary among men, revealing God.

That concept ultimately would be applied to the then ignored unknown child-in-exile, Jesus. Writes St. John: "And the Word (Logos) became flesh and dwelt among us."

In those environs, Jesus grew active, His wobbly legs gaining strength and balance.

Peace, Dust

Accounts vary on how long the family stayed there, a year, three years, five years, but there are scenes of summer and winter, of tranquility and darkening dust storms. Some stories say Jesus was 7 before leaving Egypt; the prevailing evidence is that He was past 3.

In any case, Joseph learned that Herod the Great, the tyrant who sought to kill the boy, was dead. Joseph took his family and started back toward Israel, again crossing that wilderness where Moses, leading the exodus from Egyptian bondage, had passed through darkness, cloud and fog to meet God and His commandments.

Through similar obscuring mists came His further revelation, as foretold in prophecy: "Out of Egypt have I called my Son."

$100 Million In Heroin Seized

Columbus, Ga. (AP)— Government officers seized more than 200 pounds of uncut heroin — valued on the illegal market at more than $100 million — here Monday in the home of 35-year-old Army Chief Warrant Officer Herman Conder.

Four French nationals and a Brazilian, government officials announced in New York, had been arrested in Manhattan in connection with the illicit drug.

The $100 million value was placed on the heroin by the U.S. attorney's office in New York. But in Washington, U.S. Narcotics Commissioner Henry L. Giordano, also announcing the seizure, placed the value at $18.5 million. A spokesman for him, asked about the discrepancy, said estimates of the "illicit" value vary greatly in different places.

Biggest

Nevertheless, Giordano said "This case involves the largest single seizure of heroin ever made in the United States."

In New York, U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau said the heroin had been seized from a home freezer, which had been transported here from Europe among Conder's personal property.

Morgenthau said all six persons were charged with conspiracy to import the heroin.

He said the heroin was seized in a shack behind Conder's trailer. Conder was stationed with the 577th Army Engineer Battalion at nearby Ft. Benning.

The U.S. attorney said Conder was the courier employed to smuggle the heroin into the United States in connection with his return from Europe.

Conder was transferred to the United States last September. Morgenthau said the heroin arrived with Conder's belongings in October.

Morgenthau identified the five arrested here at Jean le France, 50, of Villedieu, Les Poeles, France; Jean Nebbia, 52, of Sartene, Corsica; Mrs. Lucien Cuvillier, 52, of St. le Etienne Loire, France; Mrs. Suzanne Josette Couergou, 39, of Auch, France, and Francisco de Almedia, 43, of Sao Paulo, Brazil.

He said Conder has been in the Army 15 years, is married and has two children.

One-Year Sentence To Wilkins

Birmingham, Ala. (AP)— A federal judge sentenced Ku Klux Klansman Collie Leroy Wilkins to one year in prison Monday on charges he violated probation of an illegal firearms possession conviction.

Wilkins, already sentenced to 10 years in federal prison for conviction on a civil rights conspiracy charge, had pleaded guilty to a firearms charge in November 1964.

He had been given a suspended one-year sentence last year and placed on two years probation for possession of a sawed off shotgun.

Wilkins and two other Klansmen were accused last March of the slaying of Viola Gregg Liuzzo, a Detroit mother of five and civil rights worker.

Cavalry's Boom Town Features Boom-Boom Parlors

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN

An Khe, Viet Nam (AP) — What happens when 20,000 American soldiers descend on a tiny Vietnamese town that has been slumbering for centuries?

An Oriental boom town sprouts up with dazzling speed.

Until the 1st Air Cavalry Division began arriving in force Sept. 12, An Khe was an obscure town of less than 1,200 in the rolling coastal plains 270 miles northeast of Saigon.

Now it is a sprawling tinshed Camelot of haggling merchants, busy goldsmiths and tinsmiths, bustling bars, boom-boom parlors, dusty streets crowded with GI souvenir hunters and such eye-stopping establishments as "the Texas Restaurant and Laundry."

There is the New York Laundry with its modest boast, "We talk enough English," and just across the street, the London Laundry, which surely is the East at its most inscrutable. Its sign reads, "Clean and warrant, the eraser is careful."

To date not even the Vietnamese interperters assigned to the division have figured out that one.

And of course there is the "Number One Laundry," since everything superlative in Viet Nam is called Number One, and farther down the street its French competitor, the "Number Une Laundry."

AND IN SAIGON . . . weapon-toting GIs take in sights by bicycle taxi.

The 1st Air Cavalry, largest single American unit in country at the moment, is encamped in tents in the pleasant but mosquito-ridden valley a few miles west of An Khe. To prevent sabotage of its more than 450 helicopters the 1st Cav allows no Vietnamese inside its compound, except workers who come over Hong Kong Mountain under guard every morning to clear the land and cut back the brush.

The 1st Cavalrymen flock to An Khe for a day's diversion in the beer parlors and to get their laundry done. Merchants by dozen, bar girls by the hundred follow happily in their wake, eager to scarf up, to use the military term, the Yankee piasters.

To get out of the mud and dust and make their tents a little more livable, the Flying Horseman of the 1st Cavalry go through various stages of interior decoration.

From Ground Up

First, they acquired bamboo mats for the dirt floor, then wooden beams to raise the tent higher and drive a few nails for clothes pegs, then tin footlockers. These last are fashioned from sheets of USOM (U.S. Operations Mission) "beer can tin," a product acquired by the government from breweries back home because something went wrong in the printing process.

Finally, the bivouac area is civilized with such accountrements as planked floors, wooden cabinets and desks, contour-shaped wicker chairs.

The quest for comfort has skyrocketed the price of lumber. Ordinary timber is selling for 16,000 piasters a cubic meter (about $219) where less than a month ago it brought only 3,000.

Wicker Chairs

Hardly a foxhole or mortar bunker or howitzer site in the 1st Cavalry is without its little wicker chairs for the men on guard, an item of impromptu wartime furniture that is absurd as it is popular. When the advance elements arrived, the little contour chairs went for 70 piasters.

Hundreds of souvenir shops, really tin cribs, sell the same things at different prices. The haggling is so spirited as to make an Arab bazaar, by comparison, seem suffocated by price control.

All sorts of peripheral enterprises, as the economists call them, have come in some as new to warfare as the automatic carwash. An Army driver can get the mud blasted off his jeep with a stream hose instead of taking it down to the river and doing it himself.

Places called boom-boom parlors, staffed with obliging young ladies from as far away as Ca Mau at the southern tip of the Mekong Delta, come and go with bewildering rapidity, open today, shuttered tomorrow, depending on the whim of local politicians and the control of medical officers.

It's an open secret that many of the thriving restaurants, bars, laundries and car washes are owned, or at least partly owned, by enterprising American servicemen who supply the necessary poncho, piasters and patrons to get a new establishment going.

But Vietnamese craftsmen have been quick to get on the scene too, as have the ever resourceful Chinese. Goldsmiths squat on their haunches in the unrelenting sun fashioning charm bracelets and pendants, brass mongers hammer out gongs and temple bells from discarded artillery shell cases. Three ice plants, supplying GI mess halls and bars, have come into existence within the past month.

Never Better

The older firms in town are happy about the prosperity. Business was never better for the ancient tailor establishment of Nguyen and Tuyen.

The new firms pride themselves on their American ways.

Thus a beer parlor will put up a handsome sign "Gentlemen" over a door at the rear, even if the patron, upon opening it, finds himself out in a pasture surrounded by water buffalo.

Three-Star General In Aide Slot

Washington (AP) — Lt. Gen. Jean E. Engler was picked by President Johnson Monday to command U.S. Army forces in Viet Nam as deputy under Gen. William C. Westmoreland.

Engler

The selection of a three-star general upgrades a job now held by a one-star general, but the White House said this does not indicate any new military buildup. However, the Army force has been expanding rapidly in recent months.

Westmoreland is both commander of U.S. Army forces and commander of all forces, with the Marines, Air Force and Navy having separate commanders under him. His deputy and second in command for all the forces is Lt. Gen. John Heintges.

Anti-Rhodesia Embargo Said Gaining Momentum

London (AP)— A powerful international oil embargo is building up against rebel Rhodesia, Prime Minister Harold Wilson said Monday night, and Britain will move swiftly to plug "any seepage or leakage" through petroleum bootleggers.

The prime minister, who returned Monday from talks with President Johnson, told the House of Commons he had been assured in Washington of full United States backing for the oil embargo and France and Italy "are cooperating fully."

Wilson said it had been urgent to impose the oil ban because of "the immeasurable dangers of outside intervention," and because of "the almost irresistible pressures which are building up for still graver and more far-reaching measures in the United Nations."

Not Heard From

He said he believed the embargo will prove effective in bringing Prime Minister Ian Smith's white government to its knees because of the assurances so far received. But he added, "There are still important oil supplying countries from whom we have not had a final answer — and the Netherlands is obviously very important here."

Earlier, government sources said assurances of support for the oil embargo had been received from the Netherlands, Belgium and Japan, but there was no formal commitment such as those from the United States, France, Italy and Canada. Wilson apparently was referring to this lack of a formal commitment from the Dutch.

He announced that an oil airlift had begun Sunday to landlocked Zambia as soon as neighboring Rhodesia cut off the flow. But he said the bottleneck was the capacity of airfields in Zambia, not the number of planes available.

The United States will send transport planes for the airlift and will pay the cost of the planes, Wilson said.

In announcing Canada had joined the embargo on oil to Rhodesia, Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson said in Ottawa four Canadian transport planes would be sent for the airlift.

In Salisbury, the Rhodesian government said it cut the oil supplies to Zambia because of the oil embargo and would resume deliveries if the ban is lifted.

Wilson Blamed

"The entire responsibility for the economic ond social chaos that will follow in Zambia because of the British government's actions rests squarely on the shoulders of Mr. Wilson," the statement added.

Wilson said the oil embargo and all of the array of economic sanctions against Rhodesia were aimed at bringing Rhodesia as quickly as possible "back to the constitutional government."

Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart declared that African nations that have broken diplomatic relations with Britain because it had not yet crushed the rebellion — he mentioned Ghana and the Congo (Brazzaville) — import "significant quantities' of Rhodesian tobacco and have "not yet taken any measures to bar these imports."

Stewart called the diplomatic rupture "an ill-judged and inappropriate action."

Good Sleep Perks Up G7 Space Kings

Cape Kennedy, Fla. (AP)—Refreshed by their first good night's sleep in more than two weeks, the Gemini 7 astronauts Friday underwent extensive physical exams and told experts the story of their marathon space trip.

Air Force Lt. Col. Frank Borman and Navy Cmdr. James A. Lovell Jr. started the day by reviewing the reentry and recovery phases of their historic flight. This was followed by a two-hour session with the medics.

In the afternoon, they talked about how systems performed aboard the craft throughout the journey.

More of the same is on tap Tuesday, when they also will discuss the dramatic space rendezvous with the Gemini 6 pilots, Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Air Force Maj. Thomas P. Stafford.

Record Budget In Spain

Madrid (AP)—The Spanish Cortes (Legislature) passed this country's largest budget for the next two years. It is nearly 40% higher than the 1964-65 estimates. Annexation Hearing Scheduled

. . . COUNCIL SETS ACTION FOR NEXT WEEK

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

The City Council Monday scheduled for next week a public hearing on the annexation of The Knolls and Peterson residential tracts, Lincoln Industrial Park and a portion of South 14th, stretching south from state-owned buildings on Burnham and including a commercial area to the west.

Action was deferred on a companion ordinance, shuttled to the pending list at the last meeting, which would annex all but the 14th St. segment.

Council members unanimously approved an amendment to the ordinance encompassing the larger area, which set Sept. 1, 1967, as the effective date for annexation.

This was in line with the request by industrial interests that the property not be put on the city tax rolls until 1968. Residents of The Knolls had also asked that annexation coincide with the completion of water and sanitary sewer lines

The council also indicated acceptance of a proposal by the Lincoln Industrial Development Corporation and the Lincoln Industrial Park that the park will convey easements to the city for water and sewer lines and will pay the "normal assessment" — the cost equivalent of a six-inch water line and an eight-inch sewer line on front footage across presently plotted lots.

Details of the agreement were worked out by some council members and officials of the industrial corporation last week.

The council approved the annexation of urban land on the northwest corner of 84th and O. Three additional annexation ordinances are on the agenda and due for action in coming weeks, evidence of the council's stated purpose to pursue an aggressive annexation policy

In other action, the council amended the city's liquor ordinance, mainly in the bottle club area, in order that city provisions will not conflict with state law.

No Concrete Changes

No concrete changes are in store for local bottle club patrons or licensees because of the amendment, said City Atty. Ralph Nelson.

Bottle club license holders will have to separate club premises from areas open to the public after April, 1966, but this provision is already state law, according to Nelson.

An amendment to the ordinance which would have allowed bottle clubs to sell beer on Sundays from 6 a.m. until midnight was defeated by a 4-3 vote.

Voting against the amendment were council members Mrs. Helen Boosalis, John Comstock, Loyd Hinkley and Carroll Thomson. In favor of Sunday beer sales by bottle clubs were Councilmen John Mason, Ervin Peterson and John Selleck.

Comstock said he voted against the amendment because "It might encourage beer licensees to obtain bottle club licenses in order to sell beer on Sunday"

"The city would lose revenue and control of the situation and the ordinary citizen might have to buy a membership to get a glass of beer," he added.

Further Confusion

Hinkley and Thomson echoed Comstock's views. Thompson said the amendment would "further confuse an already confusing situation."

One amendment to the ordinance, increasing the annual occupation tax for beer distributors from $250 to $500 was approved by the council

Also passed: an ordinance allowing the city traffic engineer to extend the time parking meters are in effect by administrative order

City Traffic Engineer Robert Holsinger said he asked for the ordinance "for the purpose of relieving traffic congestion."

Motorists are now required to use meters on weekdays and Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Holsinger said he recently has ordered meters in the vicinity of the Burlington Depot to be in operation on a 24-hour basis

May Move Back

He told the council he contemplates moving the operating time for 10-hour meters back one hour to 8 a.m

Other business.

Ordinances, Final Reading

—Creating a water district, Cornhusker Highway, 33th to 56th and adjacent streets, approved

—Amending the bottle club ordinance to conform to state law, approved

—Annexing the urban area on the north west corner of 84th and O, approved

Proposed New Building Code Detailed Before City Council

City Building Inspection Supt. Charles Seale Monday gave City Council members a detailed review of a new building code proposed for adoption by the city and to be introduced in ordinance form next week

Lincoln's Code Study Committee, an advisory group formed by the mayor more than a year ago, has recommended on a 13-2 vote that the city adopt, by reference, the Uniform Building Code, 1964 edition.

Before making its final decision, the committee took under consideration two other model codes, the National Building Code and the Building Officials Conference of America (BOCA) code.

Elements of Design

Seale noted that the uniform code is "mainly a performance-type code, but there are some elements of design in it."

Exceptions to the Uniform Code—"areas that Lincoln can't live with and will have to change"—will be written into the new ordinance, Seale said.

He also told the council that technical appeals from decispectors would go to a Board of Appeals, composed of experts in the construction and engineering field. Subsequent appeal would bypass the councils of the city building incil and go to the courts, Seale said.

The appeal board, to be appointed by the mayor, will not have the authority to grant variances from the ordinance, but will judge only the technical competency of the claim, he continued

Basic Differences

Following are some of the other basic differences between Lincoln's present code and the Uniform Building Code

—Buildings now classified as ordinary masonry construction in the first fire zone are limited to one story or 20 feet in height

The new code will allow this type of building to be up to four stories in height in certain occupancies, provided they are protected by one-hour fire resistive construction throughout

—Where work for which a building permit is required is started prior to obtaining the permit, the new code will require that the fee for such work be doubled

—A new building permit fee schedule will be enforced, which will result in an approximate 35% increase in present fee collections

—The stairway and exit requirements in the new code are based on occupant load instead of square foot of building area

—The city will become an active class A member of the International Conference of Building Officials and entitled to receive its professional services

—Minimum room areas and ventilation requirements will be slightly higher than the present code

JOHN K. SELLECK

Council Seat Goes To John K. Selleck

Former chancellor of the University of Nebraska and Lincoln businessman John K Selleck was appointed to the City Council Monday to fill the unexpired term of the late D L Tyrrell

Selleck, 76, of 2419 Bradfield Dr., is presently president of Western Supply Co.

Sworn in by City Clerk Harold Springer, Selleck will serve until May 15, 1967 The ceremonies were witnessed by Mrs Selleck and the new councilman's daughter and son-in-law.

Best Interests

Mayor Dean Petersen said of Selleck's appointment. "We know it will be in the best interests of the city to have the fine representation he will afford us."

"Mr. Selleck will be a very fine addition to the council," the mayor added, "He has demonstrated in the past his ability to handle any situation."

Council members in announcing Selleck's appointment said it was made "following a great deal of consideration"

Some 25 names were suggested and all were considered before the unanimous selection of Selleck the council said.

Mayor Petersen, at the request of the council, participated in the consideration and said he was in full agreement with the decision.

Selleck was business manager of athletics at the university for 20 years and was comptroller for 20 years He served as NU chancellor for 18 months in 1954-55 He retired from the university in 1962.

The new councilman has been active in community organizations for many years, having served on the City-County Planning Commission for eight years and on the board of Lincoln General Hospital for two terms He also served as president of the University of Nebraska Foundation and is past president of the Lions Club

A native of Lincoln, Selleck is a Lincoln High School and University of Nebraska graduate and a World War I veteran.

Council colleagues lost no time in putting the new member to work They appointed Selleck to head a council group which will help in an attempt to find a suitable location north of the Capitol for the proposed state office building.

Arthur May Named Director Of Lincoln Action Program

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

Arthur May, assistant executive secretary of the Lincoln Community Council, was appointed director of the Lincoln Action Program (LAP) at its meeting here Monday night

The job, which pays $10,200 per year, will start officially when the LAP application for status and funds is approved by the Office of Economic Opportunity, expected sometime during the middle of Janury, according to LAP chairman Robert Barlow.

The Lincoln Action Program is a group of citizens that will, when authorized, review federal anti-poverty projects and determine unmet area needs and initiate community programs giving promise toward the elimination of the causes of poverty which can be funded under Title IIa of the Economic Opportunity Act

Until LAP is approved and funded, May will be supported by a Lincoln Community Council allocation designated for LAP, Community Council President John Angle told the board

Recommended

May, who started with the council in June and before that was a social group worker at the Nebraska State Home for Children was recommended for the position by LAP's personnel committee after interviewing three other applicants

He has been sitting with the board since its inception as the council's executive representative,

Four other staff persons will be hired as soon as the community action program is funded. May said, in addition to one-third of the time of his resplacement

Lincoln attorney Robert Barlow, acting head of the LAP board, was elected chairman Monday night as the group moved toward permanent organization anticipating its fund application approval.

Other officers elected Monday included vice president, Mrs Hulda Roper, a policewoman; treasurer, George Buckner, Bryan Memorial Hospital pharmacist and president of the Malone Community Center board of directors; secretary, Mrs Danna Kolarik, mother of two children and enrolled in the Manpower Development and Training program, and executive committee members, Clyde F. Harpster of Bennet and Mrs. Harry Seward Lincoln housewife

In other action the LAP board approved a Head Start program in the city scheduled for Feb 1-Aug 5 with the Lincoln Public Schools as the applicant agency

Program Outlined

Mrs Anne Campbell, schools assistant in charge of government services, outlined the $85,897 75 program calling for food transportation and enrichment activities for 150 children from poverty income level families in five centers throughout the city

Mrs Campbell, noting that no staff problems are being anticipated due to the several inquiries already received by the schools, suggested that the biggest problem would be identifying eligible children

Close contact with Head Start families is planned, Mrs. Campbell told the group, although the schools need to be careful about "too much pressure" since the same families could be involved in four different school programs all involving some work with the home.

She also informed LAP members that the schools probably would be applying for an expansion of the Neighborhood Youth Corps which employs students between 16 and 21 in an effort to curb dropouts This year 192 are employed, she said, but the program being planned for next summer and school year will call for at least 100 more.

City, Airport Authority Back Frontier Bid

The City and the Lincoln Airport Authority have urged the Civil Aeronautics Board to award to Frontier Airlines a widely sought new air route.

Frontier is one of 14 airlines seeking the Pacific northwest-southwest airway service.

Lincoln attorney Chauncey Barney filed a legal brief in support of Frontier's bid on behalf of the city and the authority.

Squarely in front of the board, the brief said, is the question of "when, if ever, will a local service carrier be permitted to evolve into a trunk carrier"?

And noting that the board has been committed to assuring service to intermediate cities and at the same time reducing public expenditures by way of subsidy, the brief maintained that a grant of authority to Frontier "affords the best possible opportunity for planning that could ultimately change the whole concept of subsidy financing for airlines".

The brief said the route would make Frontier "a strong regional carrier providing the best type of local and long haul service in the western region of the U.S. on a self-sufficient basis."

It was argued that a decision in Frontier's favor would accomplish the following for Lincoln:

—Effective, useable service to St. Louis as opposed to present interline connecting service.

—Pure jet service on Nebraska routes (no present equivalent service.)

—Removal of "use it or lose it" concern from outstate Nebraska points.

The CAB is expected to make its decision next year.

Annexation Hearing Scheduled

. . . COUNCIL SETS ACTION FOR NEXT WEEK

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

The City Council Monday scheduled for next week a public hearing on the annexation of The Knolls and Peterson residential tracts, Lincoln Industrial Park and a portion of South 14th, stretching south from state-owned buildings on Burnham and including a commercial area to the west.

Action was deferred on a companion ordinance, shuttled to the pending list at the last meeting, which would annex all but the 14th St. segment.

Council members unanimously approved an amendment to the ordinance encompassing the larger area, which set Sept. 1, 1967, as the effective date for annexation.

This was in line with the request by industrial interests that the property not be put on the city tax rolls until 1968. Residents of The Knolls had also asked that annexation coincide with the completion of water and sanitary sewer lines.

The council also indicated acceptance of a proposal by the Lincoln Industrial Development Corporation and the Lincoln Industrial Park that the park will convey easements to the city for water and sewer lines and will pay the "normal assessment" — the cost equivalent of a six-inch water line and an eight-inch sewer line on front footage across presently plotted lots.

Details of the agreement were worked out by some council members and officials of the industrial corporation last week.

The council approved the annexation of urban land on the northwest corner of 84th and O. Three additional annexation ordinances are on the agenda and due for action in coming weeks, evidence of the council's stated purpose to pursue an aggressive annexation policy.

In other action, the council amended the city's liquor ordinance, mainly in the bottle club area, in order that city provisions will not conflict with state law.

No Concrete Changes

No concrete changes are in store for local bottle club patrons or licensees because of the amendment, said City Atty. Ralph Nelson.

Bottle club license holders will have to separate club premises from areas open to the public after April, 1966, but this provision is already state law, according to Nelson.

An amendment to the ordinance which would have allowed bottle clubs to sell beer on Sundays from 6 a.m. until midnight was defeated by a 4-3 vote.

Voting against the amendment were council members Mrs. Helen Boosalis, John Comstock, Loyd Hinkley and Carroll Thomson. In favor of Sunday beer sales by bottle clubs were Councilmen John Mason, Ervin Peterson and John Selleck.

Comstock said he voted against the amendment because "It might encourage beer licensees to obtain bottle club licenses in order to sell beer on Sunday."

"The city would lose revenue and control of the situation and the ordinary citizen might have to buy a membership to get a glass of beer," he added.

Further Confusion

Hinkley and Thomson echoed Comstock's views. Thompson said the amendment would "further confuse an already confusing situation."

One amendment to the ordinance, increasing the annual occupation tax for beer distributors from $250 to $500, was approved by the council.

Also passed: an ordinance allowing the city traffic engineer to extend the time parking meters are in effect by administrative order.

City Traffic Engineer Robert Holsinger said he asked for the ordinance "for the purpose of relieving traffic congestion."

Motorists are now required to use meters on weekdays and Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Holsinger said he recently has ordered meters in the vicinity of the Burlington Depot to be in operation on a 24-hour basis.

May Move Back

He told the council he contemplates moving the operating time for 10-hour meters back one hour to 8 a.m.

Proposed New Building Code Detailed Before City Council

City Building Inspection Supt. Charles Seale Monday gave City Council members a detailed review of a new building code proposed for adoption by the city and to be introduced in ordinance form next week.

Lincoln's Code Study Committee, an advisory group formed by the mayor more than a year ago, has recommended on a 13-2 vote that the city adopt, by reference, the Uniform Building Code, 1964 edition.

Before making its final decision, the committee took under consideration two other model codes, the National Building Code and the Building Officials Conference of America (BOCA) code.

Seale noted that the uniform code is "mainly a performance-type code, but there are some elements of design in it."

Exceptions to the Uniform Code—"areas that Lincoln can't live with and will have to change"—will be written into the new ordinance, Seale said.

He also told the council that technical appeals from decispectors would go to a Board of Appeals, composed of experts in the construction and engineering field. Subsequent appeal would bypass the councils of the city building incil and go to the courts, Seale said.

The appeal board, to be appointed by the mayor, will not have the authority to grant variances from the ordinance, but will judge only the technical competency of the claim, he continued.

Basic Differences

Following are some of the other basic differences between Lincoln's present code and the Uniform Building Code:

—Buildings now classified as ordinary masonry construction in the first fire zone are limited to one story or 20 feet in height.

The new code will allow this type of building to be up to four stories in height in certain occupancies, provided they are protected by one-hour fire-resistive construction throughout.

—A new building permit fee schedule will be enforced, which will result in an approximate 35% increase in present fee collections.

—The stairway and exit requirements in the new code are based on occupant load instead of square foot of building area.

—The city will become an active class A member of the International Conference of Building Officials and entitled to receive its professional services.

—Minimum room areas and ventilation requirements will be slightly higher than the present code.

Disney Fame Continues

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

News reports this week tell of a $35 million contract awarded Walt Disney Productions for construction of an "Alpine Village" in the Sequoia National Forest of California. And from the Christian Science Monitor we learn that the Florida Legislature will soon be opening a special session to accommodate another Disney endeavor. It has been 64 years since the Florida state senators have gotten together in such a session.

This time legislators, for Mr. Disney's benefit, will iron out the special taxes, assessments, zoning problems, and other wrinkles the new Disneyland will bring, reports the Monitor. One task: to set up a tri-county bond district to finance a network of roads to handle the river of traffic expected to flow into the "Magic Kingdom" in the East, according to the Monitor. This doesn't tell us, in either the California or Florida case, much about the projects but it is enough to know that Disney is behind them. Is there a person who would doubt that the projects will be highly entertaining and highly successful?

State Serves Disney Magic

Probably no man has the magic touch that Disney has and few can match his success. From a few cartoon characters, he has built an empire that tops the field of entertainment and has branched into many other things. He has been most successful in bringing together the cause of education and entertainment in a mutually beneficial partnership.

On Sunday nights, millions of youngsters park themselves in front of the family TV set to watch the Disneyland production. The children are accompanied by many adults who find the master's tales of nature, people and fantasy to be well worth the time spent watching them.

Disney no doubt has certain principles he follows that make his efforts a success and what they are we do not know. But it would seem that he has managed to never get away from truth and the human side of life. His cartoon characters are fiction, of course, but they always play upon clearly recognizable human characteristics. They invariably display both the good and bad side of humanity with their greed, their lack of consideration, their kindness and their repentance. They are sometimes patient and sometimes totally frustrated. Generally speaking Disney cartoons make some kind of point, advocate a desired pattern of human behavior. Few of his stories are ever without a moral of some kind and his endings generally leave you happy in one way or another.

Not long ago the gifted Disney did a production on the Coyote and had this wanderer of the plains and hills a hero in the eyes of many people. An animal that never before knew much popularity, the Coyote suddenly found himself highly respected and loved by a host of admirers. There was not really a villain in the story of the Coyote, just a conflict. The Coyote was a threat to the range where cattle grazed and even invaded at times the more domestic side of animal life on the farm. Disney never made it appear that the rancher was wrong in hunting down the Coyote but you ended up wishing that he had not had to do so. You wished that, somehow, the old familiar ways and haunts of the Coyote could have been preserved.

You came to know, in the story, of an animal that was at peace with the world until men came into his domain. Without such outside interference the life of the Coyote would still today be a free and easy one but he is, instead, hunted down and killed at every opportunity. He doesn't stand a chance, of course, despite his cunning and tenacity.

This is the theme one sees time and again in stories by the famous Disney. Much of this same theme, along with a triumph of good over bad, is carried out in his fantasies. All his works cause you to contemplate the wonders of the world in which you live and the perfection in detail of its creation. They tend to show the responsibility of the human race for making the world a better place in which to live.

It is not so strange that Disney, therefore, is a perfectionist himself and finds it unnecessary to depart from the truth. He does not have to invent anything in the world of nature with which he deals so extensively. He finds a true portrayal of the world around him to be the most fascinating approach that could be devised. Disney productions are marked by a lack of artificiality. We know of nothing in which he deals with abstractions. In all of his reproductions of the things of nature and the animal kingdom, he strives for total realism and seldom fails to achieve it. It is a pattern and pursuit that has skyrocketed him to fame.

Can't Beat The Truth

We might find in his works something of benefit for ourselves. How much of our lives is devoted to unrealistic goals and meaningless achievements? How diligently do we pursue the truth rather than that which seems convenient or profitable to us? Disney can be fanciful but he is never false.

WASHINGTON—At the approach of Christmas, as Americans sing of peace on earth and good will toward men, President Johnson has made the painful decision to escalate the Viet Nam war.

In the year ahead, the U.S. commitment in South Viet Nam will be doubled. This means an end to the era of war-in-Viet Nam-but-peace-at-home, the end of both guns and butter. The home front must now be mobilized. Guns must come first, and the President is seriously debating whether to ask Congress for a formal Declaration of War.

Manpower — Gen. William Westmoreland, the American commander in South Viet Nam, is calling not only for a build-up to 400,000 troops next year, but is almost frantic in demanding replacements now.

Battle casualties, heat exhaustion and malaria have taken a more terrible toll than the public has been told. The First Cavalry Division was so short of replacements that it was forced to withdraw from the fighting around Plei Me. We simply have been flying out casualties faster than we have been flying replacements in.

☆ ☆ ☆

Another problem is that enlistments have been expiring. Literally thousands of GI's have arrived in South Viet Nam barely in time to arrange their transportation home. Some had less than a month to go before their enlistments were up. Others, with 60 to 120 days left to serve, are now waiting to go home.

To raise the necessary manpower, not only will draft calls have to be increased in 1966, but Reserve and National Guard units will be ordered to active duty.

Tax increase — The President's financial jugglers are freely predicting that the Viet Nam war will take a $6 billion slash out of next year's budget. Others insist the cost will be closer to $10 billion.

This almost certainly means that taxes, so recently reduced, will have to be increased again. It also means postponing money for some of the Great Society programs that Congress passed this year.

Miltary outlook—American forces have won some impressive victories, but it cannot be truthfully claimed that they have taken over the initiative. The Viet Cong, reinforced by North Vietnamese regulars, still control most of the countryside. We are still on the defensive.

The bombing of North Viet Nam, which was supposed to pound the communists to the peace table and stop the flow of reinforcements to the guerrillas, has completely failed in its objectives.

Meanwhile, Americans have been fighting bravely in Viet Nam. It would be a head-in-the-sand attitude, however, to claim that Americans are better jungle fighters than the guerrillas who have spent their lives in the jungle.

The blunt truth is that Americans get exhausted from the heat and humidity, must be rotated every few days back to their base camp for rest, relaxation and recuperation.

Peace prospects — a truce, like the tango, takes two. Not even the President's most optimistic advisers now believe the communists will sit down at the truce table except on their own terms.

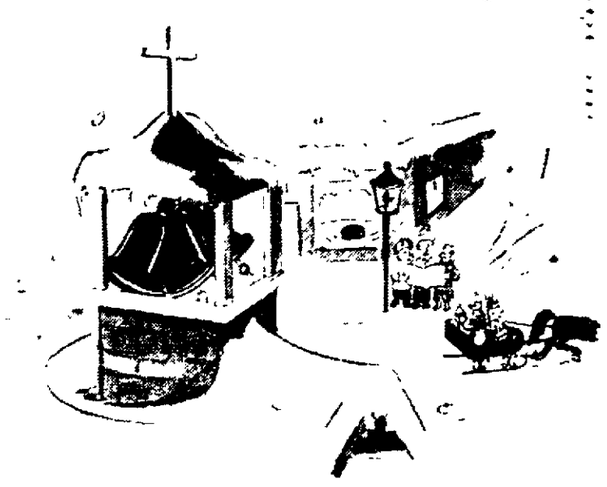
Patchwork Prairie Country



Christmas time is a season of bells bells of joy and hope. The whole landscape listens in blissful peace to the tones. But Christmas is not the only time for bells. Much of our lives is interwoven with the sorrows and joys of bells.

Infants are delighted with tinkling bells on their shoes. A roly-poly clown jingling with bells inside or a toy train with bells clanging wildly bring happiness.

The careless school boy who bounds barefoot down the pasture lane or across the city park stops to listen when the peal of the school bell is heard. It is a sobering thought for those whose classroom has been the great outdoors all summer.

The metallic ring of wedding bells adds a deeper, warmer fullness such as is peculiar to crystal bells of glass. There is something of tranquility in their peal . . . an unhurried remoteness such as the chime of Oriental temple bells.

Bells have been rung when invading armies trampled across the countryside. Their wild clanging warned the townspeople and a note of defiant steadfastness rang across the land.

New Year's bells are restless and ring with gay abandon. They are wild and sweet. All's right with the world on New Year's Eve, so let the bells remind us for one night to let our cup of happiness run over.

There are bells that swing wildly on some storm-tossed ship. There are those who say a ship that is lost at sea never loses the sound of its bells. If one listens carefully, their tolling can be heard beneath the waves.

Historic bells such as the Liberty Bell embody the great ideals that generations of men have worked to preserve. Men bow their heads in humbleness and wipe a tear from the eye in memory of those who have given their lives to keep freedom alive.

The echoes of dim antiquity can be heard in ancient cathedral bells that ring from ivy-covered belfries. Here, too, the slow solemn bells toll the dead man to his grave.

I cannot say that Christmas bells chime only for those of happy heart. They evolve a whole lifetime of sadness and gladness and recho and touch those who understand their message just as they did hundreds of years ago.

☆ ☆ ☆

Since I sat down to write about the bells, a bit of a battle has been going on between the wee small voice of my conscience and my uncontrollable self that so often gets me into unfortunate situations.

High school students have just sold us a box of chocolate-covered mints to raise money for a class project. I took one despite the voice that warned me I had already eaten my share of calories for the day.

It was so taste-tempting that I sneaked another from the box, hoping I could do it before the voice had a chance to speak again. The second mint was even more delicious than the first.

Now I have a real battle on my hands. Three mints are too many. I would have to get up before sunrise and run two miles to work off the calories I consumed tonight. This does not make a happy early-morning thought. The wee small voice says absolutely no more candy. The second voice which speaks for the gullible me says try eating less for breakfast in the morning and take another chocolate-covered mint tonight. I could ask The Farmer for his opinion but I am afraid he would rule in favor of no more candy, and I would be over-ruled. This way the sides are evenly divided . . . one for and one against. It makes the competition and excitement more keen.

At least I have come up with a solution. I am just going to peek into the box and sniff. Well — maybe half a mint wouldn't add too many calories — certainly not as many as a whole one. Anyway, it's Christmas and shouldn't one be allowed to splurge a little at this jolly season? Guess I might as well eat the whole mint. I never did like doing a thing halfway. All or none at all has always been my motto . . .

Mm-m-m-m-m-m — good!

Anastas I. Mikoyan

Just a few years ago Anastas I. Mikoyan was representing Soviet Russia during a trip to the United States in behalf of trade relations.

We found him to be a dyed-in-the-wool communist, but differing from many of his breed by his relative silence, his Hitler-like moustache, and his general inoffensiveness.

In recent weeks Mikoyan retired at the age of 70. He is still a member of the country's policy making body, the Presidium, but he is through as president of the U.S.S.R.

There are a number of things interesting about Mikoyan. He was the last of the Old Bolsheviks to hold positions of power in Russia. A post revolution generation of Russians is now running the country. He outlasted Khrushchev and is one of the very few of the originals that escaped the firing squad or lived long enough to write dependable memoirs of the development of the revolutionary society.

Perhaps some of his good fortune was due to his having been an Armenian and, therefore, disqualified as a principal participant in the Russian power fight. He was as far up the ladder as he could get, but still short of the peak. Sometimes it pays to be an outlander.

For a man who served until Lenin and sat near the first fierce fires of revolutionary thinking, then went on through the career of Dictator Stalin, and then outlasted the years of Khrushchev, we imagine that Mikoyan is the best fitted of all men when it comes to understanding the from whence and to whither of the communist movement. We are certain there is a great deal of difference between the Russia of 1917 and the Russia of today. But we do not know whether the gloss of some achievement and the gathering of some wealth and stability has actually changed the hearts of the rulers of the Kremlin.

The Day Of The Pilgrims

It was on this day in 1620, a cold New England winter day, that the first contingent of Pilgrims from the ship the Mayflower landed at what later became Plymouth, Massachusetts.

The Pilgrims were of that early number of colonists landing here and there upon the Atlantic coast who began a successful social structure that became the United States of America.

The Pilgrims still have descendants in this nation. We also pay heed to their stern moral and social strictures. But we imagine that if the first Pilgrims were brought back to see today's development they would be amazed by its success. They would also disapprove strongly of much that we think and do.

Our forefathers were a strong breed, but they were also single-minded. We doubt that they were dreaming of founding the western world's future No. 1 power. They were mainly looking for a remote place where they could practice life as they wished which was not the way England and Europe wished to practice it. They had more urgent immediate problems than dreaming of empire building. Winter was upon them. The Mayflower was about to go back across the seas. Shelter from the winter storms and something to eat plus a place to worship figured as first considerations. After that it was the job of setting up community rules and getting along with the savage, native red men. The latter had very poor table manners and now and then saw fit to scalp a colonist or so. But, by and large, they were friends indeed. They helped the newcomers to avert starvation and taught them valuable lessons on how to live in an uncivilized country.

But nowadays we give all credit to the Pilgrims, forgetting that they would not have lasted very long if the more numerous Indians had not decided to live and let live.

De Gaulle Handles Detail

The embarrassing detail of a runoff election completed, French President Charles de Gaulle can now get on with the business at hand. De Gaulle never was really pushed in the election contest but the results did show his nation to have at least some reservations in regards to the general's policies.

De Gaulle was forced to more fully explain his attitudes toward the United States, for instance, and the episode should be of value. He told his people that France was no less an ally of the American people today than she was in the dark days of World War II when De Gaulle's Free French never surrendered to the forces of Nazism.

The general did outline a philosophy, however, that the United States should also appreciate. To be an ally does not mean to take orders. To be friends does not mean never to disagree. This is a lesson that the United States often finds hard to learn. We are too inclined to want to rule the roost the minute we find ourselves in the house. We are too inclined to think that the rest of the world should be patterned after our own social, economic and political systems.

De Gaulle will be a continual reminder to us that such is not the way of the world today. What we have in this nation works for us but it is not necessarily the answer to all the problems of the world. Freedom doesn't come in a neatly wrapped package or tagged with a pat political name. We will often find the French irritating in the years ahead but one suspects that they might say the same thing about us now and then.

Peace Rumor Makes Stock Prices Fall

NEW YORK—People . . . Places . . . Paradoxes . . . The heartening report that North Viet Nam was in a mood to holler "uncle," as in Uncle Sam, caused a disheartening reaction on the Pacific Coast Exchange.

Not a cheer was heard. Not a hat was thrown. Not a cork popped.

"A deluge of sell orders hit the market here after reports of peace feelers circulated," a dazed Exchange official said. "We were swamped."

Boeing, Lockheed, North American, General Dynamics, United Aircraft, Ling-Temco-Vought, Fairchild, Flying Tiger and Litton Industries and Rohr Aircraft were down. To many sellers, the threat that peace might break out meant we would stop building warplanes, missiles, Polaris subs, reconnaissance cameras, computers, inertial guidance systems, transport planes (and services) and jet engines.

Even Xerox skidded, off 3½ points at the horrifying effect that peace might have on paperwork.

Question: Can we afford peace?

Col. Anthony Story, the finest pilot I've ever seen in action, logged more than 28,000 hours in the air. He flew Jennies, DH-4's, Stinsons, DC-3's, Spitfires, C-54's DC-6's, DC-7's, Boeing 707's and all kinds of private planes. He never scratched a plane.

Never hurt himself, never shook up a passenger—and he had some distinguished ones. Tony was Gen. MacArthur's pilot and aide during the Korean war. I flew from Tokyo to Taegu in the Bataan with Tony one day when his passenger list included Generals Ridgway, Norstad, Ramey and a dozen more of similar rank, plus Averell Harriman. The approach to the tin landing mat was over the North Korean lines, and uncomfortably low. Before we made that pass, Tony sauntered back from the cockpit with an armful of .45 automatics, and handed them out to all but Harriman and myself. His takeoff late that day was sheer wizardry — no flaps to the very end of the short runway, then full flaps, and wheeeeeee!

Last week, Tony stepped off the curb in front of Rose's restaurant on 52nd street to hail a cab. A truck backed up on him and sent him on the shortest, roughest flight of his life: 20 feet. He was knocked unconcsious, wound up in a hospital with a golfball sized knot on the back of his head and three busted ribs.

Glow Of Virtue

Lincoln, Neb.

Of course, any sincere concern with the moral development of children is commendable. But why not start with advertising? The pictures and descriptions of bras, girdles, stretch pants, deodorants and the like are surely harmful to children's moral development. They are also disgusting to any adult who feels reverence for the human body created by God.

Young men are urged to "prove their love" by buying girls expensive gifts. Isn't the love which can be bought immoral?

Some of the sexiest ads must be written specifically for little girls. After all, how many grown women wear Size 28-A padded bras and play with dolls? Why not clean up advertising first?

Why not? Because the miserable pittance of conscience money which the businessman doles out builds our churches and pays our ministers' salaries. Wherefore, O fellow Christians, before I join you in picking on (oops, crusading against) the public schools, I need to know this: Are you really protecting the children, or are you seeking a warm glow of virtue at no personal risk?

Careful Choice

Garland, Neb.

I believe a distinction should be made between objection to required reading of books such as "To Kill A Mockingbird" and censorship. If a book is merely on the library shelves, some students may read it. If a teacher mentions the book or suggests reading it, many more pupils will read it. But if it is required reading, the students have no choice in the matter. Thus it is not censorship but the duty of parents and concerned citizens to object to poor selection of required readings.

A teacher must be very selective in choosing required reading. It should be good literature, of interest to the pupils and appropriate to their age. With the abundance of good literature available, I think more appropriate books than those dealing with rape, or overconcerned with sex, or overloaded with vulgar and filthy language could be chosen. Because a book is a Pulitzer Prize winner does not make it suitable for children.

As to those who would "censor" the Bible, they would do well to remember the Scripture verse: "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it." The Bible deals with the whole of human life, and this includes its sinfulness, but when teaching the Bible to children, we select the portions most relevant to the child's life and understanding. We should do this with literature, also.

Happy In Faith

Lincoln, Neb.

I read Patriot's item in Friday's paper. These names, definitions and where they all originate. I never heard of before, but if they are all so, no wonder all our grown ups have gone to extremes about them.

Santa Claus used to be for children, only until they were old enough to be told the parents really bought the yearly gifts. I think our children should be taught to live daily for the Lord, not just Christmas and Easter seasons

These should not only be patriotic American holidays, but Godly days. He was the one who died for us, and gave us a right for freedom. Why should we not respect Him for it?

I may sound old fashioned, but I never knew a worldly person who was contented. All such are looking for something they don't know what.

We may not have worldly things, but are much happier with less if we live a Godly life daily. Our unGodly people are as far away from the Lord as the communists.

Some Hope

Lincoln, Neb.

Shakespeare has Macbeth say, "But wherefore could not I pronounce 'Amen'? I had most need of blessing and 'Amen' stuck in my throat."

A little phrase is sticking in the throats of many Christians this Christmas. If it did not, we would be beyond hope. If we were devoid of conscience, we could easily sound off: "Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men."

But we are substituting, as shown on the sign on the White House: "Peace on Earth to Men of Good Will."

Maybe sometime in the future, if there is a future . . .

Time To Be Counted

Lincoln, Neb.

Your editorial, published in the "Star" last Wednesday, was most timely, pointed and forthright.

A thought. Tax exempt property, too, is provided with city water, sewers, fire and police protection, and other city services. Since the owners are the beneficiaries, would it not be right that these landlords be required to pay for the special services named?

A public stand against special interests seeking preferences and advantages, versus the public and the taxpayers is indeed a most commendable endeavor and public service.

Meanwhile, Americans have been fighting bravely in Viet Nam. It would be a head-in-the-sand attitude, however, to claim that Americans are better jungle fighters than the guerrillas who have spent their lives in the jungle.

The blunt truth is that Americans get exhausted from the heat and humidity, must be rotated every few days back to their base camp for rest, relaxation and recuperation.

Peace prospects — a truce, like the tango, takes two. Not even the President's most optimistic advisers now believe the communists will sit down at the truce table except on their own terms.

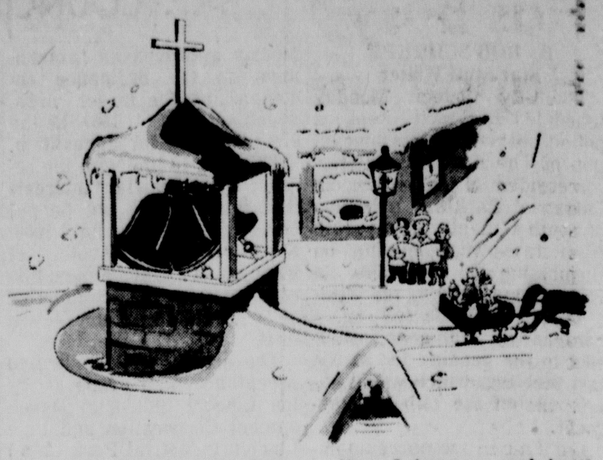
LA VERNA HASSLER

Patchwork Prairie Country



Christmas time is a season of bells . . . bells of joy and hope. The whole landscape listens in blissful peace to the tones. But Christmas is not the only time for bells. Much of our lives is interwoven with the sorrows and joys of bells.

Infants are delighted with tinkling bells on their shoes. A roly-poly clown jingling with bells inside or a toy train with bells clanging wildly bring happiness.

The careless school boy who bounds barefoot down the pasture lane or across the city park stops to listen when the peal of the school bell is heard. It is a sobering thought for those whose classroom has been the great outdoors all summer.

The metallic ring of wedding bells adds a deeper, warmer fullness such as is peculiar to crystal bells of glass. There is something of tranquility in their peal . . . an unhurried remoteness such as the chime of Oriental temple bells.

Bells have been rung when invading armies trampled across the countryside. Their wild clanging warned the townspeople and a note of defiant steadfastness rang across the land.

New Year's bells are restless and ring with gay abandon. They are wild and sweet. All's right with the world on New Year's Eve, so let the bells remind us for one night to let our cup of happiness run over.

There are bells that swing wildly on some storm-tossed ship. There are those who say a ship that is lost at sea never loses the sound of its bells. If one listens carefully, their tolling can be heard beneath the waves.

Historic bells such as the Liberty Bell embody the great ideals that generations of men have worked to preserve. Men bow their heads in humbleness and wipe a tear from the eye in memory of those who have given their lives to keep freedom alive.

The echoes of dim antiquity can be heard in ancient cathedral bells that ring from ivy-covered belfries. Here, too, the slow solemn bells toll the dead man to his grave.

I cannot say that Christmas bells chime only for those of happy heart. They evolve a whole lifetime of sadness and gladness and re-echo and touch those who understand their message just as they did hundreds of years ago.

☆ ☆ ☆

Since I sat down to write about the bells, a bit of a battle has been going on between the wee small voice of my conscience and my uncontrollable self that so often gets me into unfortunate situations.

High school students have just sold us a box of chocolate-covered mints to raise money for a class project. I took one despite the voice that warned me I had already eaten my share of calories for the day.

It was so taste-tempting that I sneaked another from the box, hoping I could do it before the voice had a chance to speak again. The second mint was even more delicious than the first.

Now I have a real battle on my hands. Three mints are too many. I would have to get up before sunrise and run two miles to work off the calories I consumed tonight. This does not make a happy early-morning thought. The wee small voice says absolutely no more candy. The second voice which speaks for the gullible me says try eating less for breakfast in the morning and take another chocolate-covered mint tonight. I could ask The Farmer for his opinion but I am afraid he would rule in favor of no more candy, and I would be over-ruled. This way the sides are evenly divided . . . one for and one against. It makes the competition and excitement more keen.

At least I have come up with a solution. I am just going to peek into the box and sniff. Well — maybe half a mint wouldn't add too many calories — certainly not as many as a whole one. Anyway, it's Christmas and shouldn't one be allowed to splurge a little at this jolly season? Guess I might as well eat the whole mint. I never did like doing a thing halfway. All or none at all has always been my motto . . .

Mm-m-m-m-m-m — good!

Anastas I. Mikoyan

Just a few years ago Anastas I. Mikoyan was representing Soviet Russia during a trip to the United States in behalf of trade relations.

We found him to be a dyed-in-the-wool communist, but differing from many of his breed by his relative silence, his Hitler-like moustache, and his general inoffensiveness.

In recent weeks Mikoyan retired at the age of 70. He is still a member of the country's policy making body, the Presidium, but he is through as president of the U.S.S.R.

There are a number of things interesting about Mikoyan. He was the last of the Old Bolsheviks to hold positions of power in Russia. A post revolution generation of Russians is now running the country. He outlasted Khrushchev and is one of the very few of the originals that escaped the firing squad or lived long enough to write dependable memoirs of the development of the revolutionary society.

Perhaps some of his good fortune was due to his having been an Armenian and, therefore, disqualified as a principal participant in the Russian power fight. He was as far up the ladder as he could get, but still short of the peak. Sometimes it pays to be an outlander.

For a man who served until Lenin and sat near the first fierce fires of revolutionary thinking, then went on through the career of Dictator Stalin, and then outlasted the years of Khrushchev, we imagine that Mikoyan is the best fitted of all men when it comes to understanding the from whence and to whither of the communist movement. We are certain there is a great deal of difference between the Russia of 1917 and the Russia of today. But we do not know whether the gloss of some achievement and the gathering of some wealth and stability has actually changed the hearts of the rulers of the Kremlin.

The Day Of The Pilgrims

It was on this day in 1620, a cold New England winter day, that the first contingent of Pilgrims from the ship the Mayflower landed at what later became Plymouth, Massachusetts.

The Pilgrims were of that early number of colonists landing here and there upon the Atlantic coast who began a successful social structure that became the United States of America.

The Pilgrims still have descendants in this nation. We also pay heed to their stern moral and social strictures. But we imagine that if the first Pilgrims were brought back to see today's development they would be amazed by its success. They would also disapprove strongly of much that we think and do.

Our forefathers were a strong breed, but they were also single-minded. We doubt that they were dreaming of founding the western world's future No. 1 power. They were mainly looking for a remote place where they could practice life as they wished which was not the way England and Europe wished to practice it. They had more urgent immediate problems than dreaming of empire building. Winter was upon them. The Mayflower was about to go back across the seas. Shelter from the winter storms and something to eat plus a place to worship figured as first considerations. After that it was the job of setting up community rules and getting along with the savage, native red men. The latter had very poor table manners and now and then saw fit to scalp a colonist or so. But, by and large, they were friends indeed. They helped the newcomers to avert starvation and taught them valuable lessons on how to live in an uncivilized country.

But nowadays we give all credit to the Pilgrims, forgetting that they would not have lasted very long if the more numerous Indians had not decided to live and let live.

De Gaulle Handles Detail

The embarrassing detail of a runoff election completed, French President Charles de Gaulle can now get on with the business at hand. De Gaulle never was really pushed in the election contest but the results did show his nation to have at least some reservations in regards to the general's policies.

De Gaulle was forced to more fully explain his attitudes toward the United States, for instance, and the episode should be of value. He told his people that France was no less an ally of the American people today than she was in the dark days of World War II when De Gaulle's Free French never surrendered to the forces of Nazism.

The general did outline a philosophy, however, that the United States should also appreciate. To be an ally does not mean to take orders. To be friends does not mean never to disagree. This is a lesson that the United States often finds hard to learn. We are too inclined to want to rule the roost the minute we find ourselves in the house. We are too inclined to think that the rest of the world should be patterned after our own social, economic and political systems.

De Gaulle will be a continual reminder to us that such is not the way of the world today. What we have in this nation works for us but it is not necessarily the answer to all the problems of the world. Freedom doesn't come in a neatly wrapped package or tagged with a pat political name. We will often find the French irritating in the years ahead but one suspects that they might say the same thing about us now and then.

Glow Of Virtue

Lincoln, Neb.

Of course, any sincere concern with the moral development of children is commendable. But why not start with advertising? The pictures and descriptions of bras, girdles, stretch pants, deodorants and the like are surely harmful to children's moral development. They are also disgusting to any adult who feels reverence for the human body created by God.

Young men are urged to "prove their love" by buying girls expensive gifts. Isn't the love which can be bought immoral?

Some of the sexiest ads must be written specifically for little girls. After all, how many grown women wear Size 28-A padded bras and play with dolls? Why not clean up advertising first?

Why not? Because the miserable pittance of conscience money which the businessman doles out builds our churches and pays our ministers' salaries. Wherefore, O fellow Christians, before I join you in picking on (oops, crusading against) the public schools, I need to know this: Are you really protecting the children, or are you seeking a warm glow of virtue at no personal risk?

Careful Choice

Garland, Neb.

I believe a distinction should be made between objection to required reading of books such as "To Kill A Mockingbird" and censorship. If a book is merely on the library shelves, some students may read it. If a teacher mentions the book or suggests reading it, many more pupils will read it. But if it is required reading, the students have no choice in the matter. Thus it is not censorship but the duty of parents and concerned citizens to object to poor selection of required readings.

A teacher must be very selective in choosing required reading. It should be good literature, of interest to the pupils and appropriate to their age. With the abundance of good literature available, I think more appropriate books than those dealing with rape, or overconcerned with sex, or overloaded with vulgar and filthy language could be chosen. Because a book is a Pulitzer Prize winner does not make it suitable for children.

As to those who would "censor" the Bible, they would do well to remember the Scripture verse: "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it." The Bible deals with the whole of human life, and this includes its sinfulness, but when teaching the Bible to children, we select the portions most relevant to the child's life and understanding. We should do this with literature, also.

Happy In Faith

Lincoln, Neb.

I read Patriot's item in Friday's paper. These names, definitions and where they all originate, I never heard of before, but if they are all so, no wonder all our grown ups have gone to extremes about them.

Santa Claus used to be for children, only until they were old enough to be told the parents really bought the yearly gifts. I think our children should be taught to live daily for the Lord, not just Christmas and Easter seasons.

These should not only be patriotic American holidays, but Godly days. He was the one who died for us, and gave us a right for freedom. Why should we not respect Him for it?

I may sound old fashioned, but I never knew a worldly person who was contented. All such are looking for something they don't know what.

We may not have worldly things, but are much happier with less if we live a Godly life daily. Our unGodly people are as far away from the Lord as the communists.

Some Hope

Lincoln, Neb.

Shakespeare has Macbeth say, "But wherefore could not I pronounce 'Amen'? I had most need of blessing and 'Amen' stuck in my throat."

A little phrase is sticking in the throats of many Christians this Christmas. If it did not, we would be beyond hope. If we were devoid of conscience, we could easily sound off: "Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men."

But we are substituting, as shown on the sign on the White House: "Peace on Earth to Men of Good Will."

Maybe sometime in the future, if there is a future . . .

Time To Be Counted

Lincoln, Neb.

Your editorial, published in the "Star" last Wednesday, was most timely, pointed and forthright.

A thought. Tax exempt property, too, is provided with city water, sewers, fire and police protection, and other city services. Since the owners are the beneficiaries, would it not be right that these landlords be required to pay for the special services named?

A public stand against special interests seeking preferences and advantages, versus the public and the taxpayers is indeed a most commendable endeavor and public service.

Peace Rumor Makes Stock Prices Fall

NEW YORK—People . . . Places . . . Paradoxes . . . The heartening report that North Viet Nam was in a mood to holler "uncle," as in Uncle Sam, caused a disheartening reaction on the Pacific Coast Exchange.

Not a cheer was heard. Not a hat was thrown. Not a cork popped.

"A deluge of sell orders hit the market here after reports of peace feelers circulated," a dazed Exchange official said. "We were swamped."

Boeing, Lockheed, North American, General Dynamics, United Aircraft, Ling-Temco-Vought, Fairchild, Flying Tiger and Litton Industries and Rohr Aircraft were down. To many sellers, the threat that peace might break out meant we would stop building warplanes, missiles, Polaris subs, reconnaissance cameras, computers, inertial guidance systems, transport planes (and services) and jet engines.

Even Xerox skidded, off 3½ points at the horrifying effect that peace might have on paperwork.

Question: Can we afford peace?

Col. Anthony Story, the finest pilot I've ever seen in action, logged more than 28,000 hours in the air. He flew Jennies, DH-4's, Stinsons, DC-3's, Spitfires, C-54's DC-6's, DC-7's, Boeing 707's and all kinds of private planes. He never scratched a plane.

Never hurt himself, never shook up a passenger—and he had some distinguished ones. Tony was Gen. MacArthur's pilot and aide during the Korean war. I flew from Tokyo to Taegu in the Bataan with Tony one day when his passenger list included Generals Ridgway, Norstad, Ramey and a dozen more of similar rank, plus Averell Harriman. The approach to the tin landing mat was over the North Korean lines, and uncomfortably low. Before we made that pass, Tony sauntered back from the cockpit with an armful of .45 automatics, and handed them out to all but Harriman and myself. His takeoff late that day was sheer wizardry — no flaps to the very end of the short runway, then full flaps, and wheeeeeee!

Last week, Tony stepped off the curb in front of Rose's restaurant on 52nd street to hail a cab. A truck backed up on him and sent him on the shortest, roughest flight of his life: 20 feet. He was knocked unconcsious, wound up in a hospital with a golfball sized knot on the back of his head and three busted ribs.

Moral: Get back into Combat, Buddy. It's safer.

Life Begins At 40:

Widow, 75, Has Busy, Happy Life

By ROBERT PETERSON

My deepest admiration is reserved for elders who don't let limited income stymie their pleasure. Instead of wallowing in self-pity, these admirable seniors find delight in being alive and in keeping minds and hands constructively occupied.

The other day a letter arrived from Mrs. Lillian Painter, who lives in a trailer park at Port Orange, Fla. She said she read this column regularly and thought I might like to know about her adjustment to advanced years.

She recounted difficult early years which included leaving school prior to graduation and losing her husband after a quarter century of marriage. For years she supported herself by working as a clerk.

When she was 60 she took a trip to Florida and was so fascinated by the mild climate, green grass and blue waters that she decided to launch a new era for herself by moving to the sunshine state. She sold her home in the North and bought a second-hand trailer in a shady trailer park catering to older people.

"For 16 years now," she writes, "I've been at the park living in my precious, 41-foot trailer which has space equal to four small rooms. My total income isn't much over $100 monthly, but it's plenty. I pay just $24 a month rent for the ground space occupied by my trailer, and my electric bill is just $3.50 per month.

"Ever since I was young I've been handy making repairs. It seems so simple I don't know why others have trouble. I can do painting, plastering, electrical repairs, carpentry, cement work and roofing. I can put in screen doors, upholster furniture, make slip covers and mend shoes. I also make my own window cleaner, deodorants, and other household necessities.

"I'm also good at fixing things that folks throw away, such as broken chairs and tables. You get some surprises now and then. I was fixing an old lamp to give to a friend and found a ten-dollar bill in the base.

"I make all repairs around my home, and neighbors are always asking if I can fix something for them. I'm pleased to be asked for it makes me feel good to be helpful to others.

"While all my immediate relatives are gone, I can honestly say I'm never lonely or bored for a minute. There are many widows and older people here and we visit and talk and do favors for each other. I write lots of letters and spend some time daily studying Nature — watching birds and even getting down on the ground to watch ants which intrigue me with their industry.

"Am I happy? Dear friend, I was never happier in my life and if you want to print this letter and maybe inspire some other older people to count their blessings you're welcome to do so.'

It's too bad the cheerful outlook radiated by Mrs. Painter can't be bottled and sold in drugstores. Enthusiasm and initiative such as hers could doubtless solve nine-tenths of the so-called problems of aging.

If you would like a booklet "65 Ways of Finding More Fun in Retirement" write to Robert Peterson, "Life Begins at Forty," c/o The Lincoln Star enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs.

New Cities Need Census To Get Gas Tax Funds

Cities incorporated since the last federal census can qualify for a slice of the receipts from the state gasoline tax if the cities pay for a special federal census, the State Justice Department held Monday.

The Justice Department noted that the last Legislature authorized that a portion of the gas tax receipts be allocated to cities and villages on the basis of population determined by the "most recent federal census."

The department held that the last regular census held in 1960 or any subsequent special census would qualify under the law.

The opinion came in response to a question from Sarpy County Atty. Dixon C. Adams, who noted the city of La Vista in Sarpy County was incorporated in 1960 but was not listed in the 1960 decennial census.

No State Funds Available Now For Road To Hastings Research Center

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

A State Highway Advisory Commission Monday advised a Clay County delegation that no state funds are available this biennium for constructing a hard-surfaced road to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) proposed Animal Research Center at the Hastings Naval Depot.

However, State Engineer John Hossack labeled the delegation's urging of a $100,000 hard-surfaced road as "premature."

"While the center is under construction, a haul road is sufficient," he said. "It would be money down the drain for a high-grade access for construction loads to tear up."

Starts Next Fall

Clay County Atty. Jay Sullivan said construction of the Center's $2.5 million headquarters is expected to begin next fall.

He said a 3.5-mile road is needed straight west from Clay Center to connect with the headquarters site.

Robert Anderson, division engineer for the Federal Bureau of Public Roads, said the using federal agency would provide interior roads on the 3,500-acre reservation, but local government would probably be asked to connect with its roads.

Anderson said the USDA probably will have a preliminary plan developed by late spring.

Commission Chairman J. R. McBride of Minden said a federal allocation of $60,000 is earmarked for Clay County and suggested a county road levy be initiated to provide local matching funds.

However, Sullivan suggested some state help because the federal reservation represents a $10.5 million loss of taxable valuation in the county.

In other action, the commission took under advisement three proposed locations for Neb. 12 from Butte to U.S. 183 north of Springview.

A State Highway Department report showed that one alternative route, running parallel about five miles north of Springview, had an underlying crust of shale that would prove hazardous because of continuing landslides.

Don C. Coffey, state design engineer, said the cost of the originally recommended line would be prohibitive in recommending an alternative.

The commission also:

—Approved abandonment (because of highway re-location) of eight miles of road from Curtis to Stockville, 2.5 miles from North Platte south in Lincoln County, 13.5 miles from Butte to Naper and 10 miles from Stuart to Atkinson and nine miles from Minden to Normal.

—Approved controlled access routes south of Holdrege for 3.5 miles, Sutton bypass for two miles, Geneva south for nines and for Maple St. in Omaha for two miles.

—Set hearing dates of Jan. 7 in Butler County for the Linwood West project and Jan. 11 in Custer County for the Eddyville-Oconto project.

Health Board To Seek New Medicare Program Official

The State Health Board authorized Monday the recruiting of a physician to head Nebraska's Medicare program on a part time basis.

Dr. S. L. Larson of Crete, the state's first Medicare director, has become ill and his services were terminated last Tuesday, State Health Director E. A. Rogers told the board.

He said he has asked the U.S. Public Health Service to lend the department a lay administrator to handle the administrative duties connected with the Medicare program.

However, he said a physician should be hired to actually head the program.

Dr. Larson, 43, was named in October, but is hospitalized now in Omaha apparently from health difficulties resulting from an auto accident several years ago.

In other action, the board ratified a departmental finding that a proposed Fremont sanitary landfill operation near Alexandria should be disapproved.

T. A. Filipi, state sanitary engineer, said the landfill site failed to meet statutory and departmental requirements.

John Severing of Fremont said three other sites, closer to the city, will be submitted soon for Health Department approval.

Filipi said there are about 480 municipal landfills in the state and "about 20 are undesirable."

However, he said, the present licensing law is not retroactive.

The commission also:

—okayed the name, Agriculture and Public Health Laboratory, for the proposed new state testing laboratory to be constructed on the University of Nebraska's East Campus, replacing facilities now housed in the Capitol.

—Approved the application of the Jefferson County Community Hospital for $147,000 in federal Hill-Burton Funds toward construction of a 30-bed, $380,000 addition.

—approved formation of a joint committee of the Hospital Advisory and Medical Facilities Council and the board to meet with the Scottsbluff community in January regarding completion of the fifth floor of West Nebraska General Hospital as an extended care unit.

—were advised the U.S. Public Health Service has called a Jan. 27 meeting of health officials from Nebraska, Missouri, Kansas and Iowa to discuss the Omaha's pollution problem of the Missouri River from packing house wastes.

Missouri Pacific Says Repairs Too Costly For Otoe-Avoca Rail Line

Missouri Pacific Railroad officials said it would be too costly to repair 5.2 miles of damaged track between Otoe and Avoca to serve the southeast Nebraska communities.

They presented the argument in asking the State Railway Commission for permission to abandon the segment of track.

The commission noted the railroad has not served the towns since last July 9 when heavy rains washed out the tracks.

Commission Chairman Joseph Brown said the railroad did not inform the commission service had been suspended, and that this was contrary to state law.

However, M. L. Hall, St. Louis, Mo., assistant director of research for the railroad, said the fact that an application was not filed was "an oversight." He said the railroad intended to file a formal motion later.

Hall said a study showed that it would cost more than $86,000 to restore the damaged track. He said this was too much in light of the fact that only 28 freight cars used the segement during all of 1964.

The commission said it will announce its decision later.

Keokuk Explosion Toll Rises To 21

Keokuk, Iowa (AP)—The death toll stood at 21 Monday in the Thanksgiving Eve explosion and fire that wrecked the National Guard Armory here.

Mrs. Joan Smith, 39, of Keokuk died at Graham Hospital here during the night.

Mrs. Betty Harnetiaux, 41, of Hamilton, Ill., died earlier Sunday night.

Both women were burned in the blast which ripped the armory apart while the Swing-Ezy Club was holding a square dance.

James Stych Elected Clay Center CC Head

Clay Center—James Stych has been elected president of the Clay Center Chamber of Commerce for 1966.

Other new officers elected were: Jay Sullivan, vice-president; C. J. Sanderson, secretary; Wayne Hodges, treasurer.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

Amidst the joy of Christmas — ("Silent Night, Holy Night") — the Siamese cat came down with a roaring case of love.

When teen-age heiresses threaten to marry the family chauffeur, their rich papas send them to Europe.

This didn't seem possible with the Siamese—she's about a teen-ager. I wanted her to grow up a little before we took on kittens. I'm an old hand with cats and kittens. I wanted a little maturity on this cat.

Young cat mothers have the right instincts. But I get nervous and do a lot of kitten sitting. This makes the mama cat nervous. And it's a shambles.

☆ ☆ ☆

A Siamese in love is something to see. I argued with the Siamese cat.

I said: "You're too young to know what true love is."

I said: "You're not really in love. You're in love with love."

I said: "Good grief — shaddap!"

The cat went right on doing what comes naturally. What comes naturally to a Siamese is running up and down the drapes. Letting out great cries of love — "wowrrrrr!"

☆ ☆ ☆

Love came suddenly to the Siamese. She just suddenly cried: Wowrrrrr!"

It even startled her. But she got with it presently. And from all over the neighborhood, tomcats came zeroing in. Hissing. Screaming. Fighting. It was no silent night, believe me.

I called up a nearby veterinarian and asked the lady if she boarded cats.

"Yes," she said. "Where is your kitty?"

"Don't go away," I said. "Kitty will be there sooner than you think."

☆ ☆ ☆

The cat let out one more "wowrrrrr" as we drove off. And all over the front yard tomcats clawed each other and screamed catty threats.

I unloaded the cat at the vet's.

I drove home and yelled at the tomcats: "Go home, you bums. The party's over."

Tomcats are hard to discourage though. They hung around like a bunch of stage door Johns. I put some Christmas music on the player. The tomcats accompanied it—"wowrrrrr!"

☆ ☆ ☆

About a half hour later, the veterinarian phoned. Not the lady, the doctor himself.

"About your cat," he said. (In the background I could hear the Siamese — "wowrrrr!" wowrrrr!")

"How long will this last?" I asked.

"That's the problem," he said. "With a Siamese, you never know. She might calm down and start all over again in a week or two. Now I'm not kicking your cat out," he said hastily. "But I don't think we can keep her."

"Why not?" I said. "What about the Christmas spirit? Is there no room at your inn?" ("wowrrrr!" cried the Siamese. "wowrrrr!")

"It's against our policy, he said. (I thought he said it a little weakly." Against our policy" is one of those big corporation phrases. You have to be the telephone company to really make it stick.)

☆ ☆ ☆

"She's making an awful lot of noise," said the veterinarian.

"You should hear it around here," I said. More tomcats were arriving by the minute. "I wish I were in a nice quiet animal hospital with only one cat."

The vet said sadly: "Well, leave her for a few days and let's see what happens."

"Merry Christmas," I said.

I held the phone out the window and let the tomcats hear the love message from the Siamese — "wowrrrr!" I thought it might be a little idea for those phone company ads: "Why not talk to your loved ones tonight?"

Beatrice Population Estimated Up 1,000

Beatrice (AP)—A new study initiated by the Beatrice Junior Chamber of Commerce has placed the population of the city at 13,300. Data gathered by the Jaycees was turned over to Bucher and Willis of Salina, Kan., city planning and consultants, which used aerial photos and other means to complete the estimate and verify previous data. The 1960 census set the Beatrice population at 12,132.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

Amidst the joy of Christmas — ("Silent Night, Holy Night") — the Siamese cat came down with a roaring case of love.

When teen-age heiresses threaten to marry the family chauffeur, their rich papas send them to Europe.

This didn't seem possible with the Siamese—she's about a teen-ager. I wanted her to grow up a little before we took on kittens. I'm an old hand with cats and kittens. I wanted a little maturity on this cat.

Young cat mothers have the right instincts. But I get nervous and do a lot of kitten sitting. This makes the mama cat nervous. And it's a shambles.

☆ ☆ ☆

A Siamese in love is something to see. I argued with the Siamese cat.

I said: "You're too young to know what true love is."

I said: "You're not really in love. You're in love with love."

I said: "Good grief — shaddap!"

The cat went right on doing what comes naturally. What comes naturally to a Siamese is running up and down the drapes. Letting out great cries of love — "wowrrrrr!"

If Too Many Needles Fall From Christmas Tree It's Dangerous And Should Be Replaced

By DICK BUDIG
Star Staff Writer

An excessive number of pine needles falling from a Christmas tree is a sign of a potential fire hazard and the tree should be replaced, according to Lincoln Fire Chief Roscoe Benton.

Benton, noting the final rush of the holiday season, urged this and several other precautions persons should put on their "mandatory fire safety" list the rest of this week.

For those who have not yet purchased Christmas trees, he offered this advice:

—When shopping for a tree, thump it once or twice. If too many needles fall off, pass it up for another tree.

—Once the tree has been purchased, splash the tree until the branches drip with a solution consisting of nine ounces of Borax, four ounces of boric acid and a gallon of water. The solution will not make the tree fireproof, but it will make it fire resistant. Trees in all public schools are treated with this solution, he noted.

Diagonal Cut

Before putting the tree up, make a diagonal cut at its base. The diagonal cut exposes more of the tree's base surface to water in the tree-holder.

Always use a tree base which will hold water, he urged.

Decorations should be of the non-combustible type. Check last year's string of lights for frayed wire-coverings and loose connections.

Place the tree in your home with a fire in mind, Benton advised. Don't place the tree near a door, Benton said, noting that in the event of fire, firemen will have a hard time getting in to fight the blaze and one of the family's escape routes will be cut off.

Never place an electrical apparatus, such as an electric train, around the base of a tree. A tree, when sufficiently dried out, will burn in 15 to 25 seconds, he said.

Reflectors

Next on the list of "nevers," Benton said, is placing electrical lights on a metal tree. The danger here, he said, is that should a short develop, a person could be electrocuted. Use a reflective type lighting on metal trees, he said.

Don't buy plastic trees unless they are approved by Underwriters Laboratories and are accompanied by a UL tag.

On Christmas day, loose wrapping paper should be collected and taken outside immediately. If a home is equipped with a fireplace, think twice about burning the tree or wrapping paper there.

The sudden rush of heat may exceed the heat for which the fireplace chimney was designed and cause a fire, he warned.

"And most important," Benton said, recalling a recent fire in which several children died while parents were shopping, "don't leave children home alone."

Leave Numbers

Get a known baby-sitter. Ask her to arrive one-half hour early and spend some time showing her the house, its switches and exits. Leave several phone numbers where parents may be reached.

In the event of fire, instruct the baby-sitter to get the children out of the house, call the Fire Department, and then call the parents."

CPPD Shifting $9 Million Fund To Bank In Nebraska

A $9 million retirement fund for Consumers Public Power District employes will be transferred from a Chicago bank to a Lincoln bank on Jan. 1 as the result of a law passed by the 1965 Legislature.

The law, LB384, implemented a constitutional amendment approved by Nebraska voters in 1964 and exempted retirement and other trust funds from Nebraska's intangible tax.

CPPD general manger D. W. Hill of Columbus confirmed that the trust fund is being transferred from the Harris Trust & Savings Co. of Chicago to the First National Bank and Trust Co. of Lincoln.

The tax exmption move in Nebraska was advocated as a means of keeping investment money in the state.

Sen. Fred Carstens of Beatrice sponsored LB384.

A. D. Majors Resigns From Normal Board

Andrew D. Majors, 83, of Omaha resigned Monday from the State Normal Board after serving 18 years.

Majors personally handed his resignation to Gov. Frank Morrison, saying he had served on the board long enough.

Morrison said he has no immediate replacement in mind.

Major's resignation apparently ended an unparalleled near-century of public service by his family.

Off and on for 98 years, a Majors has been participating in decisions affecting Peru State College, Nebraska's oldest institution of higher education.

Majors, a livestock firm executive, was named to the Normal Board in 1948. He has served as a member of Omaha Board of Education and the University of Omaha Board of Regents.

Two Engineers, Economist Hired For Water Plan

The State Soil and Water Conservation Commission announced it has hired two civil engineers and an economist to implement the Federal Water Resources Planning Act.

The engineers are H. James Owen of Champaign, Ill., who will receive $12,900 a year, and Kyle Schilling of Arlington, Vt., who will get $9,600 a year.

Also hired was Gayle Starr, formerly of Edgar, and the holder of a master's degree in agricultural economics from the University of Nebraska.

Warren Fairchild, the commission's executive secretary, said a hydrologist will be employed later to form a four-member team.

He said all salaries will be paid initially from state funds, but that the commission hopes to obtain federal matching money later.

Fairchild said the team will work with federal and local agencies in developing a state water plan.

Education Offices Won't Have To Move By Jan. 1st

An agreement was reached Monday under which the administrative offices of the State Education Department will not have to be moved by Jan. 1 as previously directed.

Sen. William Hasebroock, Legislative Council executive board chairman, met with State Education Commissioner Floyd Miller and the reprieve resulted.

Hasebroock said the department unquestionably will have to vacate by next December so the 1967 Legislature can use the space.

"But for the time being we are going to wait and see about space needs," Hasebroock said.

The senator said he presumes that if the department is required to rent space outside the Capitol, the 1967 Legislature would consider appropriating the necessary funds.

If Too Many Needles Fall From Christmas Tree It's Dangerous And Should Be Replaced

By DICK BUDIG
Star Staff Writer

An excessive number of pine needles falling from a Christmas tree is a sign of a potential fire hazard and the tree should be replaced, according to Lincoln Fire Chief Roscoe Benton.

Benton, noting the final rush of the holiday season, urged this and several other precautions persons should put on their "mandatory fire safety" list the rest of this week.

For those who have not yet purchased Christmas trees, he offered this advice:

—When shopping for a tree, thump it once or twice. If too many needles fall off, pass it up for another tree.

—Once the tree has been purchased, splash the tree umtil the branches drip with a solution consisting of nine ounces of Borax, four ounces of boric acid and a gallon of water. The solution will not make the tree fireproof, but it will make it fire resistant. Trees in all public schools are treated with this solution, he noted.

Diagonal Cut

Before putting the tree up, make a diagonal cut at its base. The diagonal cut exposes more of the tree's base surface to water in the tree-holder.

Always use a tree base which will hold water, he urged.

Decorations should be of the non-combustible type. Check last year's string of lights for frayed wire-coverings and loose connections.

Place the tree in your home with a fire in mind, Benton advised. Don't place the tree near a door, Benton said, noting that in the event of fire, firemen will have a hard time getting in to fight the blaze and one of the family's escape routes will be cut off.

Never place an electrical apparatus, such as an electric train, around the base of a tree. A tree, when sufficiently dried out, will burn in 15 to 25 seconds, he said.

Reflectors

Next on the list of "nevers," Benton said, is placing electrical lights on a metal tree. The danger here, he said, is that should a short develop, a person could be electrocuted. Use a reflective type lighting on metal trees, he said.

Don't buy plastic trees unless they are approved by Underwriters Laboratories and are accompanied by a UL tag.

On Christmas day, loose wrapping paper should be collected and taken outside immediately. If a home is equipped with a fireplace, think twice about burning the tree or wrapping paper there.

The sudden rush of heat may exceed the heat for which the fireplace chimney was designed and cause a fire, he warned.

"And most important," Benton said, recalling a recent fire in which several children died while parents were shopping, "don't leave children home alone."

Leave Numbers

Get a known baby-sitter. Ask her to arrive one-half hour early and spend some time showing her the house, its switches and exits. Leave several phone numbers where parents may be reached.

In the event of fire, instruct the baby-sitter to "get the children out of the house, call the Fire Department, and then call the parents."

CPPD Shifting $9 Million Fund To Bank In Nebraska

A $9 million retirement fund for Consumers Public Power District employes will be transferred from a Chicago bank to a Lincoln bank on Jan. 1 as the result of a law passed by the 1965 Legislature.

The law, LB384, implemented a constitutional amendment approved by Nebraska voters in 1964 and exempted retirement and other trust funds from Nebraska's intangible tax.

CPPD general manger D. W. Hill of Columbus confirmed that the trust fund is being transferred from the Harris Trust & Savings Co. of Chicago to the First National Bank and Trust Co. of Lincoln.

The tax exmption move in Nebraska was advocated as a means of keeping investment money in the state.

Sen. Fred Carstens of Beatrice sponsored LB384.

A. D. Majors Resigns From Normal Board

Andrew D. Majors, 83, of Omaha resigned Monday from the State Normal Board after serving 18 years.

Majors personally handed his resignation to Gov. Frank Morrison, saying he had served on the board long enough.

Morrison said he has no immediate replacement in mind.

Major's resignation apparently ended an unparalleled near-century of public service by his family.

Off and on for 98 years, a Majors has been participating in decisions affecting Peru State College, Nebraska's oldest institution of higher education.

Majors, a livestock firm executive, was named to the Normal Board in 1948. He has served as a member of Omaha Board of Education and the University of Omaha Board of Regents.

Two Engineers, Economist Hired For Water Plan

The State Soil and Water Conservation Commission announced it has hired two civil engineers and an economist to implement the Federal Water Resources Planning Act.

The engineers are H. James Owen of Champaign, Ill., who will receive $12,900 a year, and Kyle Schilling of Arlington, Vt., who will get $9,600 a year.

Also hired was Gayle Starr, formerly of Edgar, and the holder of a master's degree in agricultural economics from the University of Nebraska.

Warren Fairchild, the commission's executive secretary, said a hydrologist will be employed later to form a four-member team.

He said all salaries will be paid initially from state funds, but that the commission hopes to obtain federal matching money later.

Fairchild said the team will work with federal and local agencies in developing a state water plan.

BOWLING ALLEY OWNER EXONERATED BY JURORS

McCook (UPI) — A six-man coroner's jury Monday exonerated a McCook bowling alley owner in the fatal shooting of a rural Indianola youth early Saturday morning.

The jury said Earl Johns, 37, shot Lyle Newton, 16, and another youth unintentionally and without deliberation, premeditation or malice.

Newton died of the gunshot wounds. His companion, Roger Myers, 16, was wounded in the back. He was released from a hospital Sunday.

In its finding, the jury also said the shootings were "not done feloniously."

Found Youths

Johns, the proprietor of the Bowl Mor Alleys here, told police he had been staying at the bowling alley because of recent attempted burglaries. He said he found the youths in the establishment about 1 a.m. Saturday.

When they refused to stop at his command, Johns said he fired at them.

Newton was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Newton, of rural Indianola. Myers is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Myers of McCook. His father is a McCook policeman.

Apparent Burglary

Red Willow County Atty. J. D. Wood Jr. said the two youths were apparently burglarizing the bowling alley when they were discovered by Johns.

Johns testified during the jury proceedings that he fired a warning shot at the youths, but that they still refused to stop. He said his second shot was fired as the two reached the door of the building. It apparently struck Newton.

A third shot was fired at Myers as he ran down the street outside the establishment.

Faulty Homesites Bring $59,235 In Omaha Court

Omaha (UPI)—A Douglas County District Court jury Monday awarded a builder and three homeowners $59,235 in damages because of faulty homesites near Cole Creek in Omaha.

The suit had been filed by Joseph Standeven for himself and for Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Stineman, Mr. and Mrs. Neal D. Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Gene O. Peters.

Named defendants were T. H. Maenner, Inc., developers of the Maenner Westbrook Addition, and Henningson, Durham and Richardson, Inc., architectural engineers for the project.

The jury decision came after a two-week trial.

Standeven, who constructed the three homes in question, said the soil underneath the homes was not as compact as it should have been. This, he said, caused the basements to crumble and houses to crack.

King's Allowance Cut

Athens (AP)—King Constantine offered to take $66,000 cut in his annual royal allowance to help the nation's wavering economy. The government promptly took him up on it. His allowance has been $580,000 a year. The government also announced tax increases starting Jan. 1 on cars, personal incomes and business deals.

Watershed District Inspects First Completed Structures

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

David City—Christmas arrived early this week with a special reward for many residents of Butler County.

There was casues for rejoicing in the 51,000 acre Bellwood Watershed District northwest of here as a dream that began more than eight years ago became reality. Final inspection Monday signified the completion of the first three structures in the watershed.

Up for final inspection were the structures 4-K on the Jerome Meysenbudg farm, 5-G on the Cyril Birkel farm at Bellwood, and 3-A on the Dwaine Schmidt farm at Rising City. The first three were completed this month at a cost of $40,000 by Logan Valley Construction Co. of Laurel.

Twelve more structures and 33 miles of channel improvement are yet to be completed at an estimated cost of $910,000.

The inspection Monday included a final review by all interested parties and concluded with turning the structures over to the Bellwood Watershed Conservancy District Board, according to Soil Conservation Service spokesmen.

Many of those present recalled how the first public meeting to organize the 80 square mile watershed was held at Bellwood on August 6, 1957, with 120 farmers and land owners participating in the program.

On February 17, 1959, the area under consideration became a legal watershed conservancy district under Nebraska law and included an area that extends 12 miles east of the Polk-Butler county line and extends about seven miles south of the Platte River.

The first structure 4-K in the program was termed unique in arrangment for the area since it was the first to be constructed in this area of the state with wells under the foundation drain to pick up any seepage, according to SCS spokesmen.

"This is a happy event to see plans become completed structures," said Robert Bell of Bellwood, local board member and a member of the State Soil and Water Conservation Commission.

Snow Relieves Threat To Winter Wheat Crop

Last week's general snowfall relieved dry surface moisture conditions that threatened the Nebraska winter wheat crop, government crop observers said Monday.

The state-federal division of agricultural statistics said the snow also provided a protective cover for winter grain fields during sub-zero temperatures.

The division said the moisture cleaned dust from pasture and range feed. The snow did not restrict the use of field and pasture feed except in local areas where it was heavy.

The abundant supply of field forage continues to support large numbers of cattle on roughage feeds. Open weather has favored these pasturing operations.

Farm work continued at a brisk pace, the division said. Field operations were well advanced.

Cattle were making good gains on field forage as well as in the feed lots. Production rates for livestock were well above average.

Shipments of stocker and feeder cattle in Nebraska have been exceptionally large this fall, the division said. November arrivals totaled 236,000 head, 25% above November, 1964.

Redinger Dies Of Injuries

Dwight L. Redinger, 31, of Pauline, died in Bryan Memorial Hospital of injuries suffered Saturday evening near Glenvil on Neb. 74.

The Clay County sheriff's office said Redinger's pickup truck was westbound when he apparently lost control at the crest of a hill 4½ miles south and about one-quarter mile east of Glenvil. The sheriff's office said the vehicle rolled several times before coming to rest on its top in a ditch.

Redinger was first taken to a Hastings hospital but a short time later was transferred to Lincoln.

Survivors include Redinger's widow, Bonnie; his mother; three daughters; three sisters; and three brothers.

BOWLING ALLEY OWNER EXONERATED BY JURORS

McCook (UPI) — A six-man coroner's jury Monday exonerated a McCook bowling alley owner in the fatal shooting of a rural Indianola youth early Saturday morning.

The jury said Earl Johns, 37, shot Lyle Newton, 16, and another youth unintentionally and without deliberation, premeditation or malice.

Newton died of the gunshot wounds. His companion, Roger Myers, 16, was wounded in the back. He was released from a hospital Sunday.

In its finding, the jury also said the shootings were "not done feloniously."

Found Youths

Johns, the proprietor of the Bowl Mor Alleys here, told police he had been staying at the bowling alley because of recent attempted burglaries. He said he found the youths in the establishment about 1 a.m. Saturday.

When they refused to stop at his command, Johns said he fired at them.

Newton was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Newton, of rural Indianola. Myers is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Myers of McCook. His father is a McCook policeman.

Apparent Burglary

Red Willow County Atty. J. D. Wood Jr. said the two youths were apparently burglarizing the bowling alley when they were discovered by Johns.

Johns testified during the jury proceedings that he fired a warning shot at the youths, but that they still refused to stop. He said his second shot was fired as the two reached the door of the building. It apparently struck Newton.

A third shot was fired at Myers as he ran down the street outside the establishment.

King's Allowance Cut

Athens (AP)—King Constantine offered to take $66,000 cut in his annual royal allowance to help the nation's wavering economy. The government promptly took him up on it. His allowance has been $580,000 a year. The government also announced tax increases starting Jan. 1 on cars, personal incomes and business deals.

Faulty Homesites Bring $59,235 In Omaha Court

Omaha (UPI)—A Douglas County District Court jury Monday awarded a builder and three homeowners $59,235 in damages because of faulty homesites near Cole Creek in Omaha.

The suit had been filed by Joseph Standeven for himself and for Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Stineman, Mr. and Mrs. Neal D. Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Gene O. Peters.

Named defendants were T. H. Maenner, Inc., developers of the Maenner Westbrook Addition, and Henningson, Durham and Richardson, Inc., architectural engineers for the project.

The jury decision came after a two-week trial.

Standeven, who constructed the three homes in question, said the soil underneath the homes was not as compact as it should have been. This, he said, caused the basements to crumble and houses to crack.

Watershed District Inspects First Completed Structures

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

David City—Christmas arrived early this week with a special reward for many residents of Butler County.

There was casues for rejoicing in the 51,000 acre Bellwood Watershed District northwest of here as a dream that began more than eight years ago became reality. Final inspection Monday signified the completion of the first three structures in the watershed.

Up for final inspection were the structures 4-K on the Jerome Meysenbudg farm, 5-G on the Cyril Birkel farm at Bellwood, and 3-A on the Dwaine Schmidt farm at Rising City. The first three were completed this month at a cost of $40,000 by Logan Valley Construction Co. of Laurel.

Twelve more structures and 33 miles of channel improvement are yet to be completed at an estimated cost of $910,000.

The inspection Monday included a final review by all interested parties and concluded with turning the structures over to the Bellwood Watershed Conservancy District Board, according to Soil Conservation Service spokesmen.

Many of those present recalled how the first public meeting to organize the 80 square mile watershed was held at Bellwood on August 6, 1957, with 120 farmers and land owners participating in the program.

On February 17, 1959, the area under consideration became a legal watershed conservancy district under Nebraska law and included an area that extends 12 miles east of the Polk-Butler county line and extends about seven miles south of the Platte River.

The first structure 4-K in the program was termed unique in arrangment for the area since it was the first to be constructed in this area of the state with wells under the foundation drain to pick up any seepage, according to SCS spokesmen.

"This is a happy event to see plans become completed structures," said Robert Bell of Bellwood, local board member and a member of the State Soil and Water Conservation Commission.

Snow Relieves Threat To Winter Wheat Crop

Last week's general snowfall relieved dry surface moisture conditions that threatened the Nebraska winter wheat crop, government crop observers said Monday.

The state-federal division of agricultural statistics said the snow also provided a protective cover for winter grain fields during sub-zero temperatures.

The division said the moisture cleaned dust from pasture and range feed. The snow did not restrict the use of field and pasture feed except in local areas where it was heavy.

The abundant supply of field forage continues to support large numbers of cattle on roughage feeds. Open weather has favored these pasturing operations.

Farm work continued at a brisk pace, the division said. Field operations were well advanced.

Cattle were making good gains on field forage as well as in the feed lots. Production rates for livestock were well above average.

Shipments of stocker and feeder cattle in Nebraska have been exceptionally large this fall, the division said. November arrivals totaled 236,000 head, 25% above November, 1964.

Redinger Dies Of Injuries

Dwight L. Redinger, 31, of Pauline, died in Bryan Memorial Hospital of injuries suffered Saturday evening near Glenvil on Neb. 74.

The Clay County sheriff's office said Redinger's pickup truck was westbound when he apparently lost control at the crest of a hill 4½ miles south and about one-quarter mile east of Glenvil. The sheriff's office said the vehicle rolled several times before coming to rest on its top in a ditch.

Redinger was first taken to a Hastings hospital but a short time later was transferred to Lincoln.

Survivors include Redinger's widow, Bonnie; his mother; three daughters; three sisters; and three brothers.

A MAY wedding is planned

This morning Mr. and Mrs. Chris Rickertsen of Lexington make announcement of the engagement of their daughter, Linda Sue, to David George Hirschfeld, of Wilsonville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hirschfeld of Waco.

The wedding is planned for Sunday, May 22.

Miss Rickersten is a senior in the University of Nebraska School of Home Economics.

TALK around the town

The Christmas picture becomes prettier and prettier due to the addition of these and those and this and that. The 'these and those', naturally involves the guests who have arrived for the holiday season — And the 'this and that' has to do with all of the festivity which centers around the guests.

° ° °

This morning we learned that Mrs. Howard Wilson of Rancho Santa Fe, Calif., arrived last Thursday to spend Christmas week as the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Smith.

Mrs. Wilson's arrival in Lincoln started the courtesy ball rolling, and Mrs. Wilson will have few, if any, non-party moments.

The festivities began last Friday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Smith complimented the guest with a party at their home.

° ° °

The party mood continued on Monday when Mr. and Mrs. Harold P. Stebbins were a host and hostess at their home in courtesy to Mrs. Wilson. The guests were invited for canapes — and supper.

And we can't count Tuesday lost, party-wise.

Today Mrs. Wilson will again be a guest of honor, and her hostesses will be Mrs. A. Q. Schimmel and Mrs. O. W. Hallam who have invited guests for luncheon and bridge at the home of Mrs. Schimmel.

It's a full week for the visitor, what with the Christmas weekend and one thing and another —

But next Monday she will be party-ing again when Mrs. E. C. Ames entertains a small group of guests at luncheon at her home.

We have more guests and more parties to mention, but right at this moment we want to tell you the exciting holiday season which is in store for Miss Gaynelle Groth. Miss Groth, as you doubtless already know, is spending her junior year from the University of Michigan, at the American University in Beirut, Lebanon.

Right now she is counting the moments until Friday afternoon, Dec. 24, when she will be joined by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Groth. Mr. and Mrs. Groth plane off from Lincoln on Thursday at noon and plan to be away a month.

Miss Groth and her parents will be together for two weeks as they travel through the Holy Land. After that Miss Groth will return to Beirut and Mr. and Mrs. Groth take off for Turkey. After that they will spend some time in Vienna—go to Czecho-Slovakia—and on to Berlin, and London.

Miss Gretchen Groth arrived from Michigan for an early Christmas with her parents before they leave for Europe.

° ° °

Coming from Winnetka, Ill., later this week will be Mr. and Mrs. James Good who will spend the Christmas weekend with Mrs. Good's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Earle Foster.

° ° °

An informal gathering of former high school classmates will be held Friday afternoon when Mrs. Adrian Wolfe will entertain at the group's traditional Christmas gathering at her home.

The party always seems to have a surprise element because no one—not even the hostess—knows for sure how many will be able to attend; who will be "home for the holiday", or who is away in far off places.

Two members of the group, however, who will be in Lincoln for the holiday season—and party—will be Miss Sonya Harding of Boulder, Colo., and Mrs. Stanley Stumpf, the former Betsy Beck.

Miss Harding will arrive Friday to be the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell W. Harding, and her grandmother, Mrs. E. J. Sias.

Mrs. Stumpf, Dr. Stumpf and their two sons of Baton Rouge, La., will be the holiday visitors of Mrs. Stumpf's mother, Mrs. Chester Acher, Mr. Acher, and her sister, Miss Judy Beck.

IN suburban areas

Holiday visiting plans took shape in suburbia during the weekend. Guests are definitely on their way to Lincoln now, or perhaps the weatherman's sunny forecast has given the go-ahead to some of our suburban residents for out of town traveling.

EASTBOROUGH

Celebrating the arrival of his fourth year Mark Logsdon, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Logsdon, invited several of his neighborhood friends and his two brothers, Larry and Wayne, and sister, Susie, to celebrate Saturday with him. The guests were excited about young Mark's cake — a green fish with life-saver scales and bubbles, but they managed to consume all of it and the ice cream too.

Party-goers were Leisa and Lori Nutergen, Scott and Shari Vermeer, and the young Schroeders, Jeff, Paula, Pam and Pat.

Besides plans for the party Mr. and Mrs. Logsdon were also getting ready for a Christmas Eve trip to Grand Island and a visit with Mrs. Logsdon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert O'Neill. Mrs. Logsdon and the youngsters will spend a week visiting while Mr. Logsdon must return to the city until New Year's.

The Christmas spirit plus the promise of holiday cookies and candy brought several Eastborough ladies together Thursday at the home of Mrs. Lynn Vermeer for a holiday coffee. Present at the get-together were Mrs. Richard Klaas, Mrs. John Nutergen, Mrs. Ken Derman, Mrs. James Logsdon, Mrs. James Newlon, Mrs. H. L. Graham and Mrs. William White.

But like so many suburban planners, Mr. and Mrs. Vermeer also have plans for Christmas Day. A motor trip to Mr. Vermeer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orril Vermeer, in Sterling will highlight the holiday. Also attending the festivities in Sterling will be Mr. Vermeer's four brothers and their families.

EASTRIDGE

Friday afternoon the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Head was filled with young ladies clothed in either deep green or black and gold. The occasion was a dinner hostessed by the Pius High School pep club officers for the officers of the Southeast High School pep club before their respective basketball teams clashed that evening.

PARK MANOR

Arriving Friday to celebrate Christmas with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Julio Camoriano, will be Mr. and Mrs. George Kelly. The Kellys, who will motor to the city from their home in Logan, Iowa, also will be visiting with their grandsons, John and Kirk.

Entertained At Tea

The annual Christmas tea of the Lincoln Library Association was held Thursday afternoon between the hours of 3 o'clock and 5 o'clock, at the new Clare McPhee Laboratory School.

The program included Christmas music and a tour of the model elementary school library.

Miss Annie Laurie Smith of the University of Nebraska Love Library staff was in charge of arrangements assisted by Mrs. Evelyn Calloway, Mrs. Barbara Moore, Miss Nellie Carey, Nancy Burke, Alice Paine and Sylvia Gilmore.

Officers of the Association are Mrs. Lillian Halberg, president; Miss Gwendoline Birkey, vice president; Lyle Schreiner, treasurer; and Mrs. Chlorene Hardy, secretary.

This morning Mr. and Mrs. Chris Rickertsen of Lexington make announcement of the engagement of their daughter, Linda Sue, to David George Hirschfeld, of Wilsonville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hirschfeld of Waco.

The wedding is planned for Sunday, May 22.

Miss Rickersten is a senior in the University of Nebraska School of Home Economics.

TALK IN suburban areas

The Christmas picture becomes prettier and prettier due to the addition of these and those and this and that. The 'these and those', naturally involves the guests who have arrived for the holiday season — And the 'this and that' has to do with all of the festivity which centers around the guests.

• • •

This morning we learned that Mrs. Howard Wilson of Rancho Santa Fe, Calif., arrived last Thursday to spend Christmas week as the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Smith.

Mrs. Wilson's arrival in Lincoln started the courtesy ball rolling, and Mrs. Wilson will have few, if any, non-party moments.

The festivities began last Friday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Smith complimented the guest with a party at their home.

• • •

The party mood continued on Monday when Mr. and Mrs. Harold P. Stebbins were a host and hostess at their home in courtesy to Mrs. Wilson. The guests were invited for canapes — and supper.

• • •

And we can't count Tuesday lost, party-wise.

Today Mrs. Wilson will again be a guest of honor, and her hostesses will be Mrs. A. Q. Schimmel and Mrs. O. W. Hallam who have invited guests for luncheon and bridge at the home of Mrs. Schimmel.

Holiday visiting plans took shape in suburbia during the weekend. Guests are definitely on their way to Lincoln now, or perhaps the weatherman's sunny forecast has given the go-ahead to some of our suburban residents for out of town traveling.

EASTBOROUGH

Celebrating the arrival of his fourth year Mark Logsdon, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Logsdon, invited several of his neighborhood friends and his two brothers, Larry and Wayne, and sister, Susie, to celebrate Saturday with him. The guests were excited about young Mark's cake — a green fish with life-saver scales and bubbles, but they managed to consume all of it and the ice cream too.

Party-goers were Leisa and Lori Nutergen, Scott and Shari Vermeer, and the young Schroeders, Jeff, Paula, Pam and Pat.

Besides plans for the party Mr. and Mrs. Logsdon were also getting ready for a Christmas Eve trip to Grand Island and a visit with Mrs. Logsdon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert O'Neill. Mrs. Logsdon and the youngsters will spend a week visiting while Mr. Logsdon must return to the city until New Year's.

The Christmas spirit plus the promise of holiday cookies and candy brought several Eastborough ladies together Thursday at the home of Mrs. Lynn Vermeer for a holiday coffee. Present at the get-together were Mrs. Richard Klaas, Mrs. John Nutergen, Mrs. Ken Derman, Mrs. James Logsdon, Mrs. James Newlon, Mrs. H. L. Graham and Mrs. William White.

But like so many suburban planners, Mr. and Mrs. Vermeer also have plans for Christmas Day. A motor trip to Mr. Vermeer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orril Vermeer, in Sterling will highlight the holiday. Also attending the festivities in Sterling will be Mr. Vermeer's four brothers and their families.

EASTRIDGE

Friday afternoon the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Head was filled with young ladies clothed in either deep green or black and gold. The occasion was a dinner hostessed by the Pius High School pep club officers for the officers of the Southeast High School pep club before their respective basketball teams clashed that evening.

PARK MANOR

Arriving Friday to celebrate Christmas with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Julio Camoriano, will be Mr. and Mrs. George Kelly. The Kellys, who will motor to the city from their home in Logan, Iowa, also will be visiting with their grandsons, John and Kirk.

around the town

It's a full week for the visitor, what with the Christmas weekend and one thing and another —

But next Monday she will be party-ing again when Mrs. E. C. Ames entertains a small group of guests at luncheon at her home.

• • •

We have more guests and more parties to mention, but right at this moment we want to tell you the exciting holiday season which is in store for Miss Gaynelle Groth. Miss Groth, as you doubtless already know, is spending her junior year from the University of Michigan, at the American University in Beirut, Lebanon.

Right now she is counting the moments until Friday afternoon, Dec. 24, when she will be joined by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Groth. Mr. and Mrs. Groth plane off from Lincoln on Thursday at noon and plan to be away a month.

Miss Groth and her parents will be together for two weeks as they travel through the Holy Land. After that Miss Groth will return to Beirut and Mr. and Mrs. Groth take off for Turkey. After that they will spend some time in Vienna—go to Czecho-Slovakia—and on to Berlin, and London.

Miss Gretchen Groth arrived from Michigan for an early Christmas with her parents before they leave for Europe.

• • •

Coming from Winnetka, Ill., later this week will be Mr. and Mrs. James Good who will spend the Christmas weekend with Mrs. Good's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Earle Foster.

• • •

An informal gathering of former high school classmates will be held Friday afternoon when Mrs. Adrian Wolfe will entertain at the group's traditional Christmas gathering at her home.

The party always seems to have a surprise element because no one—not even the hostess—knows for sure how many will be able to attend; who will be "home for the holiday", or who is away in far off places.

Two members of the group, however, who will be in Lincoln for the holiday season—and party—will be Miss Sonya Harding of Boulder, Colo., and Mrs. Stanley Stumpf, the former Betsy Beck.

Miss Harding will arrive Friday to be the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell W. Harding, and her grandmother, Mrs. E. J. Sias.

Mrs. Stumpf, Dr. Stumpf and their two sons of Baton Rouge, La., will be the holiday visitors of Mrs. Stumpf's mother, Mrs. Chester Acher, Mr. Acher, and her sister, Miss Judy Beck.

Entertained At Tea

The annual Christmas tea of the Lincoln Library Association was held Thursday afternoon between the hours of 3 o'clock and 5 o'clock, at the new Clare McPhee Labboratory School.

The program included Christmas music and a tour of the model elementary school library.

Miss Annie Laurie Smith of the University of Nebraska Love Library staff was in charge of arrangements assisted by Mrs. Evelyn Calloway, Mrs. Barbara Moore, Miss Nellie Carey, Nancy Burke, Alice Paine and Sylvia Gilmore.

Officers of the Association are Mrs. Lillian Halberg, president; Miss Gwendoline Birkey, vice president; Lyle Schreiner, treasurer; and Mrs. Chlorene Hardy, secretary.

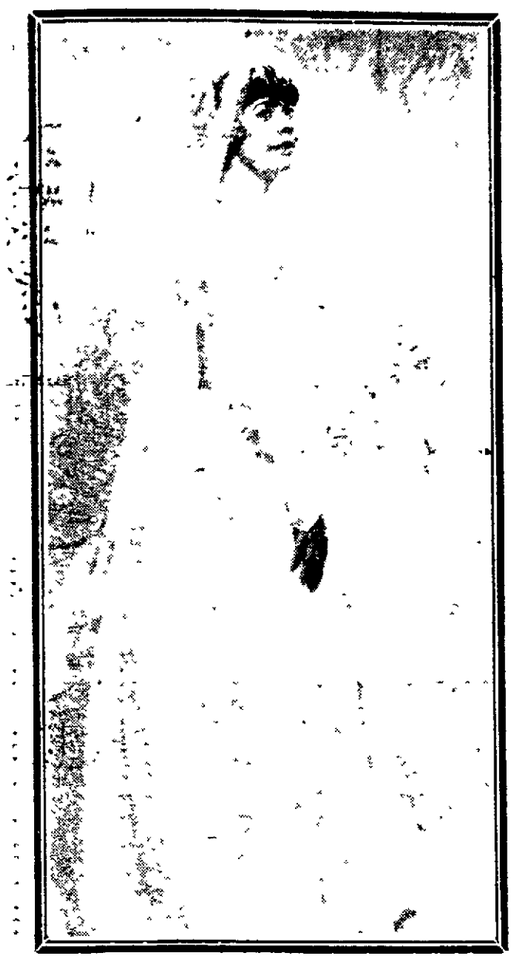
FORMER coed is bride



White chrysanthemums and evergreen boughs decorated the chancel of the First Methodist Church, Monday afternoon, Dec. 20, for the marriage of Miss Margaret Lynn Jamison, daughter of Mrs. Jake Alexander Jamison, and the late Mr. Jamison, to Gerald Lee Belt, son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Phillips of Albany, Ore. The ceremony was solemnized at 2:30 o'clock by Dr. Carl M. Davidson.

Gold satin frocks in the daytime length were chosen for Miss Carolyn Dee Jensen of Hastings, the maid of honor, and the bridesmaid, Miss Jolene Larson of Gurley, who carried cascades of pine and white pompon chrysanthemums.

John M. Merenna of Norwak, Calif., served Mr. Belt as best man, and the ushers were David Fairbanks of Shelton; Lawrence Kubes, Hubbell; and Rich Bringelson.

The bride's gown was fashioned of traditional white satin. A high throatline touched with Alencon lace, applique accented the long-sleeved bodice, and the lace was repeated on the softly-pleated skirt and on the court train, which extended to chapel length. A pearl tiara held her bouffant veil, and she carried a white Bible ornamented with a nosegay of white pompon chrysanthemums.

Mr. and Mrs. Belt will reside in Salt Lake City, where the bridegroom, a graduate of Oregon State University, Corvallis Ore. is studying for a doctorate in biochemistry at the University of Idaho. The bride who has served as director of Christian Education at the First Methodist Church in Hastings is a graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan University where she is a member of Delta Zeta sorority and of Garrett Theological Seminary Evanston, Ill.

DEAR ABBY

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: May I have your consent to name my lovely thoroughbred filly "Dear Abby?" I plan to show her as a conformation hunter. Sincerely,

AN ABBY FAN

DEAR FAN: Be my guest. I have had children, dogs, cats, birds, skunks, turtles and even a queen bee named after me, so why not a filly? I warn you, I am pushing 48, so don't expect too much of me on the jumps.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: We live at the air crossroads of the world, and hardly a week passes without a call from someone who's at the airport with "regards" from a mutual friend or a relative. These travelers have anywhere from a few hours to an entire evening to kill. This means we must drive out to the airport and entertain them. If it's around dinner time (and it usually is) I either have to ask them to my home for dinner, a courtesy I am not always prepared to extend on a moment's notice, or we must take them out. We aren't poor, but we don't enjoy wining and dining the cousins, uncles and grandmothers of some casual acquaintance we haven't seen in years and may never see again. Some guests DO offer to pick up the check, but how are we to know if we can better afford to treat them than they us? Just what is our obligation to these people?

INTERNATIONAL HOSTS

DEAR HOSTS: It depends entirely on the circumstances. If the caller bears regards from a dealer friend or relative, and you WANT to entertain him, then entertain him as best you can in the time allowed. But you have no obligation to "wine and dine" the shirttail relatives of every casual acquaintance who dials your number. Tell them you regret that you are unable to see them on such short notice. And don't feel guilty.

☆ ☆ ☆

CONFIDENTIAL TO WILLIE OUT WEST: Be careful with whom you "kill time"—or you'll be doing some. The girl is under age, and the "entertainment" is out of bounds.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 NT	Pass	3 NT

Opening lead — six of hearts.

When you consider that there are 635,013,559,600 different 13-card hands you can be dealt in bridge, it is not at all surprising that no one is able to bid or play all of them correctly.

The chances of making a mistake in any hand dealt at random are always quite substantial, and most players are happy to get by two or three hands in a row without having done something fairly awful.

However, what makes the game really fascinating and a genuine challenge is the fact that most of the mistakes made are of a relatively simple sort which should logically be avoided, but which occur nevertheless.

For example, take this hand where South, the declarer, went wrong. He took the queen of hearts with the king, played the ace of clubs followed by the nine, on which West discarded a diamond, and now found himself in real difficulty. Eventually, South wound up going down one.

Yet, a slight amount of thought at the start of the hand would have helped him to make the contract. He should have realized that the one outstanding danger he had to protect against was the possibility that East might have four (or five) clubs to the jack.

South should therefore have taken steps to deal with this possibility, since it was imperative to keep East out of the lead in order to forestall a heart return through the J-7.

He could have arranged to do this quite simply by entering dummy with a diamond at trick two and returning a low club to the nine. The contract would have become a certainty after West followed suit, whether with the jack or a low one

In the actual case, the safety or avoidance play—whichever you want to call it—would have been successful and South would have made at least five no-trump.

A. MANZITTO "YOUR REALTOR"

Q. My home is for sale for $10,000. I really don't need the cash Can you suggest a safe and easy way to sell it?

A. Yes, Contract For Deed sales are quite common. There is a definite deferred tax advantage. The money in the bank would bring about 4%. It may be possible to obtain a 6½% return on a contract sale. FIRST OF ALL, make certain your contract buyer is a GOOD & FAITHFUL risk. Your REALTOR will help you make your decision.

Trying, But No Help

Phoenix, Ariz.—During one of the days that Nebraska's football team was sitting inside here because of rain, a Phoenix newspaper carried practice stories on Alabama at Tuscaloosa, Ala., Arkansas at Brownsville, Tex., and Georgia Tech at Atlanta, Ga., with all of them under one headline.

The headline said, "Hey Huskers—Its wet everywhere." Elsewhere in the same paper a story was carried with a note to the Huskers that all 50 states had received moisture of some sort the previous day.

Next year's practice site for a bowl—how's that for optimism—may be chosen on the basis of an adequate fieldhouse rather than on outside weather.

Over Ruled By Golfers

The cost of golf in Phoenix is similar to Lincoln prices on both municipal and country club courses.

Green fees during the summer here are $1.50 and go up to $2 for playing 18 holes in the winter season on the three municipal courses, which lost $30,000 during the last fiscal year.

The Phoenix City Parks Board blamed the financial loss on the use of season tickets such as are in use in Lincoln and had earlier voted to eliminate the season ticket plan.

But after hearing complaints from winter residents and the city's retired elderly golfers, they recinded the vote and restored season tickets.

However the fees were raised from $75 to $110 annually for a single adult ticket and from $120 to $180 for a man and his wife. Tickets are sold to junior golfers on a monthly basis with price for this raised from $6 to $8.

The Park Board did, however, keep its earlier ruling on weekend play. The season tickets are good only Monday through Friday and weekend golfers must pay regular green fees.

Combatting Slow Play

The Moon Valley Country Club here has taken steps to speed up play on its golf course.

The golf committee and board of directors at the club have decided their members will play golf by the watch rather than by holes.

They have notified their members that the "maximum acceptable allowance" for playing a round of golf shall be four hours. Time slower than this is "unacceptable and shall be considered to be unnecessarily delaying the play of the course", the edict reads.

The ultimatium doesn't offer any penalty however. Maybe they'll make anyone who doesn't get to the clubhouse in four hours after he tees off take a cold shower.

Or they could refuse to serve the laggard at the 19th hole.

This would be a great boom to television. They could then play golf tournaments until a certain time had elapsed and whoever was leading at the time would be the winner.

TV producers wouldn't have to worry about a group finishing too early or too late to get on camera.

Horses Run For Huskers

Turf Paradise, currently hosting the ponies here, has a very definite Nebraska flavor with many of the same horses that ran in Nebraska last season being ridden by the same jockeys who worked in the Cornhusker state.

One days card here included a race named for the Nebraska football team to honor the Huskers who chose Arizona as their early training site for the Orange Bowl.

Bob Yeager, a familiar name to the horse set in Nebraska, is the leading rider here. Among the other jockeys who have performed in Nebraska and now riding mounts here are Correa, Arterburn and Bird.

HUSKERS TIP STANFORD

Indian Defense Gives NU Fits

. . . RECORD NOW 6-1

By BARRY BURKHART
Star Sports Writer

Nebraska attempted to make Stanford change defensive tactics with almost disastrous results as the Cornhusker basketball team narrowly defeated the Indians, 71-67, before an estimated 7,600 fans at the Coliseum Monday night.

The Huskers, who led 50-37 at halftime, showed tremendous improvement over the Nebraska team that defeated South Dakota Saturday night. However, key errors in the final minutes almost proved fatal for the Huskers as they boosted their record to 6-1.

Stanford opened the game with a man-to-man defense; however, in the waning minutes of the game, the Indians switched to a zone defense which was difficult for the smaller Nebraskans to penetrate.

Leading 61-53 with 12:42 left in the game, the Cornhuskers began the same stall that proved successful against Texas. The stall was an attempt to pull the zoning Indians away from the basket, buti it almost backfired.

The problem with the stall was most aptly put later by Husker coach Joe Cipriano when he commented, "We made a lot of mistakes."

Nebraska made the stall work for about four minutes; but with 8:17 left in the game, Stanford's Gary Petersmeyer stole the ball, was fouled at the far end of the court in the act of shooting, and hit both free throws to make the score 63-55.

Nebraska retaliated with a fast break that culminated in a layin by Stuart Lantz.

At that point Stanford stole the ball twice in succession, scored both times and narrowed the score to 63-58 in favor of Nebraska.

The two teams then traded points until 4:11 was left in the game when consecutive field goals by Stanford made the score 69-65.

Nebraska missed its next try, Stanford took the rebound, and the Husker lead seemed to be in an extremely precarious position.

However, Nate Branch stole the ball on the sidelines, raced down the court all alone and dunked the shot to give Nebraska its six-point lead again with 1:29 left and put a damper on Stanford hopes.

Nebraska's torrid 54% from the field greatly helped the Huskers cause. The Indians hit 37.7%.

Sophomore Tom Baack led Husker scoring with 22 points. However, four other Nebraskans were in double figures, including Lantz with 12. Hare with 14, Coley Webb with 11 and Branch with 12.

The high scorer for the game was 6-6½ Stanford forward Robert Bedell with 26. No other Indian player scored in double figures.

Hare led both teams with 11 rebounds, and the Huskers out-rebounded Stanford 43-36.

Lincoln Is 1967 Roller Skating Site

Frank Cahill, national field representative of the Roller Skating Rink Operators Association of America, announced Monday that Lincoln has been awarded the 1967 National Roller Skating Championships.

Meeting with the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce Conventions Committee and representatives of the Nebraska Centennial Commission, Cahill noted that Lincoln has become the National Championship site for an unprecedented three out of the last six years.

Lincoln hosted the meet in 1962 and again in July of 1965. Last summer's meet brought 1400 competitors, the best of a field of over 20,000 and their families to the Capital City.

Cahill stated that the 1967 championships will be held July 29 through August 6.

The ABC Television Network will be on hand once again to televise the competition on its Wide World of Sports program.

Brown Named NFL's Player Of The Year

New York (AP) — Jim Brown, Cleveland's star fullback, was named Monday as the National Football League Player of the Year by the New York chapter of the Pro Football Writers Association.

Brown won the first annual award in a close vote over Gale Sayers, the Chicago Bears' spectacular rookie halfback.

NU Completes Arizona Training

. . . GRIDDERS TO ARRIVE IN LINCOLN TODAY

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Phoenix, Ariz. — Nebraska completed its Arizona phase of training here Monday night for the Orange Bowl game and will depart for Lincoln at 10 a.m. Tuesday, arriving at Lincoln Municipal Airport at 4 p.m.

NU coach Bob Devaney expressed pleasure with the Arizona training despite being rained out of two workouts last week.

"We were able to accomplish about what we had intended to get done," Devaney said Monday. "Our only worry now is that they don't get too far out of shape when they go home for Christmas." Devaney will let his gridders go home for Christmas as soon as the plane touches down Tuesday afternoon and will have them regroup in Lincoln Sunday morning for the flight to Miami.

The Husker coach will take the same 57-man squad to Miami that has worked here since last Wednesday. One of the major things the NU coaching staff hoped to accomplish in their drills here was to have the players regain the timing that was lost by not having contact with a football since the Thanksgiving Day game with Oklahoma.

"We feel we have made adequate progress in that direction," Devaney said in discussing his squad's timing. "This was one of the things we wanted to get done here and I think we did it.

"We weren't out to get ready to play Alabama this weekend because the game is still 10 days away. We also wanted to get some conditioning work done and we were able to do this with a lot of running."

Fullback Frank Solich continues to be slowed by a knee bruise and a pulled muscle. "But we don't think it's serious and we feel he'll be all right by game time," Devaney said. Halfback Harry Wilson, the team's leading ground gainer, has a slight ankle injury, but a retaping job by trainer Paul Schneider Monday morning appeared to lessen that problem.

Wilson was limping badly at the start of the Monday morning session, but after Schneider's change to a different style wrap of the ankle tape, he improved noticeably.

"If we were playing Alabama tomorrow (Tuesday), Harry probably couldn't play," Devaney observed, "but we aren't playing them tomorrow and we expect him to be ready."

Husker coaches are still undecided at two positions and Devaney indicated a decision wouldn't be made at either spot until coaches had a chance for further evaluation.

The positions in question are quarterback where Fred Duda and Bob Churchich are bidding and a defensive halfback spot where Ted Vactor and Kaye Carstens are battling. Carstens missed the Oklahoma game with mononucleosis. "Kaye appears to be recovering rapidly and seems to be running okay," Devaney pointed out.

Speaking of the quarterback situation, Devaney observed, "We won't make a decision there until we have had a few more workouts." While speaking at the Scottsdale Quarterback Club Monday noon Devaney refuted reports that he was unhappy with Arizona weather and would not consider returning here in future years.

"Contrary to a report in the Phoenix papers that we wouldn't come back here," Devaney said, "we were not displeased with this area and we would come back here.

"Earlier the rains had everyone feeling disappointed, but we know there was nothing you people here could do about it.

"We enjoyed our stay here and we are very pleased with the treatment we received from the people at Arizona State where we practiced and with the way we were treated by everyone in the area.

"I know the fellow in charge of the lights at Arizona State thinks I'm nuts because twice when we told him we were going to work at night, we later decided against it." Discussing Orange Bowl foe Alabama with the crowd of 150 at the quarterback luncheon, Devaney pointed out, "They are a team that never beats themselves.

"You can't wait for them to fumble or throw you a pass to intercept because they don't do that.

"They are the best team we will have played all season. They have probably the best passer (Steve Sloan) in college football. He has completed better than 60 percent of his passes which is better than most pro quarterback's percentage.

"And he doesn't throw interceptions. He had only four passes intercepted all year and has now thrown his last 90 without an interception.

"Their fullback (Steve Bowman) is the leading rusher in the Southeastern Conference and they balance their offense well between running and passing.

"And as everyone knows, Bear Bryant-coached teams are always tough on defense. They aren't as big as we are but they are very quick.

"Of the five game films we have of them, none of their opponents were able to get away for long runs. This is where their quickness comes in."

Ed Brown Ineligible For Game

New York (AP)— Veteran Ed Brown will not be able to give converted halfback Tom Matte any assistance at quarterback Sunday when the Baltimore Colts meet the Green Bay Packers in the playoff for the National Football League's Western Conference title.

That development came out of an informal meeting of NFL owners here Monday after Colts President Carroll Rosenbloom brought up the subejct of the Colts' quarterbacking problems.

The Colts have lost Johnny Unitas and his substitute Gary Cuozzo for the season because of injuries and besides Matte the only other quarterbacks on the Colts squad are Brown and rookie George Haffner.

However, according to league rules, neither Brown, acquired on waivers from Pittsburgh last week, and Haffner, activated from the taxi squad, are eligible for playoffs or championship games because they were not on the roster for the last two regular season games.

Rosenbloom, in discussing the problem with the other owners, brought up the matter of waiving the rule so he could use Brown, but it was decided that the league should stick with the rule.

—TIGHT END HONORED AS 'FOOTBALL PLAYER'—

Alabama's Cook Gives 100%

Tuscaloosa, Ala. — Whether tight end Wayne Cook is leading interference for a touchdown, blocking a man who weighs 30 pounds more than he does or is catching a pass for a first down, there is assurance that he gives it all he has and then some for the Crimson Tide.

The 6-1, 194-pound junior from Montgomery is a "football player" which is the way Alabama coaches best compliment a top gridder.

A tight end does not normally receive much recognition, but when Cook stands out on a play, most of the time it comes in a critical situation.

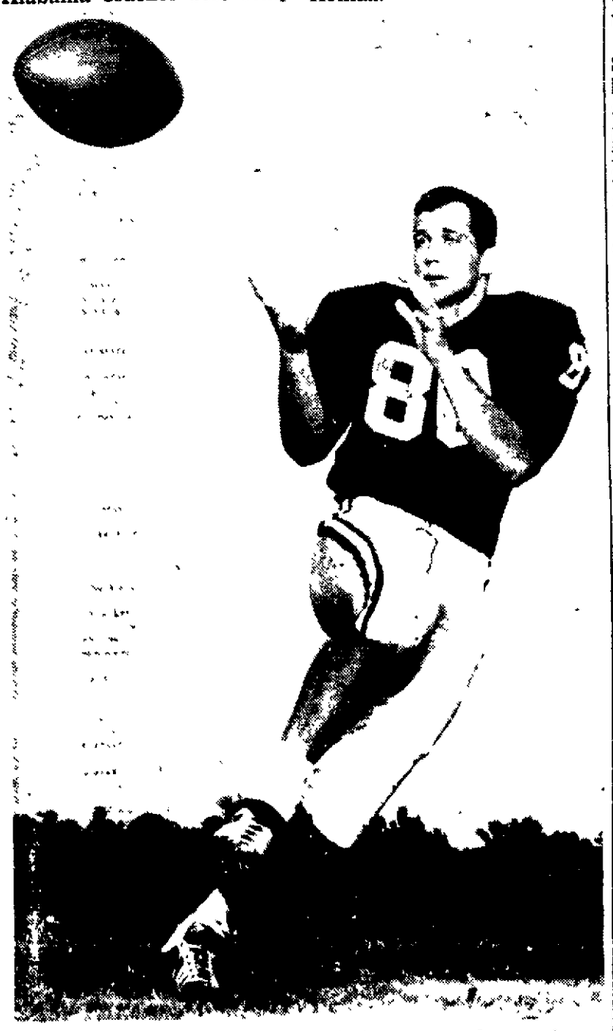
Looking back over the season, Steve Sloan passed to No. 83 several times on key third down situations while the defenders were watching such men as Tommy Tolleson, Ray Perkins and Dennis Homan.

Even more important, Cook has demonstrated that he knows what to do with the ball when he latches on to it. Tacklers have a difficult time with him because of his determination and running ability.

Cook caught nine passes this season for 144 yards and a 16-yard per catch average, certainly respectable for a tight end. Even with his outstanding pass receiving abilities, Cook is more valuable to the team as a blocker.

Much of SEC rushing leader Steve Bowman's yardage has been gained on Cook's side and when the Tide waltzed past Auburn it was Cook paving the way on Ray Perkin's 33-yard TD reception and run for Bama's second TD.

The quiet junior makes lots of noise on the field and Alabama is a better team because of it.



WAYNE COOK . . . Alabama tight end.

Robinson Appointed As Administrative Aide

Kansas City, Mo. (AP) — Appointment of Eddie Robinson, veteran major league player and executive, as administrative assistant to Ed Lopat, executive vice president of the Kansas City Athletics, was announced Monday.

Robinson, who has played with seven American League clubs, resigned from the Houston Astros last Thursday, after being relieved of his duties as farm director.

Gilchrist Fined $100

Denver, Colo. (AP) — Cookie Gilchrist, Denver Bronco fullback, was fined $100 Sunday for missing a workout Saturday prior to the Broncos' 45-35 loss to the Kansas City Chiefs in an American Football League game at Kansas City.

Jim Burris, Bronco vice president, said, "I wanted to fine him $200, but the coaches prevailed in his behalf."

Jim Brown, 7 Teammates On West Club

Los Angeles (AP) — Fullback Jim Brown and seven of his Cleveland teammates were selected today for the East team which meets the National Football League's Western squad in the annual Pro Bowl Game here Jan. 16.

The 34-man squad was announced by NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle and the game's local co-directors, Glenn Davis and Dave Brandman.

Quarterback Frank Ryan, Brown, Dick Schafrath, John Wooten, Gene Hickerson, Gary Collins, Paul Wiggin and Jim Houston were the Clevelanders named.

Norman Snead of the Philadelphia Eagles was the other quarterback selected.

—THREE ROOKIES NAMED—

West's Pro Bowl Club Names Sayers

Los Angeles (AP)—Halfback Gale Sayers, the Chicago Bear's sensational runner, and two ther rookies were named Monday to the West team which will meet the eastern all-stars in the annual Pro Bowl game staged by the National Football League here Jan. 16.

Fullback Ken Willard of the San Francisco 49ers and linebacker Dick Butkus of the Bears were the other rookies selected.

The players were named by vote of the NFL coaches.

San Francisco and the Detroit Lions, also-rans in the title race, each placed six men on the team. Baltimore and Chicago placed five and Los Angeles, Minnesota and Green Bay four a piece.

Quarterbacks selected were the 49ers' John Brodie and either Bart Starr of Green Bay, Rudy Bukich of Chicago or Fran Tarkenton of Minnesota.

The east's team will be announced Wednesday. There are 34 on each squad.

Winning team players receive $1,500 a piece, losers $900.

Trying, But No Help

Phoenix, Ariz.—During one of the days that Nebraska's football team was sitting inside here because of rain, a Phoenix newspaper carried practice stories on Alabama at Tuscaloosa, Ala., Arkansas at Brownsville, Tex., and Georgia Tech at Atlanta, Ga., with all of them under one headline.

The headline said, "Hey Huskers—Its wet everywhere." Elsewhere in the same paper a story was carried with a note to the Huskers that all 50 states had received moisture of some sort the previous day.

Next year's practice site for a bowl—how's that for optimism—may be chosen on the basis of an adequate fieldhouse rather than on outside weather.

Over Ruled By Golfers

The cost of golf in Phoenix is similar to Lincoln prices on both municipal and country club courses.

Green fees during the summer here are $1.50 and go up to $2 for playing 18 holes in the winter season on the three municipal courses, which lost $30,000 during the last fiscal year.

The Phoenix City Parks Board blamed the financial loss on the use of season tickets such as are in use in Lincoln and had earlier voted to eliminate the season ticket plan.

But after hearing complaints from winter residents and the city's retired elderly golfers, they recinded the vote and restored season tickets.

However the fees were raised from $75 to $110 annually for a single adult ticket and from $120 to $180 for a man and his wife. Tickets are sold to junior golfers on a monthly basis with price for this raised from $6 to $8.

The Park Board did, however, keep its earlier ruling on weekend play. The season tickets are good only Monday through Friday and weekend golfers must pay regular green fees.

Combatting Slow Play

The Moon Valley Country Club here has taken steps to speed up play on its golf course.

The golf committee and board of directors at the club have decided their members will play golf by the watch rather than by holes.

They have notified their members that the "maximum acceptable allowance" for playing a round of golf shall be four hours. Time slower than this is "unacceptable and shall be considered to be unnecessarily delaying the play of the course", the edict reads.

The ultimatium doesn't offer any penalty however. Maybe they'll make anyone who doesn't get to the clubhouse in four hours after he tees off take a cold shower.

Or they could refuse to serve the laggard at the 19th hole.

This would be a great boom to television. They could then play golf tournaments until a certain time had elapsed and whoever was leading at the time would be the winner.

TV producers wouldn't have to worry about a group finishing too early or too late to get on camera.

Horses Run For Huskers

Turf Paradise, currently hosting the ponies here, has a very definite Nebraska flavor with many of the same horses that ran in Nebraska last season being ridden by the same jockeys who worked in the Cornhusker state.

One days card here included a race named for the Nebraska football team to honor the Huskers who chose Arizona as their early training site for the Orange Bowl.

Bob Yeager, a familiar name to the horse set in Nebraska, is the leading rider here. Among the other jockeys who have performed in Nebraska and now riding mounts here are Correa, Arterburn and Bird.

HUSKERS TIP STANFORD

Indian Defense Gives NU Fits

. . . RECORD NOW 6-1

By BARRY BURKHART
Star Sports Writer

Nebraska attempted to make Stanford change defensive tactics with almost disastrous results as the Cornhusker basketball team narrowly defeated the Indians, 71-67, before an estimated 7,600 fans at the Coliseum Monday night.

The Huskers, who led 50-37 at halftime, showed tremendous improvement over the Nebraska team that defeated South Dakota Saturday night. However, key errors in the final minutes almost proved fatal for the Huskers as they boosted their record to 6-1.

Stanford opened the game with a man-to-man defense; however, in the waning minutes of the game, the Indians switched to a zone defense which was difficult for the smaller Nebraskans to penetrate.

Leading 61-53 with 12:42 left in the game, the Cornhuskers began the same stall that proved successful against Texas. The stall was an attempt to pull the zoning Indians away from the basket, buti it almost backfired.

The problem with the stall was most aptly put later by Husker coach Joe Cipriano when he commented, "We made a lot of mistakes."

Nebraska made the stall work for about four minutes; but with 8:17 left in the game, Stanford's Gary Petersmeyer stole the ball, was fouled at the far end of the court in the act of shooting, and hit both free throws to make the score 63-55.

Nebraska retaliated with a fast break that culminated in a layin by Stuart Lantz.

At that point Stanford stole the ball twice in succession, scored both times and narrowed the score to 63-58 in favor of Nebraska.

The two teams then traded points until 4:11 was left in the game when consecutive field goals by Stanford made the score 69-65.

Nebraska missed its next try, Stanford took the rebound, and the Husker lead seemed to be in an extremely precarious position.

However, Nate Branch stole the ball on the sidelines, raced down the court all alone and dunked the shot to give Nebraska its six-point lead again with 1:29 left and put a damper on Stanford hopes.

Nebraska's torrid 54% from the field greatly helped the Huskers cause. The Indians hit 37.7%.

Sophomore Tom Baack led Husker scoring with 22 points. However, four other Nebraskans were in double figures, including Lantz with 12. Hare with 14, Coley Webb with 11 and Branch with 12.

The high scorer for the game was 6-6½ Stanford forward Robert Bedell with 26. No other Indian player scored in double figures.

Hare led both teams with 11 rebounds, and the Huskers out-rebounded Stanford 43-36.

Lincoln Is 1967 Roller Skating Site

Frank Cahill, national field representative of the Roller Skating Rink Operators Association of America, announced Monday that Lincoln has been awarded the 1967 National Roller Skating Championships.

Meeting with the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce Conventions Committee and representatives of the Nebraska Centennial Commission, Cahill noted that Lincoln has become the National Championship site for an unprecedented three out of the last six years.

Lincoln hosted the meet in 1962 and again in July of 1965. Last summer's meet brought 1400 competitors, the best of a field of over 20,000 and their families to the Capital City.

Cahill stated that the 1967 championships will be held July 29 through August 6.

The ABC Television Network will be on hand once again to televise the competition on its Wide World of Sports program.

Brown Named NFL's Player Of The Year

New York (AP) — Jim Brown, Cleveland's star fullback, was named Monday as the National Football League Player of the Year by the New York chapter of the Pro Football Writers Association.

Brown won the first annual award in a close vote over Gale Sayers, the Chicago Bears' spectacular rookie halfback.

NU Completes Arizona Training

. . . GRIDDERS TO ARRIVE IN LINCOLN TODAY

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Phoenix, Ariz. — Nebraska completed its Arizona phase of training here Monday night for the Orange Bowl game and will depart for Lincoln at 10 a.m. Tuesday, arriving at Lincoln Municipal Airport at 4 p.m.

NU coach Bob Devaney expressed pleasure with the Arizona training despite being rained out of two workouts last week.

"We were able to accomplish about what we had intended to get done," Devaney said Monday. "Our only worry now is that they don't get too far out of shape when they go home for Christmas." Devaney will let his gridders go home for Christmas as soon as the plane touches down Tuesday afternoon and will have them regroup in Lincoln Sunday morning for the flight to Miami.

The Husker coach will take the same 57-man squad to Miami that has worked here since last Wednesday. One of the major things the NU coaching staff hoped to accomplish in their drills here was to have the players regain the timing that was lost by not having contact with a football since the Thanksgiving Day game with Oklahoma.

"We feel we have made adequate progress in that direction," Devaney said in discussing his squad's timing. "This was one of the things we wanted to get done here and I think we did it.

"We weren't out to get ready to play Alabama this weekend because the game is still 10 days away. We also wanted to get some conditioning work done and we were able to do this with a lot of running."

Fullback Frank Solich continues to be slowed by a knee bruise and a pulled muscle. "But we don't think it's serious and we feel he'll be all right by game time," Devaney said. Halfback Harry Wilson, the team's leading ground gainer, has a slight ankle injury, but a retaping job by trainer Paul Schneider Monday morning appeared to lessen that problem.

Wilson was limping badly at the start of the Monday morning session, but after Schneider's change to a different style wrap of the ankle tape, he improved noticeably.

"If we were playing Alabama tomorrow (Tuesday), Harry probably couldn't play," Devaney observed, "but we aren't playing them tomorrow and we expect him to be ready."

Husker coaches are still undecided at two positions and Devaney indicated a decision wouldn't be made at either spot until coaches had a chance for further evaluation.

The positions in question are quarterback where Fred Duda and Bob Churchich are bidding and a defensive halfback spot where Ted Vactor and Kaye Carstens are battling. Carstens missed the Oklahoma game with mononucleosis. "Kaye appears to be recovering rapidly and seems to be running okay," Devaney pointed out.

Speaking of the quarterback situation, Devaney observed, "We won't make a decision there until we have had a few more workouts." While speaking at the Scottsdale Quarterback Club Monday noon Devaney refuted reports that he was unhappy with Arizona weather and would not consider returning here in future years.

"Contrary to a report in the Phoenix papers that we wouldn't come back here," Devaney said, "we were not displeased with this area and we would come back here.

"Earlier the rains had everyone feeling disappointed, but we know there was nothing you people here could do about it.

"We enjoyed our stay here and we are very pleased with the treatment we received from the people at Arizona State where we practiced and with the way we were treated by everyone in the area.

"I know the fellow in charge of the lights at Arizona State thinks I'm nuts because twice when we told him we were going to work at night, we later decided against it." Discussing Orange Bowl foe Alabama with the crowd of 150 at the quarterback luncheon, Devaney pointed out, "They are a team that never beats themselves.

"You can't wait for them to fumble or throw you a pass to intercept because they don't do that.

"They are the best team we will have played all season. They have probably the best passer (Steve Sloan) in college football. He has completed better than 60 percent of his passes which is better than most pro quarterback's percentage.

"And he doesn't throw interceptions. He had only four passes intercepted all year and has now thrown his last 90 without an interception.

"Their fullback (Steve Bowman) is the leading rusher in the Southeastern Conference and they balance their offense well between running and passing.

"And as everyone knows, Bear Bryant-coached teams are always tough on defense. They aren't as big as we are but they are very quick.

"Of the five game films we have of them, none of their opponents were able to get away for long runs. This is where their quickness comes in."

Ed Brown Ineligible For Game

New York (AP)— Veteran Ed Brown will not be able to give converted halfback Tom Matte any assistance at quarterback Sunday when the Baltimore Colts meet the Green Bay Packers in the playoff for the National Football League's Western Conference title.

That development came out of an informal meeting of NFL owners here Monday after Colts President Carroll Rosenbloom brought up the subejct of the Colts' quarterbacking problems.

The Colts have lost Johnny Unitas and his substitute Gary Cuozzo for the season because of injuries and besides Matte the only other quarterbacks on the Colts squad are Brown and rookie George Haffner.

However, according to league rules, neither Brown, acquired on waivers from Pittsburgh last week, and Haffner, activated from the taxi squad, are eligible for playoffs or championship games because they were not on the roster for the last two regular season games.

Rosenbloom, in discussing the problem with the other owners, brought up the matter of waiving the rule so he could use Brown, but it was decided that the league should stick with the rule.

—TIGHT END HONORED AS 'FOOTBALL PLAYER'—

Alabama's Cook Gives 100%

Tuscaloosa, Ala. — Whether tight end Wayne Cook is leading interference for a touchdown, blocking a man who weighs 30 pounds more than he does or is catching a pass for a first down, there is assurance that he gives it all he has and then some for the Crimson Tide.

The 6-1, 194-pound junior from Montgomery is a "football player" which is the way Alabama coaches best compliment a top gridder.

A tight end does not normally receive much recognition, but when Cook stands out on a play, most of the time it comes in a critical situation.

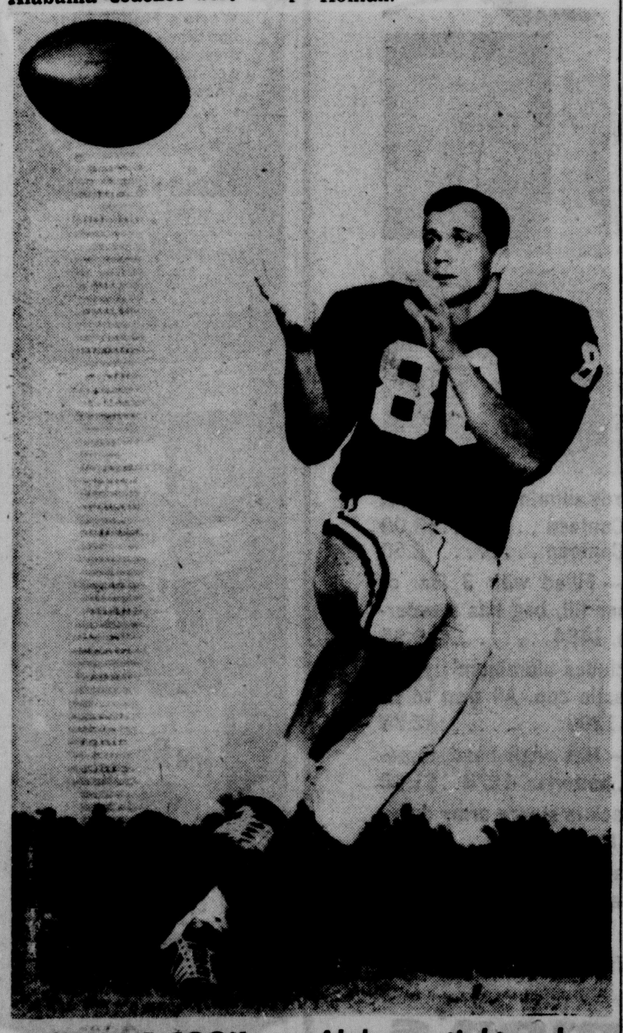
Looking back over the season, Steve Sloan passed to No. 83 several times on key third down situations while the defenders were watching such men as Tommy Tolleson, Ray Perkins and Dennis Homan.

Even more important, Cook has demonstrated that he knows what to do with the ball when he latches on to it. Tacklers have a difficult time with him because of his determination and running ability.

Cook caught nine passes this season for 144 yards and a 16-yard per catch average, certainly respectable for a tight end. Even with his outstanding pass receiving abilities, Cook is more valuable to the team as a blocker.

Much of SEC rushing leader Steve Bowman's yardage has been gained on Cook's side and when the Tide waltzed past Auburn it was Cook paving the way on Ray Perkin's 33-yard TD reception and run for Bama's second TD.

The quiet junior makes lots of noise on the field and Alabama is a better team because of it.



WAYNE COOK . . . Alabama tight end.

Robinson Appointed As Administrative Aide

Kansas City, Mo. (AP) — Appointment of Eddie Robinson, veteran major league player and executive, as administrative assistant to Ed Lopat, executive vice president of the Kansas City Athletics, was announced Monday.

Robinson, who has played with seven American League clubs, resigned from the Houston Astros last Thursday, after being relieved of his duties as farm director.

Gilchrist Fined $100

Denver, Colo. (AP) — Cookie Gilchrist, Denver Bronco fullback, was fined $100 Sunday for missing a workout Saturday prior to the Broncos' 45-35 loss to the Kansas City Chiefs in an American Football League game at Kansas City.

Jim Burris, Bronco vice president, said, "I wanted to fine him $200, but the coaches prevailed in his behalf."

Jim Brown, 7 Teammates On West Club

Los Angeles (AP) — Fullback Jim Brown and seven of his Cleveland teammates were selected today for the East team which meets the National Football League's Western squad in the annual Pro Bowl Game here Jan. 16.

The 34-man squad was announced by NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle and the game's local co-directors, Glenn Davis and Dave Brandman.

Quarterback Frank Ryan, Brown, Dick Schafrath, John Wooten, Gene Hickerson, Gary Collins, Paul Wiggin and Jim Houston were the Clevelanders named.

Norman Snead of the Philadelphia Eagles was the other quarterback selected.

—THREE ROOKIES NAMED—

West's Pro Bowl Club Names Sayers

Los Angeles (AP)—Halfback Gale Sayers, the Chicago Bear's sensational runner, and two ther rookies were named Monday to the West team which will meet the eastern all-stars in the annual Pro Bowl game staged by the National Football League here Jan. 16.

Fullback Ken Willard of the San Francisco 49ers and linebacker Dick Butkus of the Bears were the other rookies selected.

The players were named by vote of the NFL coaches.

San Francisco and the Detroit Lions, also-rans in the title race, each placed six men on the team. Baltimore and Chicago placed five and Los Angeles, Minnesota and Green Bay four a piece.

Quarterbacks selected were the 49ers' John Brodie and either Bart Starr of Green Bay, Rudy Bukich of Chicago or Fran Tarkenton of Minnesota.

The east's team will be announced Wednesday. There are 34 on each squad.

Winning team players receive $1,500 a piece, losers $900.

Grabowski Signs With Packers

. . . ALL-AMERICA FULLBACK'S PACT GUESSED AT $250,000

Chicago (AP) — All-America fullback Jim Grabowski took an important finance exam at the University of Illinois Monday and three hours later signed a three-year contract, guessed at $250,000, with the Green Bay Packers.

It was a grab of great prestige for the Packers and the National Football League from the rival American league, whose heavy-spending Sonny Werblin failed in a last minute bid to land Grabowski for his New York Jets.

Grabowski, who broke just about every Big Ten rushing record and even surpassed the immortal Red Grange as an Illini ground-gainer, was the No. 1 draft pick of the Packers and the new Miami Dolphins of the AFL.

Werblin acquired from Miami Sunday night the rights to deal for Grabowski, who agreed verbally to terms with the Packers Saturday night.

Grabowski rejected whatever offer was made by phone Sunday night by Werblin, who last year signed quarterbacks Joe Namath for $400,000 and John Huarte for $200,000.

Grabowski, 21, formally was signed by the Packers at Chicago's Drake Hotel after a 130-mile drive to Chicago following his school exam campaign.

His attorney, Arthur Morse of Chicago, who also helped Illini linebacker Dick Butkus sign a reported $250,000 contract with the Chicago Bears last year, commented:

"Not withstanding the money Namath and Huarte are supposed to have received from Werblin, the contracts signed by Butkus and Grabowski were the best ever executed in pro football."

It was guessed Grabowski received a $100,000 bonus and a $50,000 annual salary in his three-year contract.

Vince Lombardi, Packer coach and general manager, introduced Grabowski at the elebarote signing ceremony, simply stating:

"Grabowski now is a member of the Green Bay Packers."

Lombardi brushed aside all questions pertaining to salary or whether Grabowski received a no-cut contract.

Lombardi jumped into a television interview of Grabowski when the question was asked how he felt about being a highpriced rookie trying to win a Packer job from veteran fullback Jim Taylor or talented halfback Paul Hornung.

Lombardi, who said he expected the 215-pound Grabowski to reach 225 in pro play and fit in at fullback or halfback, didn't give Grabowski a chance to answer.

"Veteran players are only as good as the new players who have to fit in with them," snapped Lombardi. "The concern of veterans is mainly to win, and we hope Jim will be a great addition to our team." Lombardi said the Packer offense makes little difference between the fullback and halfback positions.

Grabowski, former star at Chicago Taft High School, said a main factor in his decision to sign with the Packers was that he would be close to his home here.

Sooners Continue Search

Norman, Okla. (AP) — The hour of decision appeared to be near Monday for University of Oklahoma officials in their search for a new football coach.

The Athletic Council interviewed two young college assistants and a high school coach, then held a private conference with Dr. George L. Cross, university president.

Cross wouldn't rule out the possibility one or more big name coaches were in the running for the job, but it appeared any attempt to land a prominent coach would be made quietly.

"We won't have an announcement of any kind to make until we announce the name of the coach," Cross said after a meeting with the council.

Interviewed Monday were Jim Mackenzie, assistant at Arkansas; Sam Boghosian, assistant at Oregon State, and Gene Corrotto, 51, who has a 65-14-4 record as coach at Norman High School as well as experience as a college assistant at Kansas, Tulsa and Arkansas.

They were the latest in a series of prospects to go before the council since Gomer Jones quit Dec. 6 after two seasons as Sooner coach. Jones remains as athletic director.

Duke Retains First Place In AP Basketball Ratings

By Associated Press

Duke's Blue Devils clung to their position as the No. 1 college basketball team Monday in the weekly Associated Press poll that was featured by Bradley's burst from ninth to fifth place, the entry of Iowa and Kentucky into the Top Ten and UCLA's fall from the rankings.

A panel of 40 sports writers and broadcasters gave Duke 28 first-place votes and 379 points, keeping the Blue Devils on top for the second straight week. Duke has won six of its seven games.

There were no changes among the Big Three as unbeaten St. Joseph's of Philadelphia retained second place with nine first-place votes and 327 points while once-beaten Michigan stayed in third place with 274 points.

The only other team to receive first place nomination was Vanderbilt, which jumped a notch to fourth. The Commodores, who won three games last week in boosting their record to 6-0, received three first-place votes and 269 points.

Bradley, also a three-time winner last week, made the most progress a jump of four places. The Braves, on the strength of their 8-0 record, best among the major colleges, received 183 points for fifth place.

Minnesota, making its record to 4-0 with a victory over Creighton, remained in sixth place with 144 points, just four more than Providence, 5-0 after defeating Loyola of New Orleans last week.

Wichita climbed two notches to eighth and Iowa, 7-0, climbed into ninth place just ahead of Kentucky, which romped over Indiana in building a 6-0 record.

Kansas, in fourth place last week, fell clear out of the Top Ten, after losing to UCLA and Southern California over the weekend. And defending national champion UCLA, eighth a week ago, also dropped from the rankings after taking an 82-76 licking by Cincinnati for its third loss in six games this season.

Duke which had to come from behind to defeat Virginia 75-72 Saturday, takes on third-ranked Michigan in another major test Tuesday.

Other important games Tuesday involving top-ranked teams include St. Joseph's at Brigham Young, Montana at Bradley and Santa Barbara at Vanderbilt.

The Top Ten, determined on the basis of 10 points for a first-place vote, nine for second, etc., with first-place votes in parentheses, won-lost records and total points:

1. Duke	(28)	6-1	379
2. St. Joseph's, Pa.	(9)	6-0	327
3. Michigan		4-1	274
4. Vanderbilt	(3)	6-0	269
5. Bradley		8-0	183
6. Minnesota		4-0	145
7. Providence		5-0	140
8. Wichita		4-0	105
9. Iowa		7-0	98
10. Kentucky		6-0	91

Others receiving votes, listed alphabetically: Brigham Young, Cincinnati, Colorado State, Dayton, DePaul, Kansas, Loyola of Chicago, North Carolina State, Oklahoma City, Princeton, Southern California, Syracuse, Temple, UCLA, Utah, Washington State, Western Kentucky.

Myers To Miss Rockhurst Game

Omaha (UPI)—Omaha University's basketball team will be without the services of guard Charles Myers Tuesday night when the Indians travel to Kansas City, Mo., to meet Rockhurst College.

Myers, who scored 26 points in last Saturday's loss to St. Benedicts, complained of a foot injury toward the end of the game. Doctors examined his foot Monday and said it appeared he was suffering from the gout.

Sophomore John Armstrong, a former All-Stater from Omaha Central, will take Myers' place in the starting lineup.

AFL Year Highlighted By Lowe, Cappelletti

New York (AP)— Paul Lowe's record rushing and Gino Cappelletti's final game point spree for the scoring title were statistical highlights of the American Football League season.

Lowe played briefly for the San Diego Chargers Sunday as they closed out with a 24-14 victory over Oakland and gained 32 yards — enough for a single-season league record of 1,121. The All-AFL halfback bettered the previous mark of 1,099 set by Clem Daniels of Oakland in 1963. Cookie Gilchrist of Denver was the rushing runner-up with 981 yards.

Cappelletti won his fourth scoring title and third in a row with a 28-point splurge as the Boston Patriots whipped Houston 42-14. The Patriots' flanker totaled 132 points to 115 for Buffalo's Pete Gogolak, who was shut out in the Bills' 14-12 loss to New York.

Cappelletti caught two TD passes and kicked two field goals and four extra points against the Oilers.

Oklahoma Cagers Stomp California

Norman, Okla. (AP) — Sooner center Don Sidle dropped in 27 points and grabbed 15 rebounds in leading Oklahoma to a 94-72 triumph over California Monday night in an intersectional basketball game.

It was only the second victory in six starts for Oklahoma and leaves California 3-4 for the season.

Boston Takes Bench Warmer

. . . GIVES TWO PLAYERS

Boston (AP) — John Huarte, highest priced non-playing quarterback in the American Football League, joined the Boston Patriots Monday still hoping to get his first taste of regular season play.

Huarte, the Notre Dame All America in 1964 who received $200,000 in salary and bonus to sign with the New York Jets, was traded to the Patriots for veteran end Jim Colclough and a high draft choice.

If Huarte makes the Patriots' team, it is expected Boston also will give the Jets $50,000.

The 22-year-old Heisman Trophy winner had nothing but prasie for Babe Parilli, veteran Patriots quarterback, whose job Huarte would like.

"I don't expect to break in strong because Babe Parilli is a top-notch quarterback," Huarte told a news conference after the trade was announced in Boston.

He said he played a total of about half a game in three exhibitions with the Jets.

Huarte was relagated to the Jets taxi squad last season when the Jets decided to go with an even higher priced rookie, Joe Namath. Namath went on to become AFL Rookie of the year.

Most of his professional playing experience came on Thursday "when I ran the next opponent's offensive plays in practice."

During games he was on a telephone relaying messages from rooftop scouts.

"I learned a lot of football, but that isn't playing," he said.

In New York, where the Jets introduced their new acquisition, Colclough said he had "mixed emotions" about leaving Boston.

Grabowski Signs With Packers

. . . ALL-AMERICA FULLBACK'S PACT GUESSED AT $250,000

Chicago (AP) — All-America fullback Jim Grabowski took an important finance exam at the University of Illinois Monday and three hours later signed a three-year contract, guessed at $250,000, with the Green Bay Packers.

It was a grab of great prestige for the Packers and the National Football League from the rival American league, whose heavy-spending Sonny Werblin failed in a last minute bid to land Grabowski for his New York Jets.

Grabowski, who broke just about every Big Ten rushing record and even surpassed the immortal Red Grange as an Illini ground-gainer, was the No. 1 draft pick of the Packers and the new Miami Dolphins of the AFL.

Werblin acquired from Miami Sunday night the rights to deal for Grabowski, who agreed verbally to terms with the Packers Saturday night.

Grabowski rejected whatever offer was made by phone Sunday night by Werblin, who last year signed quarterbacks Joe Namath for $400,000 and John Huarte for $200,000.

Grabowski, 21, formally was signed by the Packers at Chicago's Drake Hotel after a 130-mile drive to Chicago following his school exam campaign.

His attorney, Arthur Morse of Chicago, who also helped Illini linebacker Dick Butkus sign a reported $250,000 contract with the Chicago Bears last year, commented:

"Not withstanding the money Namath and Huarte are supposed to have received from Werblin, the contracts signed by Butkus and Grabowski were the best ever executed in pro football."

It was guessed Grabowski received a $100,000 bonus and a $50,000 annual salary in his three-year contract.

Vince Lombardi, Packer coach and general manager, introduced Grabowski at the elebarote signing ceremony, simply stating:

"Grabowski now is a member of the Green Bay Packers."

Lombardi brushed aside all questions pertaining to salary or whether Grabowski received a no-cut contract.

Lombardi jumped into a television interview of Grabowski when the question was asked how he felt about being a highpriced rookie trying to win a Packer job from veteran fullback Jim Taylor or talented halfback Paul Hornung.

Lombardi, who said he expected the 215-pound Grabowski to reach 225 in pro play and fit in at fullback or halfback, didn't give Grabowski a chance to answer.

"Veteran players are only as good as the new players who have to fit in with them," snapped Lombardi. "The concern of veterans is mainly to win, and we hope Jim will be a great addition to our team." Lombardi said the Packer offense makes little difference between the fullback and halfback positions.

Grabowski, former star at Chicago Taft High School, said a main factor in his decision to sign with the Packers was that he would be close to his home here.

Sooners Continue Search

Norman, Okla. (AP) — The hour of decision appeared to be near Monday for University of Oklahoma officials in their search for a new football coach.

The Athletic Council interviewed two young college assistants and a high school coach, then held a private conference with Dr. George L. Cross, university president.

Cross wouldn't rule out the possibility one or more big name coaches were in the running for the job, but it appeared any attempt to land a prominent coach would be made quietly.

"We won't have an announcement of any kind to make until we announce the name of the coach," Cross said after a meeting with the council.

Interviewed Monday were Jim Mackenzie, assistant at Arkansas; Sam Boghosian, assistant at Oregon State, and Gene Corrotto, 51, who has a 65-14-4 record as coach at Norman High School as well as experience as a college assistant at Kansas, Tulsa and Arkansas.

They were the latest in a series of prospects to go before the council since Gomer Jones quit Dec. 6 after two seasons as Sooner coach. Jones remains as athletic director.

—BRADLEY BURSTS TO FIFTH—

Duke Retains First Place In AP Basketball Ratings

By Associated Press

Duke's Blue Devils clung to their position as the No. 1 college basketball team Monday in the weekly Associated Press poll that was featured by Bradley's burst from ninth to fifth place, the entry of Iowa and Kentucky into the Top Ten and UCLA's fall from the rankings.

A panel of 40 sports writers and broadcasters gave Duke 28 first-place votes and 379 points, keeping the Blue Devils on top for the second straight week. Duke has won six of its seven games.

There were no changes among the Big Three as unbeaten St. Joseph's of Philadelphia retained second place with nine first-place votes and 327 points while once-beaten Michigan stayed in third place with 274 points.

The only other team to receive first place nomination was Vanderbilt, which jumped a notch to fourth. The Commodores, who won three games last week in boosting their record to 6-0, received three first-place votes and 269 points.

Bradley, also a three-time winner last week, made the most progress a jump of four places. The Braves, on the strength of their 8-0 record, best among the major colleges, received 183 points for fifth place.

Minnesota, making its record to 4-0 with a victory over Creighton, remained in sixth place with 144 points, just four more than Providence, 5-0 after defeating Loyola of New Orleans last week.

Wichita climbed two notches to eighth and Iowa, 7-0, climbed into ninth place just ahead of Kentucky, which romped over Indiana in building a 6-0 record.

Kansas, in fourth place last week, fell clear out of the Top Ten, after losing to UCLA and Southern California over the weekend. And defending national champion UCLA, eighth a week ago, also dropped from the rankings after taking an 82-76 licking by Cincinnati for its third loss in six games this season.

Duke which had to come from behind to defeat Virginia 75-72 Saturday, takes on third-ranked Michigan in another major test Tuesday.

Other important games Tuesday involving top-ranked teams include St. Joseph's at Brigham Young, Montana at Bradley and Santa Barbara at Vanderbilt.

The Top Ten, determined on the basis of 10 points for a first-place vote, nine for second, etc., with first-place votes in parentheses, won-lost records and total points:

1. Duke	(28)	6 1	379
2. St. Joseph's, Pa.	(9)	6-0	327
3. Michigan		4 1	274
4. Vanderbilt	(3)	6 0	269
5. Bradley		8-0	183
6. Minnesota		4-0	144
7. Providence		5-0	140
8. Wichita		4-0	105
9. Iowa		7-0	98
10. Kentucky		6-0	91

Others receiving votes, listed alphabetically: Brigham Young, Cincinnati, Colorado State, Dayton, DePaul, Kansas, Loyola of Chicago, North Carolina State, Oklahoma City, Princeton, Southern California, Syracuse, Temple, UCLA, Utah, Washington State, Western Kentucky.

Myers To Miss Rockhurst Game

Omaha (UPI)—Omaha University's basketball team will be without the services of guard Charles Myers Tuesday night when the Indians travel to Kansas City, Mo., to meet Rockhurst College.

Myers, who scored 26 points in last Saturday's loss to St. Benedicts, complained of a foot injury toward the end of the game. Doctors examined his foot Monday and said it appeared he was suffering from the gout.

Sophomore John Armstrong, a former All-Stater from Omaha Central, will take Myers' place in the starting lineup.

AFL Year Highlighted By Lowe, Cappelletti

New York (AP)— Paul Lowe's record rushing and Gino Cappelletti's final game point spree for the scoring title were statistical highlights of the American Football League season.

Lowe played briefly for the San Diego Chargers Sunday as they closed out with a 24-14 victory over Oakland and gained 32 yards — enough for a single-season league record of 1,121. The All-AFL halfback bettered the previous mark of 1,099 set by Clem Daniels of Oakland in 1963. Cookie Gilchrist of Denver was the rushing runner-up with 981 yards.

Cappelletti won his fourth scoring title and third in a row with a 28-point splurge as the Boston Patriots whipped Houston 42-14. The Patriots' flanker totaled 132 points to 115 for Buffalo's Pete Gogolak, who was shut out in the Bills' 14-12 loss to New York.

Cappelletti caught two TD passes and kicked two field goals and four extra points against the Oilers.

Boston Takes Bench Warmer

. . . GIVES TWO PLAYERS

Boston (AP) — John Huarte, highest priced non-playing quarterback in the American Football League, joined the Boston Patriots Monday still hoping to get his first taste of regular season play.

Huarte, the Notre Dame All America in 1964 who received $200,000 in salary and bonus to sign with the New York Jets, was traded to the Patriots for veteran end Jim Colclough and a high draft choice.

If Huarte makes the Patriots' team, it is expected Boston also will give the Jets $50,000.

The 22-year-old Heisman Trophy winner had nothing but prasie for Babe Parilli, veteran Patriots quarterback, whose job Huarte would like.

"I don't expect to break in strong because Babe Parilli is a top-notch quarterback," Huarte told a news conference after the trade was announced in Boston.

He said he played a total of about half a game in three exhibitions with the Jets.

Huarte was relagated to the Jets taxi squad last season when the Jets decided to go with an even higher priced rookie, Joe Namath. Namath went on to become AFL Rookie of the year.

Most of his professional playing experience came on Thursday "when I ran the next opponent's offensive plays in practice."

During games he was on a telephone relaying messages from rooftop scouts.

"I learned a lot of football, but that isn't playing," he said.

In New York, where the Jets introduced their new acquisition, Colclough said he had "mixed emotions" about leaving Boston.

Red Convicted Of Anarchy During Harlem Riots

New York (AP)— Communist William Epton was convicted Monday of criminal anarchy, under a 64-year-old law aimed at preventing the overthrow of New York state government.

State Supreme Court Justice Arthur Markewich immediately revoked Epton's bail, asserting that the verdict of the jury classified the defendant, o Negro, as "a dangerous man."

He was remanded to prison pending sentence Jan. 27. The maximum penalty is 12 years in prison and a $6,000 fine.

Peking-Oriented

Epton, 33, vice chairman of the Peking-oriented Progressive Labor Movement, was convicted under a 1901 law enacted after President William McKinley's assassination in Buffalo. The law had last been invoked in 1911.

Epton's arrest followed the bitter Harlem riots of 1964. He was seized when he defied a police ban to organize a racial demonstration in the wake of the disorders.

The indictment accused Epton of exhorting Harlem Negroes in a street corner speech:

"If we're going to be free, we will not be full free until we smash this state completely and totally, destroy and set up a new state of our own choosing and our own liking.

"And in the process of smashing this state, we're going to have to kill a lot of these cops, a lot of these judges . . ."

Harlem-Born

The lanky, Harlem-born defendant went on trial Nov. 22 before a State Supreme Court jury of nine women and three men. He took the witness stand and admitted Communist beliefs, but denied that he advocated forceful extension of them.

Epton said his goal in the street corner speech was to rally Negroes against what he described as police brutality.

The jury deliberated five hours. It found Epton guilty of advocating and conspiring to advocate criminal anarchy, and of conspiring to riot during the Harlem disorders. A charge that he actually took part in the riot was dismissed during the trial.

Defense Lawyer Sanford Katz urged Markewich not to sent Epton to jail, expecially during the holiday season. He has a wife and two children.

"The defendant is not a dangerous man," Katz maintained. "He was convicted of something he said or wrote, not of anything he did. There is not a scintilla of evidence that he committed a dangerous or violent act."

Congressmen Discuss Tax Boost Possibility

Washington (AP)— Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said Monday that as of now he thinks it will be unnecessary for Congress to increase taxes to finance the mounting cost of the Viet Nam war.

At a news conference in his office, the Montana senator noted that the economy is still good and said that if this continues, the government's income may exceed budget estimates.

Mansfield said he assumes more U.S. troops will be sent to South Viet Nam, adding to war costs, and his offhand opinion is that spending on domestic programs should be held to "the present presidentially recommended limits."

Funds Review

At the latest session of Congress, more funds were voted for higher education, public works, military pay raises and some other programs than President Johnson recommended. Mansfield said a careful look should be taken at these proposed expenditure.

He said, however, that he expects more emphasis on the Viet Nam war and less on domestic programs. Other Congressional leaders, in interviews, also saw the war as the dominant issue with the battle over labor legislation and the administration "Great Society" program, and perhaps taxes, getting attention.

Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D., said he anticipates a slowdown in social legislation and what he termed welfare state proposals for appropriations, partly as a result of the Viet Nam war.

House Republican leader Gerald Ford of Michigan said "One of the basic issues will be the need to curtail nondefense program. We are face to face with the decision between guns and butter. The war is real and we must pay for it."

Mills

Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the tax-writing House War and Means Committee, took a stand similar to Ford on taxes, saying:

"If federal government spending is held under reasonable restraint, the growth of the economy will both make possible and require periodic tax reductions. Inadequate restraint on expenditures, on the other hand, will mean passing up this fiscal dividend."

But Sen. Gale W. McGee, D-Wyo., a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, said a tax increase is inevitable in order to take care of the added costs Viet Nam and still carry on the spending programs for Johnson's "Great Society" programs already approved by Congress.

House Speaker John W. McCormack D-Mass., said he believes major domestic issues will center on legislation to increase and broaden minimum wage coverage, improve the unemployment compensation program and "to strengthen America by carrying out important program enacted last year."

U.N. Unit Hits Intervention

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — The General Assembly's main political committee approved without a dissenting vote Monday a compromise declaration opposing both direct an indirect intervention by one country into the affairs of another.

But many delegates who voted for the declaration expressed reservations about its wording and the fact that it was adopted in haste.

The declaration was approved 100 to 0 with 5 abstentions — Britain, Belgium, the Netherlands, New Zealand and Australia.

At the insistence of the United States the declaration contained a provision including acts of subversion as a form of intervention. The declaration opposed also the fomenting by one state of subversive, terrorist or armed activities aimed at the violent overthrow of another.

This is the kind of activity which the United States has accused North Viet Nam of organizing in south Viet Nam.

On the other hand the declaration opposed also use of economic and political measures to coerce another nation — the kind of activity the Soviet Union and Cuba alleges the United States is carrying out against Premier Fidel Castro's communist regime in Havana.

Prices Dip Sharply In Stock Mart

New York (AP) — The stock market Monday took a sharp loss amid uncertainty about Viet Nam, taxes and interest rates. Trading slackened.

Volume was 7.36 million shares compared with 9.46 million on Friday.

The Dow Jones industrial average fell 5.63 to 952.22. The utility component of the Dow Jones averages fell to a new low for the year.

Confusion over the significance of contradictory reports about Viet Nam peace feelers was cited as reason enough for weakness in many of the aerospace defense stocks whose business would be sharply affected by a cessation of hostilities.

At the same time, prominently published newspaper articles about the possibility of a tax increase in 1966 because of the escalating costs of conflict in Viet Nam and the rising needs of the Great Society caused increased doubt about prospects for the coming year in the market.

To these was added a report that interest rate increases will soon begin to affect consumers.

Many in the Street felt that this might be the best time to take profits on high-flying issues which have run up big gains this year.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 2.1 to 354.1 with industrials off .32, rails off 1.2 and utilities off .6.

Of 1,429 issues traded, 799 declined and 391 advanced. New highs for the year totaled 59 and new lows 50.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index lost .43 at 91.65.

Nine of the 15 most active stocks declined, five advanced and U.S. Steel was unchanged.

American Motors was the most active stock, gaining ⅜ at 8¼ on 126,500 shares.

Prices declined on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 3.44 million shares compared with 4.48 million Friday.

Corporate bonds declined. U.S. Treasury bonds rose sharply.

Trade Is Dull In Grain Mart

Chicago (AP)—Trade in the grain futures market was generally dull Monday and in the absence of any significant new influences directed largely toward balancing commitments.

It was the final day of trading in December contracts and the Department of Agriculture issued its final crop report of the year after the close of the market.

Analysts said speculators were reluctant to venture very far either way.

At the close, wheat was ⅜ cents a bushel lower on old crop months to ¾ higher on the new, December $1.63½-63; corn ¼-2 cents lower, December $1.23¼-22⅝; oats ¼ higher to ¼ lower, December 72½-71⅝ cents; rye ⅛-¾ lower, December $1.22-22¼; soybeans ½-⅞ higher, January $2.64⅞-65.

Prices Dip Sharply In Stock Mart

New York (AP) — The stock market Monday took a sharp loss amid uncertainty about Viet Nam, taxes and interest rates. Trading slackened.

Volume was 7.36 million shares compared with 9.46 million on Friday.

The Dow Jones industrial average fell 5.63 to 952.22. The utility component of the Dow Jones averages fell to a new low for the year.

Confusion over the significance of contradictory reports about Viet Nam peace feelers was cited as reason enough for weakness in many of the aerospace defense stocks whose business would be sharply affected by a cessation of hostilities.

At the same time, prominently published newspaper articles about the possibility of a tax increase in 1966 because of the escalating costs of conflict in Viet Nam and the rising needs of the Great Society caused increased doubt about prospects for the coming year in the market.

To these was added a report that interest rate increases will soon begin to affect consumers.

Many in the Street felt that this might be the best time to take profits on high-flying issues which have run up big gains this year.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocsk fell 2.1 to 354.1 with industrials off .32, rails off 1.2 and utilities off .6.

Of 1,429 issues traded, 799 declined and 391 advanced. New highs for the year totaled 59 and new lows 50.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index lost .43 at 91.65.

Nine of the 15 most active stocks declined, five advanced and U.S. Steel was unchanged.

American Motors was the most active stock, gaining ⅝ at 8¼ on 126,500 shares.

Prices declined on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 3.44 million shares compared with 4.48 million Friday.

Corporate bonds declined. U.S. Treasury bonds rose sharply.

Trade Is Dull In Grain Mart

Chicago (AP)—Trade in the grain futures market was generally dull Monday and in the absence of any significant new influences directed largely toward balancing commitments.

It was the final day of trading in December contracts and the Department of Agriculture issued its final crop report of the year after the close of the market.

Analysts said speculators were reluctant to venture very far either way.

At the close, wheat was ⅝ cents a bushel lower on old crop months to ¾ higher on the new, December $1.63½-63; corn ¼-2 cents lower, December $1.23¼-23⅝; oats ¼ higher to ¼ lower, December 72⅛-71⅞ cents; rye ⅛-¾ lower, December $1.22-22¼; soybeans ¼-⅞ higher, January $2.64⅞-65.

U.S. Files First Voter Intimidation Suit

. . . LOUISIANA LAND OWNERS CHARGED WITH EVICTING NEGROES WANTING VOTE

Baton Rouge, La. (AP)—The federal government charged Monday that land owners in West Feliciana Parish (county)—just north of this capital city—have evicted from their lifelong homes Negro sharecroppers and tenant farmers who registered to vote.

In its first voter intimidation suit under the 1965 Voting Rights Act, the Justice Department sought court orders to end interference with Negroes seeking to exercise their right to vote.

Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach filed suit in Federal District Court at New Orleans last Friday, asking that a permenent injunction be granted against eight landowners, including the parish voting registrar.

Hearing Thursday

The suit was transferred Monday to the Baton Rouge division of the Southern District Federal Court of Louisiana. A hearing was set for Thursday.

The Justice Department said in Washington the action against the Louisiana landowners was the first of its kind.

Named as defendants were Registrar Fletcher Harvey, Edward I. Daniel, Jordon Truitt, John Spillman, R. Harry Daniel Sr., R. Harry Daniel Jr., B. Harrison Barrow and Daniel and Truitt, Inc., a farming firm.

At St. Francisville, the seat of justice for West Feliciana Parish, Harvey declined comment. Barrow and Truitt said they knew nothing of the suit. Daniel was reported on a hunting trip.

Other defendants were unavailable for comment.

State Atty. Gen. Jack P. F. Gremillion issued a statement criticizing Harvey and said his office would not defend the registrar in court.

"Mr. Harvey has never consulted me about any of the operations of his office," said Gremillion. "Apparently he has been depending on local counsel and advice. I didn't give him any advice upon which he acted.

"In fact, I told parish registrars right after the civil rights bill was enacted to comply with the law until such time that it might be declared unconstitutional.

"Apparently Mr. Harvey didn't follow my advice and sought his own counsel.

He Did It Himself

"I'm not responsible for the predicament that he is in. He caused it of his own accord. As far as I'm concerned he can depend upon his local advisers to defend him in the matter."

Federal voting registrars have been sent to St. Francisville. It was not immediately known how many Negroes they have put on the voting rolls of the tiny parish.

The Justice Department said that Harvey's office registered only 60 Negroes out of 2,700 eligible by Aug. 6 when the voting rights bill was signed. From then until Sept. 1, 450 were registered, but Harvey kept his office open only 2½ days until Oct. 1 and then close it completely.

67 Years

"I hve lived on this plantation for 67 years," Henry Cummings, a tenant farmer, wrote in a typical affidavit accompanying the Louisiana suit. When he registered to vote, Cummings said, Harvey warned him he might be evicted. And, Cummings said, he soon received a terse letter from the farming firm of Daniel & Truit, also a defendant.

It said: "Dear Henry: This letter is to give you notice that our crop year is up and we want you to move by Jan. 1, 1966."

The department filed more than a dozen affidavits from Negro farmers. Most recounted threats and eviction notices that followed their decisims to register: some said they saved their family homes by changing their minds and staying away from the registrar's office.

4 More Counties

Earlier Monday, Katzenbach designated four more Mississippi counties — Carroll, Newton, Simpson and Warren — for federal examiners, bringing to 36 the total so designated under the new law.

In a related development, the department announced that Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach will carry his get-out-the-vote message personally to southern Negroes for the first time in a Jan. 2 visit to Mobile, Ala.

In his Emancipation Day appearance, he will establish a sort of precedent: no attorney general has ever addressed an all-Negro gathering in the South.

Final Crop Estimate Is The Same

By The Associated Press

The U.S. Department of Agriculture Monday made a final estimate of 1965 crops which left the picture essentially unchanged for Nebraska's output of wheat and corn.

The Nebraska corn crop was pegged at 259,558,000 bushels or 67 bushels an acre. That was up about 8½ million bushels from the Nov. 1 estimate but not enough to affect the per acre average.

The per acre yield is a record for Nebraska as well as 13.4 bushels an acre above the average. The previous high yield was 60.5 bushels an acre in 1962.

Wheat was estimated at 56,100,000, down from an earlier estimate of 57,880,000 but still averaging out at about 20 bushels to the acre.

Other final estimates of Nebraska crops included:

Soybeans 17,328,000 bushels or 24 bushels an acre; rye 1,680,000 bushels, 17.5 bushels an acre; sorghum 126,930,000 bushels, 54.5 bushels an acre; dry beans 1,200,000 hundredweight, 1,500 pounds per acre; sugar beets 898,000 tons, 13.5 tons an acre; potatoes 2,106,000 hundredweight, 193 hundredweight an acre.

Difference Meter Detects Internal Produce Trouble

Washington (AP)—Agriculture Department researchers have come up with a quality-measuring device that could make a difference in the produce you buy.

It's called a "difference meter" and researchers say it can spot trouble inside fruits and vegetables without cutting them open.

No apples with water cores, for instance. No potatoes with hollow heart or internal darkening.

The meter, researchers say, can detect diseases that discolor the inside of apples, cherries, oranges, peaches, peanuts, potatoes and tomatoes. And it can measure how ripe they are.

The meter measures the amount of light it beams through the fruit or vegetable to determine the internal quality of the product.

The Agriculture Department's marketing specialists say commercial models of the meter would be used where products are packed, so that consumers would receive only top grade produce.

Miller Reported 'Doing Very Well'

Washington (AP) — Former Rep. Arthur L. Miller, R-Neb., was reported Monday to be "doing very well" at George Washington University Hospital. He was admitted to the hospital last week for treatment of what his doctors term an acute coronary insufficiency.

A hospital spokesman said Dr. Miller, 73, is "feeling fine." The former mayor of Kimball, Neb., served 16 years in the House and is a former director of the Interior Department's Office of Saline Water.

George Dixon Dies

Washington (AP) — George Dixon, 65-year-old Canadian-born syndicated columnist died.

Arraignment Of Giambuzzi Still Pending

Alliance (AP)—Andrew Edward Giambuzzi, 24, of Philadelphia, Pa., remained in jail under $3,000 bond Monday pending arraignment which court officials said is unlikely before Thursday.

Giambuzzi, arrested on an assault charge after being disarmed by an Alliance policeman, asked for court appointment of an attorney. The appointment would have to be made by District Judge Albert W. Crites of nearby Chadron.

Police Sgt. Charles Weston arrested Giambuzzi Friday night on a federal warrant charging him with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. Officers said the Pennslyvania man pulled a gun and fired a shot that narrowly missed the officer.

The state charges of assault with intent to kill wound or maim, carrying a concealed weapon and interfering with an officer were filed as a result.

The federal charge was filed in connection with an El Paso, Tex., robbery.

Search Ends For Missing Plane

Cheyenne, Wyo. (AP)—State aviation officials and Wyoming Civil Air Patrol spokesmen said Monday they were suspending their search for a missing plane flown by a Council Bluffs Iowa man.

They said the search for the single-engine aircraft piloted by August Halminiak, 36, will be resumed if any leads turn up.

Halminiak took off from Rock Springs, Wyo., Dec. 10 for a flight to Denver, Colo. that normally would take three hours. He never reached Denver.

Maugham Cremated

Holiday Fire Kills Twelve In New York

Yonkers, N.Y. (AP) — Fire flared like a torch in a holiday-decorated Jewish community center Monday night, trapping a gay, after-school music class of children on the top floor. Nine youngsters died, and three adults perished with them.

The young victims, including two sets of brothers and sisters, were 8 to 11 years of age. They were described as "piled up like rags on the floor."

There were at least nine injured, although only four required hospitalization. It was not known how many children were in the building when the blaze broke out. Some were rescued from ledges.

The flames generated intense smoke and Fire Chief Andrew Gerloch said the victims dropped lifeless without the fire actually reaching them.

Grant For Hail Research Given To Chadron State

Dr. F. Clark Elkins, president of Chadron State College, has been informed that a grant of $21,200 has been awarded to Chadron State for the support of a hail research program.

The grant from the National Science Foundation is for research entitled "Physical Characteristics of Hail in Western Nebraska." The research is to be under the direction of Marle D. Smith, assistant professor of physics at Chadron State. It is for approximately one year.

U.S. Files First Voter Intimidation Suit

. . . LOUISIANA LAND OWNERS CHARGED WITH EVICTING NEGROES WANTING VOTE

Baton Rouge, La. (AP)—The federal government charged Monday that land owners in West Feliciana Parish (county)—just north of this capital city—have evicted from their lifelong homes Negro sharecroppers and tenant farmers who registered to vote.

In its first voter intimidation suit under the 1965 Voting Rights Act, the Justice Department sought court orders to end interference with Negroes seeking to exercise their right to vote.

Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach filed suit in Federal District Court at New Orleans last Friday, asking that a permenent injunction be granted against eight landowners, including the parish voting registrar.

Hearing Thursday

The suit was transferred Monday to the Baton Rouge division of the Southern District Federal Court of Louisiana. A hearing was set for Thursday.

The Justice Department said in Washington the action against the Louisiana landowners was the first of its kind.

Named as defendants were Registrar Fletcher Harvey, Edward I. Daniel, Jordon Truitt, John Spillman, R. Harry Daniel Sr., R. Harry Daniel Jr., B. Harrison Barrow and Daniel and Truitt, Inc., a farming firm.

At St. Francisville, the seat of justice for West Feliciana Parish, Harvey declined comment. Barrow and Truitt said they knew nothing of the suit. Daniel was reported on a hunting trip.

Other defendants were unavailable for comment.

State Atty. Gen. Jack P. F. Gremillion issued a statement criticizing Harvey and said his office would not defend the registrar in court.

"Mr. Harvey has never consulted me about any of the operations of his office," said Gremillion. "Apparently he has been depending on local counsel and advice. I didn't give him any advice upon which he acted.

"In fact, I told parish registrars right after the civil rights bill was enacted to comply with the law until such time that it might be declared unconstitutional.

"Apparently Mr. Harvey didn't follow my advice and sought his own counsel.

He Did It Himself

"I'm not responsible for the predicament that he is in. He caused it of his own accord. As far as I'm concerned he can depend upon his local advisers to defend him in the matter."

Federal voting registrars have been sent to St. Francisville. It was not immediately known how many Negroes they have put on the voting rolls of the tiny parish.

The Justice Department said that Harvey's office registered only 60 Negroes out of 2,700 eligible by Aug. 6 when the voting rights bill was signed. From then until Sept. 1, 450 were registered, but Harvey kept his office open only 2½ days until Oct. 1 and then close it completely.

67 Years

"I hve lived on this plantation for 67 years," Henry Cummings, a tenant farmer, wrote in a typical affidavit accompanying the Louisiana suit. When he registered to vote, Cummings said, Harvey warned him he might be evicted. And, Cummings said, he soon received a terse letter from the farming firm of Daniel & Truit, also a defendant.

It said: "Dear Henry: This letter is to give you notice that our crop year is up and we want you to move by Jan. 1, 1966."

The department filed more than a dozen affidavits from Negro farmers. Most recounted threats and eviction notices that followed their decisims to register; some said they saved their family homes by changing their minds and staying away from the registrar's office.

4 More Counties

Earlier Monday, Katzenbach designated four more Mississippi counties — Carroll, Newton, Simpson and Warren — for federal examiners, bringing to 36 the total so designated under the new law.

In a related development, the department announced that Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach will carry his get-out-the-vote message personally to southern Negroes for the first time in a Jan. 2 visit to Mobile, Ala.

In his Emancipation Day appearance, he will establish a sort of precedent: no attorney general has ever addressed an all-Negro gathering in the South.

Final Crop Estimate Is The Same

By The Associated Press

The U.S. Department of Agriculture Monday made a final estimate of 1965 crops which left the picture essentially unchanged for Nebraska's output of wheat and corn.

The Nebraska corn crop was pegged at 259,558,000 bushels or 67 bushels an acre. That was up about 8½ million bushels from the Nov. 1 estimate but not enough to affect the per acre average.

The per acre yield is a record for Nebraska as well as 13.4 bushels an acre above the average. The previous high yield was 60.5 bushels an acre in 1962.

Wheat was estimated at 56,100,000, down from an earlier estimate of 57,880,000 but still averaging out at about 20 bushels to the acre.

Other final estimates of Nebraska crops included:

Soybeans 17,328,000 bushels or 24 bushels an acre; rye 1,680,000 bushels, 17.5 bushels an acre; sorghum 126,930,000 bushels, 54.5 bushels an acre; dry beans 1,200,000 hundredweight, 1,500 pounds per acre; sugar beets 898,000 tons, 13.5 tons an acre; potatoes 2,106,000 hundredweight, 193 hundredweight an acre.

Difference Meter Detects Internal Produce Trouble

Washington (AP)—Agriculture Department researchers have come up with a quality-measuring device that could make a difference in the produce you buy.

It's called a "difference meter" and researchers say it can spot trouble inside fruits and vegetables without cutting them open.

No apples with water cores, for instance. No potatoes with hollow heart or internal darkening.

The meter, researchers say, can detect diseases that discolor the inside of apples, cherries, oranges, peaches, peanuts, potatoes and tomatoes. And it can measure how ripe they are.

The meter measures the amount of light it beams through the fruit or vegetable to determine the internal quality of the product.

The Agriculture Department's marketing specialists say commercial models of the meter would be used where products are packed, so that consumers would receive only top grade produce.

Miller Reported 'Doing Very Well'

Washington (AP) — Former Rep. Arthur L. Miller, R-Neb., was reported Monday to be "doing very well" at George Washington University Hospital. He was admitted to the hospital last week for treatment of what his doctors term an acute coronary insufficiency.

A hospital spokesman said Dr. Miller, 73, is "feeling fine." The former mayor of Kimball, Neb., served 16 years in the House and is a former director of the Interior Department's Office of Saline Water.

George Dixon Dies

Washington (AP) — George Dixon, 65-year-old Canadian-born syndicated columnist died.

Arraignment Of Giambuzzi Still Pending

Alliance (AP)—Andrew Edward Giambuzzi, 24, of Philadelphia, Pa., remained in jail under $3,000 bond Monday pending arraignment which court officials said is unlikely before Thursday.

Giambuzzi, arrested on an assault charge after being disarmed by an Alliance policeman, asked for court appointment of an attorney. The appointment would have to be made by District Judge Albert W. Crites of nearby Chadron.

Police Sgt. Charles Weston arrested Giambuzzi Friday night on a federal warrant charging him with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. Officers said the Pennslyvania man pulled a gun and fired a shot that narrowly missed the officer.

The state charges of assault with intent to kill wound or maim, carrying a concealed weapon and interfering with an officer were filed as a result.

The federal charge was filed in connection with an El Paso, Tex., robbery.

Search Ends For Missing Plane

Cheyenne, Wyo. (AP)—State aviation officials and Wyoming Civil Air Patrol spokesmen said Monday they were suspending their search for a missing plane flown by a Council Bluffs Iowa man.

They said the search for the single-engine aircraft piloted by August Halminiak, 36, will be resumed if any leads turn up.

Halminiak took off from Rock Springs, Wyo., Dec. 10 for a flight to Denver, Colo. that normally would take three hours. He never reached Denver.

Maugham Cremated

Marseille, France (AP) — The remains of writer W. Somerset Maugham were cremated. His ashes will be taken to England for burial in the grounds of Canterbury Cathedral. Maugham died at his Riviera home last Thursday at the age of 91 after suffering a stroke.

Holiday Fire Kills Twelve In New York

Yonkers, N.Y. (AP) — Fire flared like a torch in a holiday-decorated Jewish community center Monday night, trapping a gay, after-school music class of children on the top floor. Nine youngsters died, and three adults perished with them.

The young victims, including two sets of brothers and sisters, were 8 to 11 years of age. They were described as "piled up like rags on the floor."

There were at least nine injured, although only four required hospitalization. It was not known how many children were in the building when the blaze broke out. Some were rescued from ledges.

The flames generated intense smoke and Fire Chief Andrew Gerloch said the victims dropped lifeless without the fire actually reaching them.

Grant For Hail Research Given To Chadron State

Dr. F. Clark Elkins, president of Chadron State College, has been informed that a grant of $21,200 has been awarded to Chadron State for the support of a hail research program.

The grant from the National Science Foundation is for research entitled "Physical Characteristics of Hail in Western Nebraska." The research is to be under the direction of Marle D. Smith, assistant professor of physics at Chadron State. It is for approximately one year.

U.S.-German Space Alliance Suggested

Washington (AP)— President Johnson invited West Germany Monday night to join the United States in "exploration of space," and, specifically, to probe the sun and the planet Jupiter.

In a toast to Chancellor Ludwig Erhard at a White House dinner, the President said he wants to discuss with his guest an "ambitious plan to permit us to do together what we cannot do so well alone."

Examples would be, he said, "a probe to the sun, and another, a probe to Jupiter."

Wants N-Share

Earlier, the German leader had told Johnson in a conference that his country wants to share in NATO's nuclear weaponry but does not ask to man its weapons or make final decisions on their use.

In his toast Johnson explained the U.S. position on Viet Nam. And he restated that "the great effort which my country is making in Viet Nam is in fulfillment of the clear commitment of the American people, the American Congress, and three American presidents."

On European questions the President declared that "the reunification of Germany in peace and freedom is a major goal." He asked for "the best efforts" of all allies to strengthen Atlantic partnership.

On space exploration Johnson said his invitation is also addressed to governments in Europe wishing to participate in such a project. He said he will send James Webb, NASA administrator to Europe to consult with the German government and other governments on this issue.

The President also announced he will send "a working group" headed by Interior Secretary Stewart Udall to West Germany in January to study the German antipollution program which, Johnson noted, is said to be among the most effective in the world.

Erhard indicated the Germans would be satisfied with co-ownership of a U.S.-British submarine fleet without German control over firing of the fleet's missiles.

The President and the chancellor met for one hour with only interpreters present. They were scheduled to meet again at a White House dinner Monday night, and a third time before noon Tuesday.

Europe Only

Johnson and his guest discussed European issues only: the delicate question of sharing of nuclear responsibilities; the future of the Common Market; and the Kennedy Round of trade negotiations in the light of the re-election of French resident Charles de Gaulle for a second seven-year term.

The emphasis, however, was on the nuclear issue, authoritative informants said.

Erhard's suggestion to set up a submarine fleet came as no surprise. American officials confirmed prior to his arrival that Bonn has informed Washington through diplomatic channels that the West German government would base its request on the British proposal for the creation of an Atlantic nuclear force (ANF).

Omaha Boy, 10, Accidentally Shot Dead By Brother

Omaha (AP) — Scotts McCormick, 10, of Omaha, was accidentally shot to death by his brother, Ronald, 9, at the McCormick home Monday night.

The boys were playing and Ronald hid in a closet where he picked up a .32 calibre pistol. When he came out, the gun struck the edge of a dresser, fell to the floor and was discharged.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis McCormick, the parents, were working at the time and the baby-sitter had gone to mail a letter.

Protesters Arrested

Police Say Boy Admits Robbery Of Cab Driver

A 16-year-old Lincoln boy told police early Monday that he was responsible for the holdup of a taxicab driver at 25th and Van Dorn Dec. 14th, police said. He implicated another companion who was being picked up by the Lancaster County sheriff's office.

The youth told the story to police Capt. Robert Butcher after a relative of the youth brought the boy to police headquarters.

Butcher said the relative of the boy found a "diary" written by the boy which outlined the robbery in detail.

Butcher said the boy and his companion were not involved in an incident Friday night in which another Lincoln taxicab driver was severely beaten.

Assembly Junks Two-Thirds Rule

. . . IN SOME CASES

United Napons, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly overriding U.S. objections, dropped a long-standing rule in certain cases by two-thirds of the members.

Western diplomats said the precedent — for a simple majority — could conceivably be applied to such questions as seating of Red China. The assembly on Nov. 17 voted 47-47, with 20 abstentions, against seating the Peking regime.

The vote Monday was on the rule that questions of colonialism require two-thirds approval.

The 117-nation assembly voted 59-45, with 4 abstentions, for a proposal by Mali that a 23-nation resolution calling for elimination of remnants of colonialism could pass on a simple majority.

Gets 74-6 Okay

The colonialism resolution itself was later approved 74-6 with 27 abstentions.

The voting procedure came despite an appeal by U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg not to make a move that would scrap what he termed an integral portion of the U.N. Charter.

Arguing that the 23-nation draft refers specifically to international peace and security, Goldberg said a dangerous precedent would be set by throwing out the two-thirds rule.

"We can't have it both ways," Goldberg said. "We cannot go to the Security Council on an issue and say that international peace is involved, then at the same time say that the rule demanding a two-thirds assembly vote does not apply." He added:

"A parliamentary body lives by its procedures. If the rules are not followed, then the rights of any member states are in jeopardy."

Russian For Majority

Soviet Ambassador Platon D. Morozov argued that the assembly voted its declaration against colonialism in 1960 by two-thirds as an important issue and therefore, subsequent resolutions on the subject required only a simple majority.

U.S. sources said later that the assembly action on Malis's proposal "violates Article 18 of the U.N. Charter and the United States contends the action is null and void."

3 Kiwanis Clubs Install New Officers

Oficers of the Cornhusker, Northeast and Capital City Kiwanis Clubs were installed at a joint meeting Monday night.

New officers for the Capital City Kiwanis are: C. W. Nibler, president-elect; Ken Johnson, vice-president; Gene Luchsinger, secretary; Ed Decker, treasurer. Russ Brauer, Ron Dare, Ken Pitsch, and R. J. Graham are new Board members.

The Cornhusker Kiwanis installed: Ed Weyand, president; Willard Cantin, vice president; John Robinson, secretary; Willard Cook, treasurer. New board members are Foster Weyand, Don Reddish and Bob Adams.

Jim Eno was installed president of the Northeast Kiwanis. Other new officers include: Bill Colvill, vice president; Ralph Retzlaff, secretary; Dwaine Trenkle, treasurer. Board members are L. K. Crowe, Ray Judd and Herb Glancy.

U.S.-German Space Alliance Suggested

Washington (AP)— President Johnson invited West Germany Monday night to join the United States in "exploration of space," and, specifically, to probe the sun and the planet Jupiter.

In a toast to Chancellor Ludwig Erhard at a White House dinner, the President said he wants to discuss with his guest an "ambitious plan to permit us to do together what we cannot do so well alone."

Examples would be, he said, "a probe to the sun, and another, a probe to Jupiter."

Wants N-Share

Earlier, the German leader had told Johnson in a conference that his country wants to share in NATO's nuclear weaponry but does not ask to man its weapons or make final decisions on their use.

In his toast Johnson explained the U.S. position on Viet Nam. And he restated that "the great effort which my country is making in Viet Nam is in fulfillment of the clear commitment of the American people, the American Congress, and three American presidents."

On European questions the President declared that "the reunification of Germany in peace and freedom is a major goal." He asked for "the best efforts" of all allies to strengthen Atlantic partnership.

On space exploration Johnson said his invitation is also addressed to governments in Europe wishing to participate in such a project. He said he will send James Webb, NASA administrator to Europe to consult with the German government and other governments on this issue.

The President also announced he will send "a working group" headed by Interior Secretary Stewart Udall to West Germany in January to study the German antipollution program which, Johnson noted, is said to be among the most effective in the world.

Erhard indicated the Germans would be satisfied with co-ownership of a U.S.-British submarine fleet without German control over firing of the fleet's missiles.

The President and the chancellor met for one hour with only interpreters present. They were scheduled to meet again at a White House dinner Monday night, and a third time before noon Tuesday.

Europe Only

Johnson and his guest discussed European issues only: the delicate question of sharing of nuclear responsibilities; the future of the Common Market; and the Kennedy Round of trade negotiations in the light of the re-election of French resident Charles de Gaulle for a second seven-year term.

The emphasis, however, was on the nuclear issue, authoritative informants said.

Erhard's suggestion to set up a submarine fleet came as no surprise. American officials confirmed prior to his arrival that Bonn has informed Washington through diplomatic channels that the West German government would base its request on the British proposal for the creation of an Atlantic nuclear force (ANF).

Omaha Boy, 10, Accidentally Shot Dead By Brother

Omaha (AP) — Scotts McCormick, 10, of Omaha, was accidentally shot to death by his brother, Ronald, 9, at the McCormick home Monday night.

The boys were playing and Ronald hid in a closet where he picked up a .32 calibre pistol. When he came out, the gun struck the edge of a dresser, fell to the floor and was discharged.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis McCormick, the parents, were working at the time and the baby-sitter had gone to mail a letter.

Protesters Arrested

San Francisco (UPI) — Eighteen persons were arrested when they refused to leave the gates of Treasure Island Navy Base following the conviction of a sailor for wearing a peace symbol on his uniform.

Police Say Boy Admits Robbery Of Cab Driver

A 16-year-old Lincoln boy told police early Monday that he was responsible for the holdup of a taxicab driver at 25th and Van Dorn Dec. 14th, police said. He implicated another companion who was being picked up by the Lancaster County sheriff's office.

The youth told the story to police Capt. Robert Butcher after a relative of the youth brought the boy to police headquarters.

Butcher said the relative of the boy found a "diary" written by the boy which outlined the robbery in detail.

Butcher said the boy and his companion were not involved in an incident Friday night in which another Lincoln taxicab driver was severely beaten.

Assembly Junks Two-Thirds Rule

. . . IN SOME CASES

United Napons, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly overriding U.S. objections, dropped a long-standing rule in certain cases by two-thirds of the members.

Western diplomats said the precedent — for a simple majority — could conceivably be applied to such questions as seating of Red China. The assembly on Nov. 17 voted 47-47, with 20 abstentions, against seating the Peking regime.

The vote Monday was on the rule that questions of colonialism require two-thirds approval.

The 117-nation assembly voted 59-45, with 4 abstentions, for a proposal by Mali that a 23-nation resolution calling for elimination of remnants of colonialism could pass on a simple majority.

Gets 74-6 Okay

The colonialism resolution itself was later approved 74-6 with 27 abstentions.

The voting procedure came despite an appeal by U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg not to make a move that would scrap what he termed an integral portion of the U.N. Charter.

Arguing that the 23-nation draft refers specifically to international peace and security, Goldberg said a dangerous precedent would be set by throwing out the two-thirds rule.

"We can't have it both ways," Goldberg said. "We cannot go to the Security Council on an issue and say that international peace is involved, then at the same time say that the rule demanding a two-thirds assembly vote does not apply." He added:

"A parliamentary body lives by its procedures. If the rules are not followed, then the rights of any member states are in jeopardy."

Russian For Majority

Soviet Ambassador Platon D. Morozov argued that the assembly voted its declaration against colonialism in 1960 by two-thirds as an important issue and therefore, subsequent resolutions on the subject required only a simple majority.

U.S. sources said later that the assembly action on Malis's proposal "violates Article 18 of the U.N. Charter and the United States contends the action is null and void."

3 Kiwanis Clubs Install New Officers

New officers for the Capital City Kiwanis are: C. W. Nibler, president-elect; Ken Johnson, vice-president; Gene Luchsinger, secretary; Ed Decker, treasurer. Russ Brauer, Ron Dare, Ken Pitsch, and R. J. Graham are new Board members.

The Cornhusker Kiwanis installed: Ed Weyand, president; Willard Cantin, vice president; John Robinson, secretary; Willard Cook, treasurer. New board members are Foster Weyand, Don Reddish and Bob Adams.

Jim Eno was installed president of the Northeast Kiwanis. Other new officers include: Bill Colvill, vice president; Ralph Retzlaff, secretary; Dwaine Trenkle, treasurer. Board members are L. K. Crowe, Ray Judd and Herb Glancy.

TOP CROP VOLUME IS PRODUCED

Washington (AP) — Farmers produced a record volume of crops this year.

The Agriculture Department's final report of the year said the total production reflected 117% of the 1957-59 average—which is 6% above last year and 4% above the previous high harvest of 1963.

Crop yields per acre increased this year, regaining an upward trend of recent years—a trend which moisture shortages interrupted in 1964. The composite index of yields per acre for 28 major crops was reported 123% of the 1957-59 average, which was 6% above the previous high set in 1963.

The year's harvested acreage for 59 major crops totaled 294 million acres, up one million from last year but far below the average of the past third of a century

Featuring this year's production was a record high corn crop of nearly 4.2 billion bushels—a crop grown under government acreage restrictions.

Enrollment Is Set For Ag Program

Washington (AP) — Farmers in most states may enroll in the Agriculture Department's 1966 wheat, feed grain and cotton programs between Jan. 31 and April 1.

However, the department says signups may begin earlier, at any time a State Agricultural and Stabilization Committee determines its county offices are ready.

Signup for the cropland adjustment program will begin not later than Jan. 31, but may begin earlier if the ACS committee desires. The signup deadline for this program will be set later.
